MORE PLEDGES VOTED HOOVER AND ROOSEVELT

Glenn Is Ahead in Illinois; Florida G.O.P. Names Its Delegates.

SESSION ON DRY LAW MISSOURI G. O. P. AIM

Kentucky Instructs Its 26 for New Yorker, Who Wins Nebraska.

Chicago, April 12 (A.P.). — The wave of delegates rolled tonight toward President Hoover and Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In Nebraska, where tremendous balloting for State offices slowed up the counting of presidential preference votes, New York's governor in the early returns was far ahead of Speaker John N. Garner and Gov. William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, of Oklahoma.

In Kentucky, the Democratic convention unanimously instructed that State's 26 delegates to vote for Roosevelt as long as his name is before the Chicago convention next June.

The Florida Republican State convention elected nine delegates at large and instructed them for President Hoover.

In the district congressional conventions, four more delegates were instructed for Hoover. Two more delegates remain to be chosen in district meetings.

Prohibition Action Urged.

The President and prohibition were topics of the day and night at the Missouri G. O. P. State meeting. The convention instructed that State's entire delegation of 41 for the President and adopted a resolution urging Congress to call a national convention at the earliest possible date to "deal with the whole subject of prohibition."

The preferential voting in Illinois was of secondary importance to the selection of nominees for governor.

Len Small, of Kankakee, twice Republican governor, was in the lead of his seven opponents, with 1,580 out of 7,220 precincts tallied. The 70-year-old farmer-banker had a lead of 25,000 votes over Omer N. Custer, former State treasurer and nearest opponent, but was far short of a majority.

Small's chief backer was former Mayor William Hale Thompson, of Chicago, an avowed foe of President Hoover.

Illinois' Democratic national committeeman, Michael Igoe, was far behind Judge Henry Horner, of Chicago, in the Democratic race for the governor's nomination.

Backed by Cermak.

Horner was backed by Mayor Anton J. Cermak, of Chicago.

The Chicago Democracy's favorite son presidential candidate, Senator James Hamilton Lewis, was the only candidate entered in the party's preferential list.

Former Senator Joseph I. France, of Maryland, was the only Republican who sought Illinois' preferential votes. Only a few Chicago precincts were available on France's vote, and in these he was far behind the candidates for State offices.

United States Senator Otis F. Glenn, of Illinois, was an apparent easy victor in the Republican senatorial nomination tabulations.

Senator France, too, sought Nebraska's preferential votes. The polls closed in that State at 8 p. m., and no returns on the size of France's vote were available in the first few hours of counting. Nebraska's Republican central committee, however, has approved the administration of President Hoover.

Wilkerson Backed By Subcommittee

Elevation of Capone Judge Approved by Vote of 3 Senators to 2.

(Associated Press.)

Promotion to the Circuit Court of Judge James H. Wilkerson, who sentenced Al Capone, was approved yesterday by a Senate judiciary subcommittee. The subcommittee, which has been studying the nomination for months, recommended its aproval by a vote of 3 to 2.

Wilkerson's nomination was opposed by Senators Blaine (Republican), of Wisconsin, and Dill (Democrat), of Washington, but Chairman Borah and Senators Walsh (Democrat), of Montana, and Robinson (Republican), of Indiana, voted for it.

The favorable vote came as somewhat of a surprise, in view of strenuous protests by organized labor that Wilkerson had been unfair to it as a Federal judge.

Jefferson Day Crowd Is Led Here by Smith

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

Alfred E. Smith, titular head of the Democratic party, arrived in Washington last night primed for a major role in today's big Democratic rally.

The 1928 nominee is one of eleven Democratic notables who will make speeches in the course of today's Jefferson Day celebration, and if advance reports may be trusted he is primed for one of the oratorical efforts of his career.

Among others who got into town yesterday was former Gov. James M. Cox, of Ohio, the Democratic nominee in 1920. The nominee of 1924, John W. Davis, of New York and West Virginia, is scheduled to arrive this morning.

Fifteen hundred Democrats, representing every State in the Union, are expected to take part in the all-day program.

Conspicuously absent will be Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, who yesterday continued his spectacular dash toward the presidential nomination by lining up additional delegates in Nebraska and Kentucky.

Today's mobilization, according to Chairman John J. Raskob, has four objects: First, to honor Thomas Jefferson and Woodrow Wilson, first and latest Democratic Presidents; second, to "demonstrate Democracy's unity of purpose and the quality of leadership it offers;" third, to survey the political situation and pre-

BANKER SEES PERIL IN BONUS INFLATION

Mitchell Tells Senator That Proposal Is Dangerous "In Extreme."

(Associated Press.)

A warning against the dangers of currency inflation came from a prominent New York financier last night, while advocates of cashing the $2,400,000,000 soldiers bonus sought an agreement on a money expansion plan.

Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the board of the National City Bank in New York, wrote Senator Thomas (Democrat), of Oklahoma, that he considers the proposed legislation for making the payment in new currency "dangerous in the extreme."

"There is no shortage of currency in this country," Mitchell wrote under date of March 30, in reply to a letter from Thomas.

"According to your statement, the bill proposes to increase the amount of money in circulation by $2,400,000,000. Should this aim be realized and the circulation so increased, the effect would be to reduce the reserve ratio from its present figure of 71 to 46, or close to the legal 40 per cent maximum, while the 'free gold' would be reduced from $1,500,000,000 to little over $500,000,000.

"In short, any such increase in currency outstanding would bring us dangerously near the limit of expansion in our banking system and leave very little margin for the further de-

Homeward-Bound Graf Sighted Over Bordeaux

Bordeaux, France, April 12 (A.P.).—The dirigible Graf Zeppelin, bound for her home port in Germany after a trip to Pernambuco, Brazil, passed over Bordeaux tonight.

She was headed in the direction of Dijon and Basel.

HONOLULU JURY VIEWS ARTICLES LINKED IN CRIME

Rope and Ring Are Among Exhibits Displayed by Prosecution.

DARROW AND KELLEY ARGUE OVER ENTRIES

Kahahawai's Lungs Gave No Evidence of Water, Doctor Testifies.

Honolulu, April 12 (A.P.).—Bloody links in the chain of circumstantial evidence, beginning with the finding of Joseph Kahahawai's body, were trailed into the darkened home of Mrs. Granville Fortescue by the prosecution today in the trial of the society matron and three Navy men for the slaying of the native.

Two bed sheets bearing stains which the prosecution contended was the blood of Kahahawai were unfolded before the racially mixed jury after a police officer had testified similar [illegible] was missing from a bed in the Fortescue home.

A length of rope, bloodstains on a bedroom floor, evidence the bathroom had recently been scrubbed, a photograph of Kahahawai taken from a woman's purse, an automatic pistol and a steel-jacketed bullet were mentioned by a succession of prosecution witnesses as their findings in the house.

Rope Is Identified.

One witness identified the rope as identical to that which bound the sheet-wrapped body of the young native when taken from the automobile in which Mrs. Fortescue and two other defendants, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie and Edward J. Lord were dashing toward the sea when stopped by police.

Another witness testified the purse, in which Kahahawai's photograph was found, belonged to Mrs. Fortescue.

Through it all the society matron sat without lifting her eyes.

First the clothing of Kahahawai, who was abducted and slain last January while awaiting retrial on charges of participating in an attack on Mrs. Massie, wife of Lieut. Massie and daughter of Mrs. Fortescue, was exhibited. This drew no objection from Clarence Darrow, veteran American attorney, who heads the defense counsel.

Physician Testifies.

The rope which had bound the body was identified by an officer testifying for the prosecution. Darrow made no attempt to interrupt his story.

Dr. Robert Faus, city and county physician, testified Kahahawai appar-

New York Speakeasies Listed, Woodcock Says

New York, April 12 (A.P.).—Amos W. W. Woodcock, national director of prohibition enforcement, announced today that a census of New York speakeasies had been completed by Federal agents working under his direction. He declined to say whether raids would follow.

"If we were at war," he said, "I would hardly begin by telling the enemy just what we were going to do." Mr. Woodcock arrived from Washington today, and conferred with United States Attorney George T. Medalie and Arthur H. Schwartz, chief of the Federal attorney's prohibition enforcement division.

DR. L. A. BAUER, SCIENTIST, ENDS LIFE IN PLUNGE

Skull Crushed and Neck Broken in Six-Story Leap at Home.

WIFE OUT OF ROOM AT TIME OF TRAGEDY

Returns and Finds Window Open; Suicide Is Verdict; Ill Health Blamed.

Dr. Louis A. Bauer, 67 years old, one of the leading mathematicians and scientists of the country, leaped to his death last night from the window of his sixth floor apartment at 2858 Ontario road northwest. Death was instantaneous. His skull was crushed and his neck broken in the plunge.

Dr. Bauer, internationally known for his work on terrestial magnetism, plunged from the window during the few moments his wife, Mrs. Adelia Doolittle Bauer, was in the kitchen preparing a glass of orange juice which he habitually took before retiring. He had been in ill health for several years.

The couple had been talking together and there was no intimation that Dr. Bauer planned to take his life. He asked the time, and Mrs. Bauer told him it was 9:30. She went to the kitchen to prepare his drink. When she returned, her husband was not there.

Finds Window Open.

A window in the bedroom was open. She looked out and saw his body crumpled on a small grassy plot at the rear of the apartment house.

Deputy Coroner C. J. Murphy, who viewed the body, said that, in his opinion, the scientist had taken his own life. Dr. Murphy released the body to an undertaking establishment.

Dr. Bauer was born in Cincinnati January 26, 1865, the son of Ludwig and Wilhelmina Bauer. After graduating from the University of Cincinnati, where he later taught, he received his Ph. D. degree from the University of Berlin in 1895.

He entered the Government service 45 years ago as an astronomer and magnetic computer with the Coast and Geodetic Survey. He later returned to this Government department as inspector of magnetic work and chief of the terrestial magnetism division in 1899, remaining until 1906.

Resigned Two Years Ago.

In 1904 he became director of the department of terrestial magnetism of the Carnegie Institution and held this position until two years ago when he resigned because of poor health.

During the western boundary survey of the State of Maryland, Dr. Bauer was astronomer and magnetician. He became chief of the terrestial magnetism division of the State's Geological Survey in 1896, and since 1899 when he left this post had been lecturer in terrestial magnetism at Johns Hopkins University.

When the war broke out Dr. Bauer was named to the Council of National Defense as chairman of the committee on navigation and nautical instruments. Immediately after its close, he was a delegate of the United States to the Brussels meetings of the Research Council and International Geodetic and Geophysical Union.

Member of Many Clubs.

His scientific association club affiliations were numerous. Among them were the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, Washington Academy of Sciences, Philosophical Society

Former Senator Robsion Will Seek House Seat

Barbourville, Ky., April 12 (A.P.). Former United States Senator John M. Robsion formally announced today his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Congress from the new Ninth District. Mr. Robsion, who served four years as representative from the former Eleventh District and resigned to take an appointment as senator, was defeated for the Senate at the end of his appointment.

Charles Finley, Republican incumbent, has declined to seek renomination. William Lewis, of London, is the only previously announced candidate. The district is a Republican stronghold.

3 Buildings Burn as Fire Rages in Newcastle, Pa.

Newcastle, Pa., April 12 (A.P.).—Fire broke out in the business district late tonight, destroyed three large mercantile buildings and was eating its way toward City Hall.

Firemen said the damage would exceed $500,000.

Soviet's Leaders Aroused As 5-Year Plan Work Lags

Failure of Iron, Steel, Textile and Other Industries to Keep Up to Schedule of Production for 1932 Is Revealed.

Moscow, April 12 (U.P.).—The failure of the Soviet's iron, steel, textile and other industries to keep up to schedule in quality and quantity of production was disclosed today with publication of figures for the first quarter of 1932.

Coming immediately after the sensational failure of the great new Ford automobile plant and at a time when coal production also is below schedule, the disclosure emphasized the government's general dissatisfaction with the Russian economic picture.

It was believed that some of this official pessimism must be discounted as a deliberate effort to stimulate the mass of workers to more intensive efforts, but it was clear that the Kremlin was aroused and doing everything possible to raise labor discipline and encourage responsible leadership.

The quarterly figures showed that the program for output of black metal was less than 80 per cent fulfilled. Compared to the corresponding period of 1931, this involved a substantial increase but was insufficient to meet the requirements of the government's ambitious program for completing the five-year plan this year.

A similar situation was disclosed in virtually all departments of national economy, including striking gains compared to 1931 but far less than required to fill the 1932 program. The coal industry is 4,500,000 tons above 1931, but 2,500,000 tons below requirements; and the textile, shoes and other light industries are in the same condition.

But even more serious, and emphasizing an important phase of Soviet production, was the startlingly low quality of produce. The press said that some factories had a total of 30 to 40 per cent of spoiled and useless production. The productivity of labor is not rising sufficiently and investments on construction jobs are declared excessive for the results obtained.

Lindbergh Ransom Bills Found In London; Jafsie's Work Bared

At this shack near the Mosholu golf course, not far from a cemetery in the Bronx, New York City, Dr. John F. Condon, sr., Fordham University lecturer, held a 15-minute conference with the emissary who represented himself as a go-between for the abductors of the Lindbergh baby. Negotiations were then started which led to the delivery of ransom, but not to the return of the baby.

97 TRUE BILLS NAME CLARK IN SHORTAGES

$54,000 Embezzlement Laid to Former Official in Montgomery.

The Montgomery County, Md., grand jury yesterday returned 97 indictments charging Berry E. Clark, former clerk to the Montgomery County Commissioners, with embezzlement of county funds. Return of the indictments revealed for the first time an alleged additional shortage in the accounts of Mr. Clark of approximately $30,000, accumulated since 1925.

The grand jury alleged embezzlement of approximately $24,000 in the period prior to 1922, when Mr. Clark was county treasurer as well as clerk to the county commissioners. Ten of the indictments are involved with this sum. The remaining 87 indictments refer to checks paid out of a hitherto undisclosed checking account carried by Mr. Clark under the title "Berry E. Clark, clerk, county commissioners" in the Montgomery County National Bank at Rockville, and which are alleged to have been made out to Mr. Clark and deposited in his personal checking account.

Mr. Clark was removed from office on March 26 and a warrant alleging embezzlement sworn out by Chief of Police Alvie A. Moxley when the auditing firm of R. G. Rankin & Co., which had been retained to audit the county's books for the past sixteen years and to work out an accounting system which would protect the county funds, reported that his funds while county treasurer had been found short by $23,986.63. The deposed clerk was released on bond of $5,000 to await grand jury action. At that time he announced that he was innocent of mishandling county funds.

Two days before Mr. Clark was removed, according to county officials, Roger J. Whiteford, member of counsel to the county commissioners, and Louis P. Bond, representing the Ran-

Stimson May Discuss Salvador Government

San Salvador, April 12 (A.P.).—Diario Latino, San Salvador newspaper, said today Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson would meet with Dr. Gustavo Guerrero in Geneva tomorrow to go over the legal status of the de facto regime here of Gen. Maximiliano Martinez, as yet unrecognized by the United States Government.

The newspaper said Dr. Guerrero, prominent Salvadorean and member of the world court, would appeal to several European governments to obtain recognition for Gen. Martinez as chief of state in the republic of Salvador.

11 Nippon Soldiers Die In Troop Train Wreck

Tokyo (Wednesday), April 13 (U.P.). A dispatch to Nichi Nichi from Harbin, Manchuria, today said that 11 Japanese soldiers were killed, 19 seriously wounded, and 74 slightly injured when a Japanese troop train was wrecked 10½ miles east of Harbin at 10:45 p. m. Tuesday.

A dynamite mine was said to have caused the wreck and Japanese patrols were scouring the countryside for the perpetrators.

Scotland Yard Attempts to Find How Money Was Smuggled.

Colonel Aided Teacher in Negotiations That Caused Paying.

London (Wednesday), April 13 (A. P.).—The Daily Mail said today that some of the bank notes of the $50,000 ransom which Col. Charles A. Lindbergh paid in the hope of regaining his kidnaped baby had been found in London.

Scotland Yard was doing its utmost to discover how they were smuggled into England, was inquiring at hotels, banks and other places where the bills were likely to have been changed, and has asked several persons who handled the notes to explain how they were obtained, the newspaper said.

It added that Maj. Charles Schoeffel, New Jersey trooper, who recently came to England, is trying to trace the bills. Maj. Schoeffel's present whereabouts were unknown here.

Forbes Reaches Coast On Way to Washington

San Francisco, April 12 (A.P.).—W. Cameron Forbes, of Boston, retiring American Ambassador to Japan, arrived from Tokyo today on the liner Maui after a stopover in Hawaii, and expressed confidence of pleasant future relations between the United States and Japan.

Mr. Forbes, on his way to Washington, D. C., with his sister-in-law, Mrs. Waldo Forbes, and her daughter, expressed admiration for the statesmanship of Baron Shidehara, who was Japanese foreign minister during much of the Bostonian's stay in the Orient.

HEARING ON STOCKS OFF UNTIL MONDAY

Whitney Invited to Return; Committee Members to Study Statistics.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

The inquiry of the Senate banking and currency committee into the effect of short selling on the New York Stock Exchange gained new momentum yesterday as a result of further revelations by Richard Whitney, president of the exchange, concerning the volume of the bear operations during the eleven months since brokers began reporting their short positions, in May, 1931.

At the conclusion of yesterday's hearing, the second in which Mr. Whitney appeared, Senator Cousens (Republican), of Michigan, presented a resolution to continue the investigation next Monday, after committee members have had an opportunity to examine the statistical material and charts presented in this week's testimony.

This resolution unanimously adopted in open session, the committee invited Mr. Whitney to return to Washington Monday morning with additional material relating to short operations in specific stocks.

Mr. Whitney reiterated the willing-

Harris, "Little Better," Given Chance to Survive

(Associated Press.)

Senator Harris, of Georgia, was described by his physician yesterday afternoon as "a little better." He said that in view of the improvement since earlier in the day, the 64-year-old senator "still has a chance" to pull through.

The attending physician said at 3 p. m.: "His heart has picked up some. His condition, on the whole, is a little better."

Dry Amendment Denounced At Women Wets' Banquet

Breckinridge Long Declares Section Improperly Part of Constitution; Mrs. Sabin Urges Support of Candidates Pledged to Work for Repeal.

Repeal of the eighteenth amendment, because it is improperly a part of the Constitution, was urged last night by Breckinridge Long, Assistant Secretary of State during the Wilson administration, in an address before a banquet of the National Conference of the Women's Organization for Prohibition Reform.

More than 1,100 women who are meeting in the Mayflower Hotel, were urged by Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, national chairman of the organization, to withhold their indorsements of presidential candidates until analyses have been made of the platform of both parties and the records of the candidates.

"We will not be deceived by halfhearted acceptance of a plank framed obviously for expediency," she said. There is only one way in which the parties can make the matter of prohibition reform nonpartisan and that is for both parties to go squarely on record in favor of an amendment to the eighteenth amendment "abolishing its tyranny and restoring liquor traffic control to the States."

Several hundred of the delegates to the conference will today meet on the steps of the Capitol and will then canvass the dry representatives from their respective States, to urge them to vote for prohibition reform.

"The law contained in the eighteenth amendment," said Mr. Long, "was never submitted to the President of the United States for his approval or disapproval. It was not passed by the Congress sitting in its legislative capacity but was passed by the Congress sitting as a constitutional body, and in a constitution-making capacity as distinct from its legislative capacity.

"Furthermore, this law is not, as intended by the Constitution, susceptible of interpretation by the Supreme Court for the very simple reason that when it became a part

Furloughs or Pay Cuts Issue in Talk With House Group.

FIGHT IN PROSPECT WHEN BILL IS READY

Congress Clashes Give Hint of Impending Conflict; Methods Contested.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

In a last minute effort to iron out differences between White House and committee proposals for reducing Federal employe costs, the Democratic House economy committee again will meet with President Hoover at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The committee is sold on its own idea of 11 per cent slashes, with $1,000 exemption. A resolution giving this right-of-way on the legislative appropriations bill was reported yesterday by the House rules committee, and today will be brought to a House vote.

But as the rule is broad enough to permit substitution of Mr. Hoover's plan of staggered furloughs without pay, the committee will meet at 9:45 a. m. to hear Budget Director J. Clawson Roop's analysis of the President's plan.

Asked By Hoover.

Today's White House conference was called on invitation of President Hoover, who wrote Economy Chairman John McDuffie "the most expeditious and businesslike way to achieve the conclusive results which we all desire would be to continue these conferences."

The McDuffie reply stressed the committee's preference for a salary cut rider, "which we propose to offer, and feel must be offered, as an amendment to the legislative appropriation bill."

Again welcoming the proffer of cooperation, the committee reiterated it was not in entire accord with the President's suggestion "that a complete nonpartisan economy program be included in one bill." The committee plans three bills in addition to the pay-cut rider, grouping legislative changes, appropriation alterations and bureau consolidations, in separate measures.

Battle in Prospect.

Meantime an inkling of the squall ahead when the pay-cut fight is precipitated on the House floor, was supplied yesterday by leaders of both factions, who revived all of the old arguments for and against reductions and introduced a few variations, in such a round table discussion as has not been heard since the tax battle was at its height.

Representative William P. Connery, jr. (Democrat), Massachusetts, led the opposing forces, asking continuance of the House "as a people's forum, not a rich man's club."

"If you vote to cut your own salaries you will be doing the people an injustice," he said. "This cry for salary reduction is not coming from the workers. It is clever propaganda."

Leadership Between Three.

Lining up on Connery's side were Representative Fiorello H. LaGuardia (Republican), New York; Representative John J. Cochran (Democrat), Missouri; Representative John J. Boylan (Democrat), New York; Representative William I. Sirovich (Democrat), New York; Representative James M. Fitzpatrick (Democrat), New York; Representative James M. Mead (Democrat), New York; Representative John W. McCormack (Democrat), Massachusetts; Representative Melvin J. Maas (Republican),

TAX MEASURE DUE IN SENATE BEFORE MAY 1

G.O.P. Leaders Confident of Halting Shower of Tariff Amendments.

NEW MILLS PROGRAM IS EXPECTED TODAY

Hearings Are to Be Pushed; Report Is Likely Soon After They Close.

By J. B. McDONNELL.

With the tariff row which threatened to endanger the budget-balancing billion-dollar tax increase bill settled on the Democratic side of the Senate, Republican leaders are confident they, too, will win their fight and prevent a Republican shower of tariff amendments which would delay passage of the measure.

The rain of public disapproval of anything which would delay the revenue bill has considerably dampened the tariff picnic many had looked forward to, and leaders are demanding that first thought be given to relieving uncertainty of the country over the taxes it will have to pay.

The course of the stock market and the failure of the Nation's industry to spring into hectic animation in response to legislative prescriptions already written have had a sobering effect and there is general agreement that whatever tax bill is passed should be passed quickly.

Tariff Amendments.

There will be tariff amendments in the bill. The House made certain of that when it included import duties on coal and oil. The Democrats and Republicans alike accept the fact that these will be in the bill when it is reported by the finance committee. Other tariff items which have strong support include copper, manufactured lumber and rubber. These have considerable support. No effort will be made to stop proposal of others. The effort is to persuade the sponsors of any of them from resorting to senatorial tricks of parliamentary maneuvering and permit prompt votes.

Senator Pat Harrison (Democrat), of Mississippi, following an executive session of the finance committee yesterday, predicted that the committee would report the tax bill to the Senate in less than a week after the public hearings have been completed. Senator David A. Reed (Republican), of Pennsylvania, later said much the same thing. He said he thought consideration could be begun on the Senate floor not later than May 1.

The committee yesterday discussed the question of speeding up the hearings, but fell into difficulties, and, after voting down a proposal by Senator James Couzens (Republican), of Michigan, to divide into subcommittees, finally agreed to exert every effort to speed the hearings.

Telegrams Sent Witnesses.

Senator Reed Smoot (Republican), of Utah, chairman, sent telegrams to the several score of persons who have asked to be heard on various phases of the measure, advising them to appear before the committee at the earliest possible date, and to disregard the schedule of hearings which the committee first prepared. This schedule called for completion of the hearings by April 22, with adjournments over Saturdays. The committee, Senator Smoot said, will sit on Saturdays. Witnesses will be limited to fifteen minutes each.

It is unlikely that the hearings will be formally closed before the date which had been fixed, but the business of hearing witnesses will be pushed and when the committee runs out of witnesses any day it will go into executive session and work on various sections, thus saving so much time while the hearings are proceeding.

The new tax program demanded of Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills by Senator Harrison and other Democrats on the committee is expected to be presented to the committee today. Secretary Mills has been in telephone communication with Senator Harrison and with Senator Smoot and is understood to have informed the committee chairman the new program will be given the committee today.

Nothing Radical Foreseen.

It is not expected to mark any radical departure from past Treasury recommendations, as submitted to the House ways and means committee and discussed by Mr. Mills before the finance committee. It was requested by the Democrats, who said they were not entirely satisfied with Mr. Mills' proposal that the committee go to his ways and means committee program and find substitutes for the various objectionable taxes he found in the House bill.

Elimination of the taxes he objected to before the finance committee would reduce the estimated revenue by something like $205,000,000. Among the items with which he found fault were the dividends tax, estate and gift tax rates, ¼ per cent stock transfer tax, net loss provision, affiliated return penalty and bond transfer tax. He mentioned only two of several substitutes. They were taxes on bank checks and on domestic consumption of gas and electricity, estimated to raise $189,000,000.

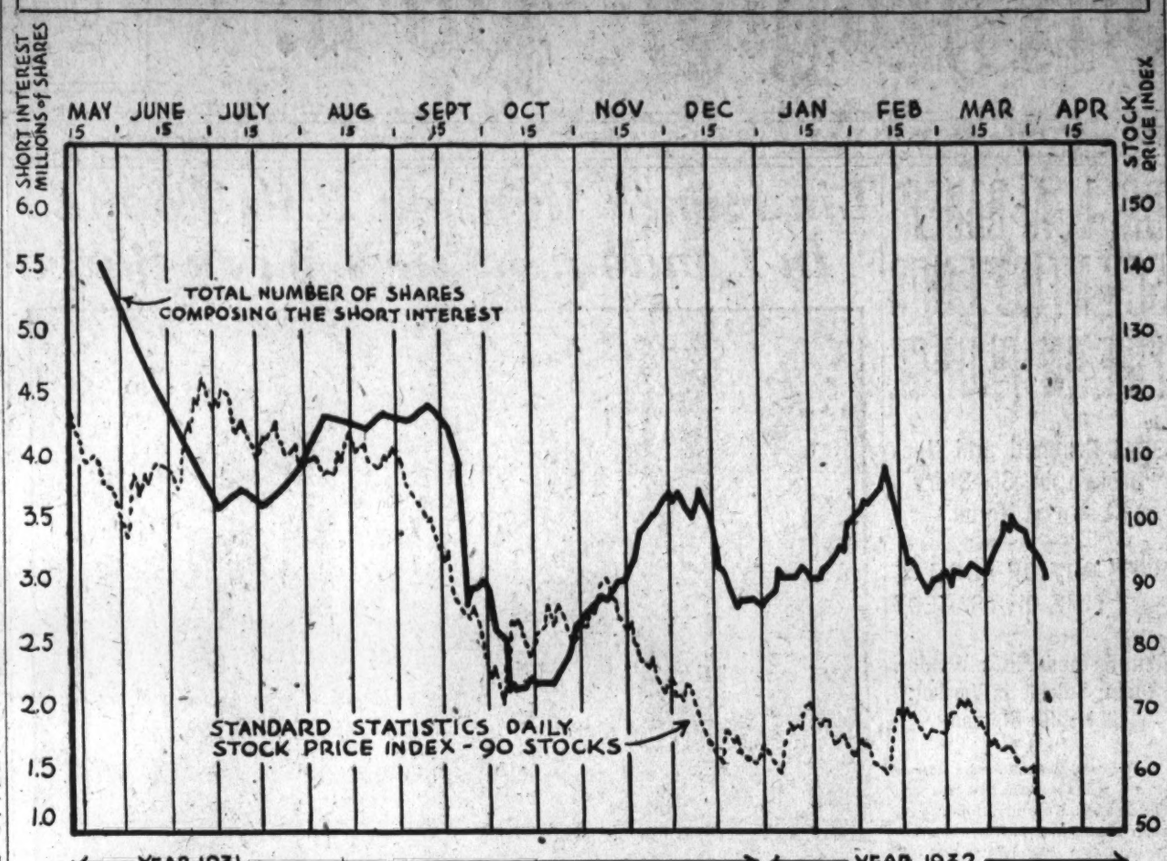
Butter Tariff Urged.

Witnesses before the committee yesterday included Representative Charles A. Christopherson (Republican), South Dakota, who wanted a tariff of 22 cents a pound for butter.

V. S. K. Houston, Hawaiian delegate, opposed extension of income taxes to Government officials in Hawaii and Alaska, saying it would mean double taxation. David A. Gaskill, representating the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, urged the manufacturers sales tax, opposed the 40 per cent maximum surtax rate on incomes and said the inheritance taxes were confiscatory. R. C. Fulbright, of Houston, Tex., asked that the committee strike from the House bill the provisions eliminating exemptions on mine depletion and dividends paid out of depletion reserves. William S. Bennett, representing the National Lumber Manufacturers Association, objected to administrative changes affecting distribution of dividends.

Senator Huey Long (Democrat), of Louisiana, advocate of redistribution of wealth, introduced amendments increasing surtax and inheritance rates to a 65 per cent maximum.

GRAPH SHOWS STOCK EXCHANGE PRICE MOVEMENTS TO SENATE



By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

THE above graph presents a tracing from the official stock exchange chart on short selling and price movements, presented before the Senate banking and currency committee on Monday by Robert Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange.

The solid line traces the movement of the daily open short commitments in New York Stock Exchange issues from May 25, 1931, to April 5, 1932. The broken line traces the price movements.

At the first tabulation of the short accounts the exchange found the total of open commitments, as of May 25, 1931, to be approximately 5,600,000 shares. On June 3 the Standard Statistics price index for 90 leading stocks hit the low level of 1931 up to that date.

As rumors of the Hoover moratorium conversations filtered into the trade, the short interest declined precipitately, and when the White House formally announced the one-year suspension of governmental debt payments on June 20, the short interest stood at only about 4,250,000 shares. Meanwhile, the price index had recovered from 97 to 112.

By July 3 the short account had declined further to 3,600,000 shares; and the price index then stood, after a minor reaction, at 121.

At this point the short interest began to increase again and by July 10 stood at 3,750,000 shares. On that date the price index stood at 116.50.

The following week brought a shrinkage of approximately 150,000 shares in the short interest, and the price index first dipped and then advanced precisely in step with the movement of the combined short account curve.

Between July 17 and August 8 the short interest increased from 3,600,000 to 4,350,000 shares, while the price index moved from 113 to 107.

As of August 20 the short interest had declined to 4,250,000 shares and the price index had advanced to 112.5.

By August 25 the short interest had expanded again to 4,400,000 shares, and the price index was down once more to 107.

Following the resignation of the Labor government in England, on August 24, there followed a month of almost complete chaos in stock values, aggravated by the British naval mutiny of September 15 and the suspension of the gold standard in England on September 25. There followed in quick order the suspension of gold payments by Norway and Sweden on September 28, the emergency Whitehall budget conferences in England on October 6, and the beginning of the French gold withdrawals from New York on October 10, and when all of this disturbing news had worked itself out on the stock market, the short interest stood (as of October 20) at 2,250,000 shares and the price index at 83.50.

With the British elections on October 28, the market found a basis of values again, and the short interest shot upward steadily to 3,750,000 shares on November 30—with the price index declining step by step with the increase in short interest after the day (November 12), that the short curve crossed, and once more got on top of, the price curve.

From this point onward, to about April 1, 1932, the graph presents an almost algebraically perfect sweep of inverse ratios between the expansion of the short account and the decline of prices. The successive low price troughs of December 17, January 5, February 11 and March 20 correspond, to the day, with peaks in the curve of open short interest.

Between April 1 and 6, the short interest declined on short covering in the wave of genuine liquidation, forced by the short selling pressure maintained throughout the entire month of March.

* * * *

Mr. Whitney told the committee yesterday that the shrinkage in values on the New York Stock Exchange list for the first ten days of April aggregated approximately $6,000,000,000.

The total shrinkage from the 1929 peak to April 10 he estimated at about $42,000,000,000.

TARDIEU'S ATTITUDE HANDICAPS STIMSON

Pessimism Is Voiced Here as Result of Attack on U. S. Proposal.

By HAROLD J. T. HOBAN.

Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson will make his debut at the general disarmament conference in Geneva under inauspicious circumstances as a result of French Premier Andre Tardieu's criticism of the American disarmament proposals, it was forecast here yesterday.

The chief of the French delegation was reported as attacking the American plan of disarmament proposed last Monday by Ambassador Hugh Gibson.

Opposition from France would include hostility from the Polish, Czechoslovakian, Roumanian and Jugoslav delegation at the conference and might seriously endanger the eventual success of the meeting which the presence of the American Secretary of State at Geneva was intended to insure.

Pessimism Voiced.

Considerable pessimism was voiced in State Department circles as a result of the French attack on the American thesis. The American proposals have heretofore received agreement in principle from the British, German, Italian and Russian delegation whose proposals have been along the same lines as the American arms reduction thesis.

The French proposals originally put forward by M. Tardieu have envisaged the disarmament problem from the opposite end of the telescope with the result that a profound chasm exists between the French proposal for disarmament and the other propositions.

The French thesis has placed security before any consideration of arms reduction. With this end in view Premier Tardieu offered the nations of the world assembled in Geneva at the opening of the conference an idealistic plan, which was based on an international police force drawn from military effectives on land, sea and in the air and under the supervision of the League of Nations.

The tart reminder of the leader of the French group that "the disarmament meeting is under the auspices of the league and that nonmembers present should keep that in mind" was adduced here yesterday as indicative of the intransigeance of the French position.

Stimson Is Informed.

Secretary Stimson received the full text of the Tardieu rebuttal by radio on board the S. S. Ile de France. He will study the Tardieu announcement before he arrives tomorow in Paris and as M. Tardieu will have returned from the conference by that time, there may be a possibility of a meeting between them before Col. Stimson goes on to Geneva.

In contradistinction to the attack launched on the American proposal by Premier Tardieu, the sympathetic reactions of other delegations were deemed very significative. Sir John Simon, foreign minister of Great Britain and head of the British delegation in the absence of Ramsay MacDonald, agreed without hesitation with what he termed "this definite and practical proposal." He went even further and declared that the Gibson proposals would insure the very thing which the Tardieu proposals had in mind: "Remove the instrument of attack and you remove fear, which is the parent of insecurity."

The German delegate at the Geneva meeting was also reported to be in favor of the Gibson proposal and the Italian proposition also contained several points of identity.

Battleships Made Issue.

The basis of M. Tardieu's attack on the Gibson proposal was that no mention was made in the proposition to abolish battleships which were classed by the French statesman as "the most obvious aggressive weapon."

Ambassador Gibson had laid down as necessary the elimination of such destructive agents of offensive as mobile guns, tanks and poisonous gas. While it was impossible to induce any official expression from sources at the Department of State, it was pointed out that the achievement of the Washington conference was the American proposal of the then Secretary of State Charles Evans Hughes to limit the capital ship within the narrow confines of the Washington treaty.

Furthermore, it was recalled that France has not yet been able to compose her differences with Italy in the matter of compromise on the provisions of the London Naval Treaty, and France and Italy stand conspicuously outside the agreement on naval reduction, which includes the United States, Great Britain and Japan.

80 HOUSE MEMBERS SIGN BEER PETITION

65 More Names Are Needed for Forcing Vote Upon O'Connor-Hull Bill.

(Associated Press.)

Eighty House members yesterday expressed a desire to vote on whether the manufacture and taxing of 2.75 per cent beer is legal.

They signed a petition to take away from the House ways and means committee and bring to the floor the O'Connor-Hull bill. Sixty-five more signatures will have to be obtained before vote can be taken.

Representative O'Connor (Democrat), New York, one of the leading wets and coauthor of the bill, expressed confidence the 145 signatures would be obtained. As he announced on the floor that the petition had been filed at the clerk's office and about twenty members rushed forward to sign it, he said:

"There will be no rush about obtaining the 145 names, although we expect them early enough to assure a vote by May 9."

If the antiprohibitionists succeed in this effort they will force a second record vote on prohibition this session.

The first was on a petition to discharge the judiciary committee and bring up the Beck-Linthicum bill, which would have proposed a substitute for the eighteenth amendment which would allow State liquor control. The wets lost that vote 227 to 187.

SENATE HEARING ON STOCKS IS POSTPONED TO MONDAY

ness of himself and the governing body of the exchange to cooperate to the fullest extent in the prosecution of the inquiry, which is calculated to establish whether short selling—particularly in view of the present plight of world economy—exerts a baleful influence on speculative and investment trading.

Senator Peter Norbeck (Republican), of South Dakota, chairman of the banking and currency committee, announced after a White House conference late yesterday afternoon that the investigation would "go to the bottom" of the involved question, despite the vigorous affirmations of Mr. Whitney on Monday and yesterday that there is no such thing on the New York Exchange as "organized bear raiding."

The course of the inquiry beyond next Monday will be determined by the committee late this week, when detailed figures on individual short accounts, requested in the subpena presented to Mr. Whitney last Friday, are made available. It is not improbable, in the view of leaders in the probe, that individual brokers and traders may be summoned to supplement Mr. Whitney's explanation of the theory and effect of short selling.

Disclosure that stock exchange values—not including listed bonds—had shrunk by approximately $6,000,000,0000 during the first ten days of April, was a high point of Mr. Whitney's testimony yesterday. The effect of this statement was the more electrifying for the reason that it coincided with publication of a special survey of stock yields by Moody's Investment Service, in New York, which showed that as of April 1 the average yield on 260 cash dividend leaders now being actively traded on the exchange was 10.81 per cent.

This yield compares with an average of 9.70 per cent on March 1 and 10.52 per cent on February 5, when the stock price average duplicated the year's early low of the first week in January.

During the boom period of 1928-1929 this average yield ruled as low at 4.30 per cent on the spot average value of the market leaders.

Yesterday's trade in Wall street reflected some abandonment of the short pressure which last week drove the market down through the triple bottoms of December, January and February, but with the failure of anticipated rehabilitation measures to materialize in a blaze of fanfare and trumpeting at the White House, a wave of selling against the rails set in on the stock exchange, and the whole list sagged under the assault.

Although they have elected not to press the point until the complete figures requested of the stock exchange have been transmitted to Washington, some committee members are not satisfied that last week's decline in the short interest, at a time when the market also was in a nose dive, is a complete refutation of the charge that excessive short selling depresses values.

Short selling in the first instance, these members point out, may topple the market sufficiently to start a major downward movement, after which the wave of liquidation enforced or inspired by the short-selling dip may carry the movement onward indefinitely until some new lifting force appears in the trade news.

In skirting this point yesterday in his examination of Mr. Whitney, Senator Goldsborough (Republican), of Maryland, who is himself an active banker, asked the stock exchange president if the whole justification for short selling, whatever it may be in normal times, does not fall in times like the present. Mr. Whitney answered, "No, because long buying without the stabilizing factor of short selling is like a one-legged man."

While there was no challenge to Mr. Whitney's showing that the short interest in the market as a whole declined sharply in the first week in April, committee members said they desired to examine the short commitments in specific issues before drawing any conclusions from the stock exchange tabulations.

A preliminary analysis of some of the April figures showed marked price declines in the several issues in which the short interest expanded during the first week, and these declines, selected at random, were somewhat sharper than in those issues which showed a shrinking short interest during the same week. Santa Fe, for example, showed an increase of 6,500 shares in the short interest between April 1 and 6 and a price decline of $9.50 a share to $53.50. This stock, which showed the greatest increase in the short interest among five selected at random, showed also the sharpest decline in value among the five.

Reverting to the trade practice of "selling against the box," which is a short sale covered by delivery the same day, the committee counsel, Claude R. Branch, pressed Mr. Whitney for an opinion as to whether they did not exert the same depressing price innfluence as the tabulated short sales. If this were so, the examiner added, sales against the box should be reported to the exchange on the same terms as short sales.

Mr. Whitney said he would not undertake to judge the intent of sellers in such operations, but that the transactions could not be regarded as a short sale for the reason that the delivery eventually is effected from stocks actually owned at the time of sale rather than from later purchases.

PEACE PLAN OF U.S. SCORED BY TARDIEU

French Premier Says Proposal Valueless; Advocates World Police Again.

Geneva, April 12 (A.P.).—The American plan for disarmament, calling for the abolition of tanks, heavy mobile guns and gas, was assailed as useless by Premier Andre Tardieu, of France, today before the world disarmament conference.

The French attack was based on the contention of Ambassador Hugh Gibson, who presented the American plan yesterday, that the best way to national security was through the abolition of modern aggressive weapons that have outmoded frontier fortresses and other war facilities on which security has rested in the past.

To do away with one type of weapon or another would be useless, M. Tardieu said. An agreement along such lines would not necessarily produce security, he declared, but might, on the other hand, prove to be a distinct disadvantage to an invaded country.

Again Urges World Police.

The French premier informed the conference that only through common action against an aggressor would it be possible to attain security—an assertion that was taken as a restatement of the French plan under which all the nations would place offensive forces under the supervision of the League of Nations, which would employ them as an international police organization.

M. Tardieu also objected because the Gibson proposals, while affecting some offensive arms, failed to mention battleships, "the most obvious aggressive weapon."

He suggested that nonmembers of the league keep in mind that the conference was operating under league auspices.

50 Per Cent Army Cut Asked.

Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet commissar for foreign affairs, renewed the Russian proposals for general disarmament, suggesting a 50 per cent cut in all armies of more than 200,000 men. This would hit the red army of Russia.

The League of Nations council, at its meeting today, postponed action on the financial committee's recommendation of concerted loans to save Greece, Austria, Hungary, and Bulgaria from threatened bankruptcy. This action was taken after the council had acknowledged the urgency and gravity of the situation in those nations.

Paris, April 12 (A.P.).—The newspaper Le Temps today linked the American disarmament proposals with Secretary of State Stimson's trip to Europe, suggesting that the two were impelled by a desire on the part of the American administration to achieve a diplomatic success on the eve of the presidential election.

Public Hearing Planned On Billboard Regulation

Roland M. Brennan, chief clerk of the District engineer department, yesterday took under consideration the question of setting a date for a public hearing to hear protests against a section of the billboard regulations which has been interpreted to prevent strike picketing.

Marx Lewis, attorney for the local fur workers' union, wrote a letter to the commissioners yesterday complaining of the delay in granting a hearing, which he requested last week.

Amusement Age Rules, Not the Age for Musing

By JOHN J. DALY

AMUSEMENT is defined by a noted clergyman as "a device intended to keep man from thinking." In paying his compliments to what is known as the "Age of Amusement," he said, as an afterthought, "This is not a musing, but an amusing age."

The class in etymology will now listen to a few more definitions, to-wit:

The word muse means to ponder, to think, to meditate, to consider thoughtfully.

The word amuse means to divert the mind from thinking, to occupy the attention with something pleasing—to tickle the ribs, as it were.

In balancing those two definitions, the one against the other, the good man discovers that, generally speaking, the muse is nowhere in sight; that to muse is not characteristic of this age in which we live. In other words, no one stops to listen to inner voices.

* * * *

TOO true! This is an age of movies and not moods; of short stories and not Shakespeare; of play and not plays; of bootleg and not books; of ward heelers and not faith healers; of stagecraft and not statesmanship; of police and politicians rather than patrons and patriots.

Truly, this is the amusement age—and, as the reverend gentleman says, "The majority are intoxicated with amusement, but, God willing, they will not always be in the majority."

There is no telling, of course, when a change will come over the race—when the boys and girls of the current era will grow weary of being amused and want to muse. By that time, of course, a lot of movies will have moved across the screen, a lot of cigarettes gone up in smoke.

* * * *

AS the gentleman of the cloth aptly puts it, "We who muse are now in the minority, but some day we will be in the majority."

Will we? And then what? Will it not be the same old story when the minority becomes the majority? It has happened before.

The minority sometimes becomes the majority and the majority the minority; and when the minority becomes the majority and the majority the minority the majority acts toward the minority just as the minority acts toward the majority when the majority was the minority and the minority the majority.

Just the shoe on the other foot, that's all, whether they be musers or seekers after amusement. Pleasure-lovers all, even when taking pleasure in solemn musing.

HOOVER LAUDS WORK ON BUDGET PROGRAM

Praises Cooperative Spirit; Reserve Bank Heads Hold Parley.

(Associated Press.)

The spirit of cooperation gathering behind the budget balancing legislation drew appreciation yesterday from President Hoover who is keeping in close touch with congressional and business leaders in a determination to stem any new inroads of deflation.

It was said at the White House that the President has no plans for a dramatic economic conference but intends to keep contact with the industrial and banking leaders of the Nation.

In this connection, the national economic situation was surveyed yesterday at a meeting of all the governors of the twelve Federal Reserve Banks with the Federal Reserve Board. Governor Harrison of the New York bank was among those present.

There has been a feeling in the Capital that bankers have not been taking full advantage of the liberalized credit provisions of the recently enacted Glass-Steagall bill. No announcement was made at the Treasury on the Federal Reserve parley.

The administration believes some business unrest is attributable to the legislative situation, but no alarm is felt.

ently bled or strangled to death after receiving a bullet wound in the left chest. The physician said the wound ranged downward. He said there was no evidence of water in the lungs, apparently settling rumors Kahahawai had been given the "water cure" in an attempt to make him confess participating in the Massie attack.

Mrs. Massie sat quietly throughout the court session, the second day of testimony.

Darrow and Public Prosecutor John C. Kelley argued over the prosecution's introduction in evidence of a signet ring and a wrist watch with a broken crystal, both taken from Kahahawai's body.

Darrow objected to the ring, but not to the watch. After conferring with counsel, Circuit Judge Charles S. Davis admitted both. It was learned Darrow had objected to the ring because it bore the insignia of a Honolulu high school which members of the jury had attended.

In cross-examining Dr. Faus, Darrow showed considerable interest in how close the bullet had come to the backbone, but did not reveal his reason.

Albert O. Jones, like Lord, an enlisted man in the Navy, is the fourth defendant.

THOMAS E. CAMPBELL,
President Civil Service Commission.

THOMAS E. CAMPBELL, president of the United States Civil Service Commission, has always aspired to high place. This was so even when he was a child. He first came to public notice at the age of 8, by falling out of a tree, to which point of vantage he had climbed to witness a public hanging.

Campbell, a tall, wiry fellow, was born on a ranch near Prescott, Ariz., in 1878. His father was Dan Campbell, an Indian fighter. His mother was Eliza (O'Flynn) Campbell, who, migrating from Washington to the West, met Campbell at an Army post.

The man, who now keeps track of a half million of Uncle Sam's workers, began life as a cowboy, in the days when cowboys had to be quick on the draw. When he wasn't riding the range, he acquired an education, completing the academic phase of this at St. Mary's College in Oakland, Calif.

He worked as a postal clerk, and later as a miner. He tried to enlist for the Spanish-American war, but was turned down because of his youth. A Republican, he got into politics by complaining. The voters told him that, inasmuch as he had drawn, he would have to shoot. So they made him Arizona's tax commissioner.

When the I. W. W. was stirring up trouble in the mines, Campbell denounced the organization, and came within 43 votes of being elected governor. In 1918 he ran for the office again, and this time was elected. He remained for two terms.

In 1928 Campbell was the American representative at the exposition in Seville, Spain. When he returned to this country President Hoover appointed him to the Civil Service Commission to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of William C. Deming.

97 MONTGOMERY TRUE BILLS NAME CLARK IN SHORTAGES

kin Co., questioned Mr. Clark for several hours concerning apparent discrepancies totaling approximately $2,900 in his accounts as clerk. Mr. Clark then for the first time admitted having maintained the undisclosed bank accounts since 1925.

These unaccounted-for items had been verified and each appeared in at least one entry in the regular books of the county commissioners' office, and were shown as unaccounted for cash in the audit. Mr. Clark finally admitted these items to be correct and paid them in cash the day he was removed from office. He then admitted existence of the additional clerk's account at the bank and turned over cancelled checks against the account to the auditors, who then began an audit of this account.

The auditors then placed before the grand jury evidence that he had drawn checks on this account and deposited them to his own personal account in an amount of about $24,000 and had drawn and personally indorsed checks totaling an additional $6,000 against this account.

Mr. Bond says that it was Mr. Clark's custom to deposit in this account checks for bids on bonds, remittances from the sheriff's office, fees for building permits, proceeds of several county bond issues sold between 1925 and 1930, some of the money from the resale of property bought by the county at tax sales and later sold to other purchasers, and several checks to the county commissioners for the reimbursement of the maintenance of insane persons.

He further says that no book or original entry or cash book covering this clerk's account could be located and that Mr. Clark told him he did not regard it as an "official account." In the case of the bond issues Mr Clark settled with the county treasurer's office by check drawn on this clerk's account in the proper amount and in all had drawn about 50 checks from this account in favor of the county treasurer.

It was pointed out that there is no particular reason why the county treasurer's office should view with suspicion checks drawn on such account, since they did not know of the undisclosed unofficial account.

Lacy Shaw, president of the board of county commissioners, last night pointed out that since the board of county commissioners had never authorized the account and had no knowledge of it and there was no record maintained it was obviously impossible that it should be included in the annual county audits provided by law. He further pointed out that the accuracy of these audits since 1922 had been verified by the Rankin company and that the Rankin company representatives could not find any reference to the account in Mr. Clark's office, until its existence was admitted by Mr. Clark two days before he was deposed.

The Montgomery County commissioners yesterday approved the six recommendations made by the Rankin company for more efficient handling of county accounts and further adopted a resolution providing for an annual audit of county funds by an outside firm of national reputation as asked by the Montgomery County Civic Federation and the county grand jury.

The recommendations are, briefly:

Maintenance of county accounts on a basis of double entry bookkeeping, balanced at the end of each month; employment of an accountant in the commissioner's office, conversant with double entry bookkeeping; clearance of cash receipts through the cash receipts book in the treasurer's office, adoption of a general form of receipt in the various offices where funds are received as well as in the treasurer's office, to cover any miscellaneous receipts of cash, each supported by a signed receipt, provision of a voucher system of payment which would result in elimination of duplication of work by the treasurer and county commissioner offices, more adequate cash records in the police court and sheriff's offices.

Also use of but one set of fund ledgers in the commissioner's office and not in the treasurer's office as at present; abolition of clearing journal entries through the cash book and institution of a journal supported by journal vouchers for each entry, and installation of a regular purchase order system for all large transactions.

The grand jury recommended in its report, presented to Judge Robert B. Peter in Montgomery County Circuit Court at Rockville at the same time as the indictments, that salaries of all county officials be reduced 10 per cent in view of the present conditions prevailing in the United States, and that no additional bond issues be authorized for a few years other than for emergency purposes.

The body further reported that it had carefully examined the witnesses in the murder of Horace D. Waters, who was shot and killed by three holdup men in his store at Old Germantown, and that it believed the police department had exerted every effort possible to apprehend the murderers. It especialy commended the efficiency of the county police force in general. The report states that all county institutions and buildings were found to be in good shape.

Costigan Upholds Howard Salaries

Senate Vote Slated Today on Amendments to Bill on Appropriations.

Senator Edward P. Costigan (Democrat), Colorado, yesterday sought to amend the Interior Department supply bill to restore Howard University salary appropriations to the $450,000 figure provided before a $25,000 cut was ordered under the McKellar resolution.

The amendment, with two others affecting Howard University appropriations, will come up for vote today. Senator Park Trammell (Democrat), Florida, served notice he would speak against it.

Senator Costigan also will seek to increase Howard's general expense funds from $225,000 to $275,000, and restore the $450,000 heat, light and power plant item eliminated by the appropriations committee.

FIRST LADY ATTENDS RED CROSS SESSION

Hears Speakers Tell How Chapters Gave Help to 7,400,000.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover unexpectedly attended yesterday's session of the American Red Cross convention in the United States Chamber of Commerce to hear speakers describe the organization's work in relief of unemployment.

The 1,000 delegates who attended were told that their organization had served more than 7,400,000 persons in recent months in giving a helping hand to drought, storm and unemployment victims.

This work was described by Robert E. Bondy, national director of disaster relief. Two thousand chapters, he said, have served 1,177,000 persons in some form of unemployment relief.

Clement M. Biddle, of Westchester County, N. Y., presiding at the session, said, "With savings exhausted and unemployment not decreasing, we may be facing next winter an unemployment more severe than during the last six months."

In speaking on "Public Relations," Douglas Griesemer, national director of public information, urged chapter officers to bring into their relief organizations every element in the community life so that all plans for relief work could profit by all shades of public opinion.

How Red Cross chapters can provide clinics and public health nursing to safeguard health endangered by undernourishment and maladjustment was shown by Miss I. Malinde Havey, director of public health nursing.

Dewitt Smith, assistant director of domestic operations, complimented the activity of the 2,000 chapters of the Red Cross. He said:

"The resourcefulness of chapters in meeting relief needs with little or no available funds and in stretching funds to the limit is a testimonial to the ingenuity and ability of chapter officers and workers. There has been added to the history and accomplishment of the Red Cross in America a record of accomplishment of which all may be proud."

Other phases of relief work and needs were detailed by Miss Mabel Boardman and J. Blaine Gwin.

Merchants Request Old Huckster Curb

Hold New Regulation in District Creates Traffic Menace.

The board of governors of the Merchants & Manufacturers Association yesterday voted to petition the District Commissioners to rescind the regulation which now permits vendors to stop their vehicles and sell merchandise on the streets of the city.

The board expressed itself as believing that this practice is unfair to merchants who maintain stores, paying high rentals and taxes, that it constitutes a public nuisance, as the streets are now cluttered with all manner of unsightly vehicles and that it constitutes a traffic hazard in that it adds to the congestion of the streets of the District. The board pointed out the fact that there was a police regulation in effect in the District for many years which permitted the stopping of vehicles only long enough to make a sale, but that the regulation passed by the Commissioners some months ago, permitting such vehicles to stop for periods of 30 minutes, nullified the former regulation as the present regulation is impossible of enforcement.

The association is of the opinion that if the old regulation is again enacted the present condition would be rectified and would work no hardship upon legitimate business.

REDISTRICTING LAW CALLED IMPERVIOUS

Virginia Attorney General Doubts Court Opinion Will Affect It.

Richmond, Va., April 12 (A.P.).—Maj. Edwin H. Gibson, assistant attorney general, said today that Virginia's new redistricting law will stand unshaken despite United States Supreme Court decisions yesterday upsetting reapportionment plans of three States.

Virginia's new law, recently passed by the General Assembly, reduces the State's congressional districts from ten to nine. It became a law without the governor's signature, but the assistant attorney general asserted there was nothing wrong with that procedure.

Under the law in Virginia, a bill passed by both houses of the Legislature and sent to the governor before the Legislature is adjourned may become a law without the chief executive's signature at the expiration of a five-day period. Maj. Gibson pointed out that the new apportionment bill became law in that manner.

The governor said he did not sign the measure because he believed a more equal distribution of population could have been made.

In the Supreme Court decisions yesterday, the Minnesota, New York and Missouri laws were declared invalid. Two of the acts had been vetoed, and the third was not submitted to the governor for signing.

District Funds Measure May Be Reported Today

Representative Clarence Cannon (Democrat), Missouri, chairman of the House District appropriations subcommittee, plans to report the closely pruned $47,000,000 District appropriations bill tomorrow or Friday, he said yesterday.

The local bill is the next on the House calendar after legislative appropriations, around which the pay cut rider fight will center, is disposed of. House Democratic Leader Henry T. Rainey said he hopes to get both legislative and District supplies out of the way this week.

Minute Men to Meet.

From 9:30 to 10:30 in the morning the minute men will hold their first annual meeting, name permanent officers and adopt a program of action for the campaign. This meeting will be executive. After it is over, the doors will be thrown open and those other than minute men invited in.

At 1:30 o'clock there will be a party luncheon, with speeches by Senator Joe T. Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader of the Senate; Representative Henry T. Rainey, leader of the House; Representative Mary T. Norton, of New Jersey; Gov. George White, of Ohio, and former Gov. Nellie Tayloe Ross, of Wyoming. Jouett Shouse, chairman of the national executive committee, will preside.

The luncheon will be concluded with a speech by Claude Bowers on "Thomas Jefferson, the First Democratic President."

Following this, the Democrats will motor to the Washington Cathedral, where Woodrow Wilson is entombed. Here the oration will be made by Newton D. Baker, of Ohio, Wilson's Secretary of War.

Jefferson Dinner Tonight.

The final event, the Jefferson dinner will begin at 7:30. Chairman Raskob will preside, and former Gov. Cox will be the toastmaster.

Among those who will speak, in addition to former Gov. Smith, are Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland, former Gov. Harry Byrd, of Virginia, and Senator James Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois. Speaker John N. Garner is expected to be present, but he is not down for a speech.

Maryland is sending over 150 Ritchie boosters, and Virginia is sending 50 to whoop it up for Byrd.

Gov. Roosevelt said that State business would keep him at Albany, but many regard this as a subterfuge. Various other reasons are given by those who feel this way, and none of the reasons are complimentary to the New Yorker.

Smith Lays 1928 Defeat To Lack of Young Votes

Philadelphia, April 12 (A.P.).—"If the voting age in 1928 had been 18 instead of 21, I would have taken Mr. Hoover to the laundry," said former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, of New York, to a group of Pennsylvania Democrats today while passing through Philadelphia.

The former New York governor was on his way to Washington, and was greeted at North Philadelphia by Smith supporters, who rode with him on a Pennsylvania train to West Philadelphia. The 1928 Democratic candidate said he stood on his original declaration that he was not an active candidate for the Presidency, but added he did not want this statement interpreted as meaning he did not desire the support of his friends.

mands on our gold reserves which would almost certainly be precipitated by the radical nature of the legislation itself."

Meanwhile sponsors of the bonus payment who found themselves divided over the machinery of expansion, agreed to name a committee to seek an agreement on a concrete plan. The committee includes Thomas, Representative Patman, of Texas, and Rankin, of Mississippi, Democrats; Kvale (Farmer-Labor), Minnesota, and the former senator, Robert L. Owen, of Oklahoma.

Patman's bill provides for the issue of new currency directly on the Treasury. Thomas said this would kill the Federal Reserve System and proposed, instead, the use of Federal Reserve Bank notes based on 2 per cent Government consols. The bonus committee will seek a scheme on which all factions may agree.

Mitchell further said in his letter that the proposed credit inflation would "seriously endanger our ability to remain on a gold basis."

"It will throw all financing into confusion," he said, "making more difficult, if not impossible, the renewal of maturities, for it will create uncertainty as to the future value of the dollar."

Besides Thomas, Father Charles E. Coughlin, director of a Detroit radio program, and Edward J. Jefferies, of the same city, were witnesses yesterday at the bonus hearing before the House ways and means committee.

"It seems to me," Father Coughlin said, reading from a prepared statement, "that if through the payment of the so-called bonus, we can increase the value of the farm products, of the laborer's toil, of the 1932 earned dollar, even at the expense of decreasing the hoarded wealth, represented in bonds and hidden gold, a mighty victory will have been won over the massed armies of depression and growing discontent.

"Let us remove the cause legally lest this growing discontent in the minds of our people shall do it illegally. Remember Russia of 1917; remember the French Revolution, and remember also our own Revolution in 1776."

Jefferies said new currency was necessary "to raise prices to a level to prevent the bankruptcy of the public."

STELLWAGEN QUITS UNION TRUST POST

Illness Forces Resignation; Ord Preston Is Elected as Successor.

Of outstanding importance in local banking circles was the news yesterday of the resignation of Edward J. Stellwagen, first and only president of Union Trust Co., since the organization of that institution nearly 32 years ago. The resignation of Mr. Stellwagen, due to ill health, was regretfully accepted by the bank's directorate, which elected Ord Preston, a former president of Washington Gas Light Co., and a director of Union Trust Co., as his successor.

Mr. Stellwagen, long a prominent figure in the banking fraternity, was born in this city in 1855 and completed his education in Columbian, now George Washington University Law School in 1875. He entered the Navy Department as a draftsman, later practiced law and became associated with the real estate office of the Thomas J. Fisher Co. He organized the Union Trust Co. in 1899 and had been its president ever since. He was chairman of the Taft inaugural committee in 1909.

Mr. Preston was born at St. Helena, Calif., in 1874. He received a bachelor of arts degree from Yale University in 1899 and engaged in the banking and brokerage business in New York, being associated with C. E. Wells & Co. He was also connected with the Darkwater Coal Co. of Pottsville, Pa., and came to this city in 1911.

During the World War, he served with the Signal and Air Corps, was promoted to a majority and received a special letter of commendation from the director of the Army Air Service. He was elected president of the Washington Gas Light Co. in 1924, succeeding Howard S. Reeside, and resigned in 1930.

Mr. Stellwagen is a member of the Washington Board of Trade, the Cosmos, Metropolitan, Chevy Chase, Blue Ridge Rod and Gun and University Clubs. Mr. Preston is a director of the Security Storage & Safe Deposit Co., of Norfolk, Va., and Security Storage Co., of Richmond, Va. He is a member of the Metropolitan, Racquet and Chevy Chase Clubs and a governor of the Riding and Hunt Club. He is a former vice president of the Yale Alumni Association, is a member of the University Club of New York and treasurer of the Church Orphanage Association of St. John's Protestant Episcopal Church.

of the Constitution, whether properly or improperly, it assumed a character superior to the Supreme Court, for that court itself owes its authority to the Constitution of the United States which it must regard as superior to itself."

The opposition of the drys to submission of the eighteenth amendment to the people, was described by Mrs. Sabin as "panic." "They assert that the people of the United States overwhelmingly believe in national prohibition. And yet they fight desperately to prevent a perfectly constitutional procedure for ascertaining the present opinion of the people of the United States on this experiment."

Any request to sidetrack the prohibition repeal movement for national budget balancing, was characterized as "sheer impertinence" by Mrs. Sabin, because the eighteenth amendment in 1931 "deprived the Nation of over a billion dollars through revenues lost and expenses paid, while the Nation faces a deficit for 1931 of over a billion dollars."

Those in favor of repeal were asked by Howard Lee McBain, professor of constitutional law at Columbia University, to take a leaf from the "book of the Anti-Saloon League." "Go into every congressional and senatorial campaign. Force the candidates into the open. Work for any candidate who promises to vote for repeal."

Others who exhorted the members to work for repeal legislation were Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, of Chicago, a former member of the Democratic national committee; Representative Florence P. Kahn, of California, and Mrs. Henry Moskowitz, of New York, prominent Democrat. The delegates were welcomed at the opening session by Mrs. William Beverly Mason, of the District of Columbia Division.

'JAFSIE' DELIVERED RANSOM AFTER EXTENDED PARLEYING

ten days ago was published today by the Bronx Home News.

It was through this paper, according to its version of the deal, that Dr. Condon established his first contact with men believed to be agents of the kidnapers of the famous flier's namesake, after offering in an interview to serve as an intermediary.

The story tells how a note begging the kidnapers to "play fair" was inclosed in a box with the $50,000 in bills of small denomination.

It also discloses Lindbergh made frequent visits to Dr. Condon's home during the ransom negotiations, tells of a woman's activity in the case, and describes how Dr. Condon eluded reporters on one occasion by disguising himself in his wife's clothes.

The highlights of the lengthy account are as follows:

On March 12 Dr. Condon held his first meeting with a man assumed to be an agent of the kidnapers. On the edge of Woodlawn Cemetery, in the Bronx (a borough of New York City), they discussed the case, and the stranger agreed to send the doctor some token to prove the child being held actually was the Lindbergh baby.

Two days later, after this token had been received, Col. Lindbergh came by automobile from Hopewell. His emotion was described as "pathetic" as he saw the "proof." He remained at the Condon home until 4 a. m., hoping for some further word from the kidnapers. When he left he took with him the unidentified "token."

Part Woman Played.

The next day, in order to evade reporters in front of his home, Dr. Condon put on his wife's clothing, was escorted to his car by Al Reich, a prizefighter, and changed his clothes a few blocks away before continuing on to deliver a lecture.

On March 19 a woman approached him in a store and whispered:

"Nothing can be done until the excitement is over. There is too much publicity. Meet me at the Tuckahoe, N. J., depot on Wednesday at 5 p. m., and I will have a message for you."

Then she hurried away.

On Monday, March 21, Dr. Condon received a letter postmarked in Manhattan saying the baby was still well and indicating the money had to be paid before anyone could see the child.

Dr. Condon, through his advertisement, continued attempts to induce the kidnapers to show him the baby.

On Wednesday, March 23, Dr. Condon and Reich went to Tuckahoe and at the appointed hour met the mysterious woman at the depot. She said the series of advertisements should be continued and promised the doctor would soon receive another message from the kidnapers. No attempt was made to follow her as she left.

On Tuesday, March 29, Dr. Condon received a communication that if the money weve not paid by April 8 the ransom would be increased to $100,000.

Ransom Is Made Ready.

That day Lindbergh again appeared at the Condon house and it was decided to pay the money without attempting to see the child. The colonel remained at the house until 3:30 a. m. When he left he gave Dr. Condon a note authorizing him to deliver the money.

Meantime, the $50,000 in small bills had been taken from a Bronx bank and put in a safe in a downtown office, so it would be available at any time of the day or night.

On Thursday, March 31, an advertisement was run accepting the kidnapers' terms and stating the money was ready.

The next day the doctor received a letter saying the kidnapers were ready to conclude negotiations, but warning that precautions would be taken to defeat any attempt to trap them. Within two hours Col. Lindbergh and Col. Breckinridge arrived at the Condon home.

The next day, Saturday, April 2, Breckinridge remained at the Condon home all day and Lindbergh arrived late in the afternoon with the $50,000 in a box of the exact specifications ordered by the kidnapers.

At 7:45 p. m. a taxi driver delivered a note to Dr. Condon directing him to station himself in front of a Bronx nursery within 30 minutes. Lindbergh and Dr. Condon grabbed their hats and rushed out of the house. Lindbergh jumped behind the wheel of Reich's car and drove the doctor to the appointed place.

How Cash Was Delivered.

There under a stone, Dr. Condon found a note directing him to a spot a block away on the edge of St. Raymond's Cemetery.

Lindbergh helped Dr. Condon decipher the note, then the doctor left the aviator in the car holding the box of money, while he went off to keep his appointment.

In a dark spot surrounded by shrubbery a figure popped up from behind a bush and said:

"Here I am doctor. Have you the money?"

Dr. Condon said he had, but requested a receipt.

The dark figure darted off across tombstones of the cemetery and reappeared in a moment with an envelope. Dr. Condon returned to the automobile and found Lindbergh nervously and impatiently clutching the box of money.

Inserting in the box a note which urged the kidnapers to carry out their part of the bargain to the letter, Dr. Condon took the package to the man waiting in the shadowy cemetery. As he handed it over he reminded the kidnapers' agent that Lindbergh had played fair and wanted nothing in return but the child.

Directed to Find Boat.

When he turned over the box he received the envelope in return. Back in the car he and Lindbergh opened it. It directed them to wait at least two hours and then go to Martha's Vineyard, Mass.

There, the note said, on a 28-foot boat anchored off Gay Head, the baby would be found in charge of two women, who, the message added, were innocent of any connection with the kidnaping and were not to be harmed.

Lindbergh and Dr. Condon returned and conferred with Col. Breckinridge. At 3 a. m. Sunday Lindbergh, Breckinridge, Dr. Condon, Reich and a fifth man, taken along because he knew the geography of the coast, went to Bridgeport, Conn., waited for the arrival of an amphibian plane from Hartford and then set out for Martha's Vineyard, leaving Reich behind to drive Lindbergh's car back.

They searched for the boat from the air until noon, then returned. The next day another vain hunt was made. For some unexplained reason the kidnapers had not lived up to their part of the bargain.

Representative Frank Murphy (Republican), Ohio, yesterday was reported suffering from a severe attack of influenza at his apartment here.

"JAFSIE'S" ACTIVITY ACCEPTED IN SEARCH

Lindbergh Admits Newspaper Ads Led to Contact With Band.

Hopewell, N. J., April 12 (A.P.).—Dr. John F. Condon's early activities as an intermediary in the Lindbergh kidnaping were recognized officially today as the 70-year-old "Jafsie" cut off his telephone and pursued secretly his efforts to reestablish contact with the abductors.

From police at the Lindbergh home came word that "no further negotiations nor resumed negotiations with the kidnapers have been reported to us, and nothing is known of any anticipated resumption."

Col. Lindbergh himself was authority for the statement that "by means of newspaper advertisements and notes received from the kidnapers, contact was maintained between the family and the kidnapers until final arrangements were made for the payment of the ransom by the intermediary in a Bronx (a borough of New York City) cemetery."

"Identification Positive."

Both Dr. Condon and Col. Henry Breckinridge, Lindbergh attorney, it was understood, conferred with Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf in New York yesterday, and the latter said, in a police bulletin, that "conferences are liable to be conducted at any time and at short notice, but none is anticipated in the immediate future." Col. Schwarzkopf, who has admitted only that he saw Col. Breckinridge, disclosed the conference was held in an apartment of Mrs. Dwight Morrow, mother of Mrs. Lindbergh.

A police bulletin this afternoon reaffirmed the existence of a "positive means of identification" and said it did not involve any part of the baby's clothing.

"Since the payment of the ransom money no reports have come to us," said the police, "of the finding or tracing of any of it that has been put into circulation. Such reports would undoubtedly go either to the Treasury Department or to the local police and no reports have been received from either."

Grand Jury Told of Case.

The woman proprietor of a Greenwich, Conn., bakeshop described in detail a well-dressed woman who fled after she had identified a $20 bill tendered for pastry as one of the ransom notes.

During the day the kidnaping was brought to the attention of the Hunterdon County grand jury in a charge by the presiding judge, which outlined the State law covering such crimes. Appearing before the grand jury later was Attorney General William H. Stevens, who had said he felt bound to present details of the case, but "I believe there is nothing upon which the grand jury can act at this time."

Norfolk, Va., April 12 (A.P.).—The activities and whereabouts of John Hughes Curtis and Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage, retired, two of the three Norfolk men engaged in negotiations for the recovery of the Lindbergh baby, remained as obscure tonight as future plans of the trio in pressing their efforts.

Lindbergh Bills Scrutiny Leads Man to Surrender

Publication of the serial numbers of bills paid over by Col. Lindbergh to the kidnapers of his son has caused every one to scrutinize the change taken in, so he decided to give himself up, John Seamon, 66, of no fixed address, self-styled "counterfeiter," told police last night.

The elderly man appeared at the First Precinct station late yesterday afternoon and announced that he was wanted in "every big city in the country." After questioning the man police decided to hold him for Treasury officers.

Charles V. Imlay, president of the association, will preside. Dr. Elmer S. Newton, principal of the school, will also speak. The school quartet will sing.

Wife of U. S. Consul Seized As Suit Attacks Marriage

Mrs. Carlton Hurst Is Taken While Seeking Custody of Son.

For the first time within the memory of courthouse attaches, Mrs. Anne S. Hurst, wife of Carlton Hurst, American Consul at Nogales, Mexico, was arrested on a ne exeat warrant yesterday by Deputy United States Marshal John J. Clarkson and was kept in technical custody until a late hour yesterday.

At that time, through the issuance by Justice Jesse C. Adkins of a writ of habeas corpus, she was freed on a $1,000 bond. Previous to that, there was a bond of $5,000 demanded before she could be released from the marshal's custody under a writ of ne exeat, which meant, technically, that she could not leave the jurisdiction until she had placed a bond to guarantee her appearance here when wanted.

Mrs. Hurst, daughter of Baroness de Sopron, of Paris, France, first brought her troubles to the local courts last June when she sought a writ of habeas corpus to regain the custody of a 9-year-old son by her first husband, George M. Evans, of 1723 Twenty-first street northwest.

That writ was returnable yesterday, and when she went to court she was handed a suit by the marshal which had just been filed by Evans. She has, since a divorce in Reno in March of last year, married Mr. Hurst.

This suit asked that her marriage to Hurst be voided, that custody of the boy, Hawley Evans, be vested in the husband, and that the woman be kept within the District until the suit was settled. At this junction Justice Gordon decided to hear the original suit for custody of Hawley Evans, and refused to hear the suit just filed by the first husband. The entire day was spent listening to testimony in Mrs. Hurst's suit to get Hawley Evans.

The ne exeat writ was superseded by the habeas corpus of Justice Adkins, which is returnable on April 20 at 11 o'clock in the District Supreme Court. Meantime, Mrs. Hurst, who was visibly surprised at her first husband's effort to annul her second marriage, is at liberty on a $1,000 bond.

Children's Story Hour Raided.

Budapest, Hungary, April 12 (A.P.). Police raided a children's story hour gathering today, rounding up an audience of youngsters from 10 to 12 years old who were listening to fairy tales and looking at pictures which the authorities said emanated from Moscow. Six Communists in charge of the program were arrested on a charge of disseminating treasonable propaganda. The children were sent home to their parents.

SMALL TAKES LEAD AT POLLS IN ILLINOIS

Delegate Candidates Backing Hoover Ahead; Glenn in Front for Senate.

Chicago, April 12 (A.P.).—Len Small, of Kankakee, twice governor and veteran of many Illinois campaigns, strode steadily forward tonight toward the goal of another nomination by the Republican party.

When 2,198 precincts out of 7,229 had reported, the vote stood Small, 129,230; Omer N. Custer, 98,304; Oscar Carlstrom, 76,231.

Small led by 27,000 in the Chicago area and held a 4,000 plurality downstate.

An even greater lead was held in the Democratic contest by Judge Henry Horner, of Chicago, choice of Major Anton J. Cermak and the central State committee.

Horner led by more than 50,000, with 1,533 precincts tallied, but was running third in the downstate counties which had contributed only 210 precincts. There the race was any one's, with Bruce Campbell, of Belleville, a nose ahead, with 6,374 votes to 6,370 for Michael L. Igoe, Democratic national committeeman and State Assembly leader. Horner had 5,327 outside Chicago.

Hoover Delegates Lead.

The first congressional districts to report tonight on the contests for delegates to the National Republican convention showed condidates favoring the renomination of President Hoover in the lead.

United States Senator Otis F. Glenn, who made no campaign whatever, seemed to have pocketed renomination on the basis of early returns tonight, but not without opposition. He had 61,746 votes to 37,414 for Newton Jenkins, liberal Republican, who was his nearest challenger.

William H. Dieterich, now congressman at large, led Scott Lucas for the Democratic nomination for United States senator.

Northup Out In Front.

John E. Northup, the assistant State's attorney who recently prosecuted seven former sanitary district officers in a huge graft conspiracy case involving millions of misspent public money, led in Chicago votes for attorney general.

State's Attorney John A. Swanson, of Cook County, had gathered momentum in the race for renomination and seemed on early returns to have equaled the combined vote of his two opponents, Judge Michael Feinberg and Judge John H. Lyle, who had both waged bitter campaigns.

Early tabulations indicate that, for the first time in history, the Cook County (Chicago) Democratic vote would exceed that of the Republicans.

Election officials estimated the Democratic vote at 450,000, while the Republican ballots were expected to fall short of 375,000.

Precinct Captain Wounded.

The prophecies of hoodlum rule at the Chicago polls came true, but there was no reign of terror as had been predicted by some. A 72-year-old Republican precinct captain was wounded, perhaps fatally, in the crossfire between a band of terrorists and the Democratic boss they had slugged. A Republican committeeman, carrying $2,000 to his campaign staff, was kidnaped by gangsters posing as police.

Two special grand juries, from the sidelines, watched for evidences to support charges that Capone allies were taking the election by force and fraud. Upward of 40,000 police, deputies, election watchers and civic workers stood guard at the polls.

Dinner of Bankers Attended by 250

Plans for June Convention at Hot Springs, Va., Are Outlined.

More than 250 members and guests of the District of Columbia Bankers Association heard plans for its fourteenth annual convention at Hot Springs, Va., June 9 to 12, outlined by President Claude H. Woodward, of the Mount Vernon Savings Bank, general committee chairman, last night at the perconvention dinner at Columbia Country Club. The event was the largest of its kind in the history of the association.

Dr. Robert Thompson, New York author, lecturer and business analyst, predicted an upturn in business within the year. The assembly rose in tribute to the memory of the late Edward J. McQuade, former president of the association, and later in honor of President Henry H. McKee, National Capital Bank, veteran local banking authority and chairman of the Washington, D. C., Clearing House Association.

Many United States Treasury Department officials were guests at the meeting, at which Vice President and Treasurer C. H. Pope, of the Munsey Trust Co., acting president of the association, presided, and Roger J. Whiteford was toastmaster. Thomas W. Brahany, local manager of the E. A. Pierce & Co., had charge of entertainment. In the afternoon the bankers played golf for the Robert V. Fleming trophy.

HOOVER CALLS NEW PARLEY FOR SAVING ACCORD TODAY

Minnesota, and Representative John J. Delaney (Democrat), New York.

It became apparent that leadership in the House battle to defeat the economy committee rider would lie between Representatives LaGuardia, Cochran and Connery.

The pay-cut advocates were not silent during yesterday's floor debate. It was a reduction speech by Representative Harold McGugin (Republican), Kansas, that started it all. Standing with him for cuts were Representative Edward L. Stokes (Republican), Pennsylvania; Representative E. E. Cox (Democrat), Georgia, and Representative William P. Holaday (Republican), Illinois, who would cut salaries over $2,000; Representative Henry E. Barbour (Republican), California, said he would not reduce salaries under $2,500.

One-Man Response.

Some humor was interjected when Representative Boylan asked all members who can exist on $10,000 without living in a furnished room and boarding at "one-arm restaurants" to stand up, and Representative McGugin stood up alone.

And when Representative Delaney declared it "immoral" for four or five girls, working for the Government, to live in one room, sending their money home. This, he said, is the situation here today.

And when Representative McCormick forced Mr. Holaday to admit that miners in his district were out of work because there was little demand for coal, and there was little demand for coal because purchasing power was reduced, and purchasing power was reduced because of unemployment and wage cuts.

In more serious vein, Representative Sirovich predicted there would be "more bankruptcies than ever before" if Congress approves Federal salary reductions. Representative Maas said it would "start a panic."

Fight Due on Rider.

A fight of some proportions was in the offing today, when Chairman McDuffie attempts to obtain house approval of his pay-cut rider rule. The way to kill salary cuts, said Representative LaGuardia, is to defeat the rule permitting the rider on the legislative bill.

"This is no time for Congress to launch upon an unsound pusillanimous program," President William Green said yesterday in a public statement.

"It should not add to the spirit of social unrest through the pursuit of a wage-cutting policy. It should strive to build mass morale, inspire hope, stimulate buying power, restore buying power and increase spiritual values."

Hoover's Invitation.

President Hoover's invitation to the House economy committee, to continue the joint White House conferences, follows:

"In view of the real progress achieved at our conference on Saturday toward a national economy program, it seems to me that the most expeditious and businesslike way to achieve the exclusive results which we all desire would be to continue these conferences until, through discussion, mutual exchange of views and a thorough canvass of detail, such a definite national economy program can be prepared. I believe, furthermore, that the businesslike and effective way of assuring enactment of the legislation would be to embody the program so agreed upon into a single bill which would be presented to the House of Representatives as representing a nonpartisan cooperative effort to reduce the cost of government.

"If the views of your committee coincide with mine, I shall appreciate it very much if the committee will meet with me again tomorrow at some hour suitable to your conveniences.

"Yours faithfully,
(Signed.) "HERBERT HOOVER."

McDuffie's Reply.

Chairman McDuffie replied as follows:

"Acknowledging receipt of your letter of today inviting the committee to again confer with you on the subject of a national economy program, I beg to reassure you that the committee is at all times glad to receive your suggestions and cooperation. We are now confronted with the immediate question of the salary reduction amendment, which we propose to offer and feel must be offered as an amendment to the legislative appropriation bill, which is now under consideration by the House. Before taking final action the committee wishes to have the benefit of such data as the director of the budget can give us upon your suggestion involving salary reduction through your proposal of staggering.

"You will recall that upon the adjournment of our conference in which we made real progress last Saturday, your suggestion that the budget director and such other representatives to be selected by you from the various departments would sit with the committee. In this suggestion the committee was greatly pleased to concur.

"It was also the understanding when we adjourned that Col. Roop would meet with the committee last Monday and explain certain features of the staggering plan. Unfortunately Col. Roop was not prepared and will not be prepared to examine with us the details of the staggering plan until this afternoon or tomorrow. We are sure you appreciate the necessity of hearing him at the earliest possible moment.

"You would greatly expedite our progress in the problem immediately confronting the committee, in view of the parliamentary situation in the House, by letting us have the benefit of Col. Roop's suggestions today, or not later than tomorrow.

"With your suggestion that a complete nonpartisan economy program be included in one bill, we are not now in enfire accord. We are, however, completely in accord in the thought that efforts for retrenchment should be nonpartisan. As soon as we have cleared the question of reduction in Federal salaries, we will be glad to take up with you the further question involved in your suggestion as to embodying in one bill a complete enconomy program.

"Trusting that we may have Col. Roop sit with us this afternoon or not later than tomorrow, and reach an agreement in time to meet with you, I am,

"(Signed) JOHN McDUFFIE,
"Chairman."

DEMOCRATS FAILING, CHARGE OF JAHNCKE

Lauds Hoover as Florida G. O. P. Delegates Are Pledged to Him.

Orlando, Fla., April 12 (A.P.).—Failure in the country's tax crisis was charged to Democratic leadership in Congress by Ernest Lee Jahncke, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, in an address at the Florida Republican convention here today.

In comparison, he said, President Hoover has fulfilled his campaign promises of 1928 and has established a record of accomplishment that in normal times "would properly be regarded as one of vast achievement, one of which any President or any party might well be proud."

Meanwhile, he added, there is a superfluity of leaders among the Democrats, "each leading his lone contingent of followers, but there is no harmony or unity and no unanimous sentiment behind any leader or the policies he represents."

John F. Harris, New York and Palm Beach capitalist, was nominated by the convention as national committeeman, succeeding Glenn B. Skipper, of Miami.

Mrs. Sidney C. Brown, of Tampa, was nominated national committeewoman, succeeding Mrs. Clara C. Grace.

Nine delegates at large to the national convention were elected as follows:

John F. Harris, of Palm Beach; Allen E. Walker, Winter Haven; R. E. L. Pryor, Tampa; Mrs. Edith McGrath, St. Petersburg; Gladstone Beattie, St. Petersburg; J. Leonard Replogle, Palm Beach; B. R. Cisco, Miami; S. H. Bartlett, Miami, and J. S. Haselden, Daytona Beach.

They were instructed for Hoover.

After the main convention closed, meetings were held by representatives of the First and fourth Districts, who elected four additional delegates and instructed them for Hoover.

The Third District previously had named its single delegate and instructed him similarly. Two other delegates remain to be selected in the Second District to complete the Florida delegation of 16.

Skipper was nominated as candidate for representative at large.

W. J. Howey was nominated for the governorship.

J. Leonard Replogle, wealthy Palm Beach resident and steel manufacturer, was nominated to run against United States Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, but declined the nomination on account of his health.

G. O. P. OF MISSOURI ASKS DRY LAW VOTE

Resolutions Urge Congress to Call Convention; Party to Back Move.

St. Louis, April 12 (A.P.).—The Republican State convention of Missouri tonight adopted a resolution urging Congress to call a national convention at the earliest date possible "to deal with the whole subject of prohibition," and instructed the delegation to the Republican national convention to support President Hoover for renomination.

The resolution on prohibition adopted by the convention also was recommended as one of the planks in the national Republican platform.

The resolution follows:

"We believe that a political party should have the courage to define its position on any public questions of importance. We recognize that one of the fundamental principles of constitutional government is the right of the people in a constitutional manner to change or alter that constitution or any laws made in pursuance thereof at any time.

Suggested for Platform.

"The Republican party having always believed in this principle and recognizing that wide differences of opinion exists among our people with reference to the eighteenth amendment and the enabling acts thereunder, we favor a national convention to be called as speedily as possible in accordance with the Federal Constitution to deal with the whole subject, and we recommend that Congress shall specifically, in its call for such a convention, limit the powers of such convention to the subject above named. We recommend this as one of the planks in the National Republican platform."

The resolution was adopted by an overwhelming vote after the convention had voted down an attempt by wet leaders to strike out the recommendation and substitute one calling for modification of the eighteenth amendment.

Denounces Hoover Attacks.

The convention went on record as denouncing the "dogmatic attacks directed against our President" and appealed to the people to give public support to President Hoover and "his associates who have so richly earned their praise."

Missouri will send forty-one delegates to the national Republican convention, nine of them delegates-at-large and thirty-two, with three-fourths of a vote each, representing districts.

Missouri's "Big Nine" to the Republican national convention will include Arthur M. Hyde, Secretary of Agriculture; Gov. Henry S. Caulfield and United States Senator Roscoe C. Patterson.

Mr. Hyde told the convention that no President has ever done as much for the American farmer, "or taken it on the chin more uncomplainingly," than President Hoover. Mr. Hyde was referring to a recent address by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, in which he said the buying power of the farmers must be restored if prosperity is to return.

Senate Group Studies 4 District Bills Today

Chairman Arthur Capper, of the Senate District committee, has called a meeting of the group for 2:30 o'clock this afternoon to consider four local measures passed by the House, but not acted on by the Senate.

After a poll of the Senate committee, Chairman Capper is prepared to report favorably on the House amendment to the bill requiring insurance companies incorporated in the District to keep their principal records here. The amendment makes it apply to companies already incorporated here.

"Little Congress" Vote Beats Soldiers' Bonus

The first "Congressional" action on payment of the soldiers' bonus in full resulted in its complete defeat. The bill was brought up for discussion before the "Little Congress," composed of secretaries of Government officials, meeting last night in the House Office Building and after debate the bonus bill lost in a 17-12 vote.

Members of the Little Congress pointed out that "Big" Congress had followed their lead on every matter of legislation before this session and predicted a defeat for the measure when it comes before the House and Senate.

PARTY IN KENTUCKY BACKS ROOSEVELT

Convention Instructs 26 Delegates to Vote for New Yorker.

Louisville, Ky., April 12 (A.P.).—The Democratic State convention tonight instructed Kentucky's 26 delegates to the national convention to vote for Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt for the presidential nomination as long as his name is before the national convention at Chicago.

The action was taken by unanimous vote of the convention, whose members rose and cheered as the name of the New York Governor was mentioned. The convention instructed the delegates to vote as a unit on the Roosevelt nomination and on all other matters that might come up before the national convention.

Prior to officially naming Roosevelt as Kentucky's choice for the Presidency, the delegates heard United States Senator Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky, refer to the New Yorker as "a worthy successor to Woodrow Wilson" and describe his accomplishments as Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Governor of New York.

Barkley, first saying that nothing he said tonight should be taken as a forecast of what he might say as temporary chairman of the national convention, dwelt on the economic situation in the country and declared President Hoover had proved himself to be "inept and incompetent" and that the country's salvation demanded election of the "great Democrat whose name would be put forward tonight."

Barkley, permanent chairman of the State convention and named by several speakers this afternoon as a possible Vice Presidential nominee, made no reference to that in his address. However, he formally announced his candidacy for reelection to the Senate.

The resolutions, presented by Urey Woodson, of Owensboro, chairman of the resolutions committee, also indorsed the administration of Gov. Ruby Laffoon, commended his carrying out of campaign promises with the aid of the General Assembly, and expressed approval of the savings in the cost of government shown in the first three months of his administration. Indorsement of Senators Barkley and M. M. Logan, and of the nine Kentucky Democrats in the House of Representatives was contained in another resolution adopted.

A resolution of respect to the late A. Scott Bullitt, native Kentuckian and former Governor of Washington, also was adopted.

Pound Baby Eats 12 Times Daily.

Kansas City, April 12 (A.P.).—Charles Bernard St. John, who weighed only a pound when he was born eight days ago, has developed such an appetite he requires twelve meals a day. Each of the twelve meals is one tablespoon of milk.

ROOSEVELT LEADS IN NEBRASKA VOTE

Far Ahead of Garner and Murray After Early Ballot Count.

Lincoln, Nebr., April 12 (A.P.).—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt took an early lead tonight in the Nebraska primary election for Democratic presidential preference.

Returns from 80 of 2,049 precincts gave Mr. Roosevelt 3,234; Speaker John N. Garner, 999; Gov. W. H. Murray, 759.

Returns from 51 of 2,049 precincts for Republican presidential preference gave Joseph I. France, 1,183; President Hoover (written in), 270.

Returns from 40 of 2,049 precincts gave Gov. Charles W. Bryan, 1,472; William Ritchie, 1,382.

Returns from 21 of 2,049 precincts for Republican gubernatorial nomination gave George A. Williams, 215; Dwight Griswold, 618; Kenneth Wherry, 568; Frank Myers, 71; Robert Ross, 42, and M. E. Richard, 57.

Democrats multiplied so rapidly in the State that there was a shortage of the party's ballots in several precincts. The warm sunshine, the three-way Democratic presidential preference race and the spirited gubernatorial contests contributed interest and brought out a heavy vote.

The three-way race for the Democratic presidential preference primary gave the first test of relative popularity for three aspirants—Gov. Roosevelt, Speaker Garner and Gov. Murray. Roosevelt supporters were confident he would win Nebraska's favor, but the Oklahoman rode through the State last week on a speaking tour.

Supporters of Garner, who for the first time was pitted against the other candidates, also were optimistic.

There was no contest on the Republican presidential preference ballot, although many voters wrote in the name of President Hoover. On the ballot only the name of Joseph I. France, a former senator from Maryland, was printed.

The voter's expression of presidential preference binds national convention delegates from Nebraska morally, but some delegations have ignored this obligation.

Nebraska will send sixteen delegates to the Democratic national show and seventeen to the Republican convention in Chicago. Six Democrats and seven Republicans will be elected at large. Both parties elect two delegates from each of the five congressional districts.

The Republican State executive committee has indorsed President Hoover and there was only one contest in the delegate race, in the Fifth District, where three men sought the two seats. A majority of the eleven candidates for Democratic delegate at large were Roosevelt supporters.

Although the polls did not close until 8 o'clock, before noon a rush order was received by a North Platte printer for 1,000 more Democratic ballots for Lincoln County. Before 2 p. m., these were gone and 600 more were ordered. Election officials predicted the vote would be the heaviest ever cast by Democrats in that county.

WORKING THROUGH.

Developments on Capitol Hill are more encouraging than at any time since the Democratic-insurgent coalition in the House kicked over the traces and defeated the sales tax. Congress was deeply impressed by the adverse reaction to that performance. Evidence of cooperation in the interests of the economic welfare of the country may now be seen in various quarters.

The most hopeful sign on the entire horizon is the reaction against payment of the soldiers' bonus at this time. Democratic and Republican leaders in both chambers have lined up solidly behind President Hoover in opposition to this proposed Treasury raid. Nothing short of a disastrous stampede could push the bonus through Congress. Even if that should happen, it seems improbable at this time that the bonusites could pass the measure over the veto by President Hoover. If the public, which is beginning to feel the pinch of higher taxes, makes articulate its opposition to this measure its defeat is certain.

Not less encouraging is the economy program being worked out by President Hoover and a special House committee. A week ago the President's plea for reduced expenditures was a subject of inflamed controversy. Now the Chief Executive and the House committee seem to be working together in close harmony. Differences between them were concerned largely with the methods by which economies should be effected. Apparently those differences have been submerged beneath the mutual desire to balance the budget with the least possible burden upon taxpayers.

Efforts are being made to safeguard the welfare of Government employes, even though it may be necessary to reduce their remuneration during this emergency. It is not reasonable to suppose that Government employes can entirely escape the drive for economy.

A "national economy" bill will be presented to Congress as the nonpartisan program of the President and the economy committee. Some opposition may be expected. But the bill will carry with it the force of public opinion, regardless of what specific items it may contain. United action for lower Government expenditures will make a powerful appeal. Such determination to set the Government's house in order tends to stiffen the courage and steady the pulse of the whole country.

At the same time powerful factors are at work pushing forward the revenue bill to hasty enactment. The Senate finance committee has speeded up its hearings. Senators are impatient to get the measure on the Senate floor. Witnesses have been limited to 15 minutes each, and every effort is being made to have only one spokesman appear for each group that wishes to present its point of view.

Tariff duties that were written into the measure by the House are a hard nut to crack, but the leaders of both parties are trying to head off a major tariff controversy. There is a pronounced disposition to rush the measure through to completion with a minimum of debate.

Fear that the budget would not be balanced has virtually disappeared. Fear that the bonus might inflict an insupportable burden upon the country is on the wane. Uncertainty with regard to the whole financial situation is less acute because of the disposition of congressional leaders to postpone politics while the welfare of the country is at stake. Confidence that the Government will soon be on solid ground seems to be justified. If Congress can continue this good work and finish all urgent legislation in time for adjournment in the early part of June it will encourage the country to go forward in business and industry.

AGGRESSIVE WEAPONS.

Ambassador Gibson's proposal that "aggressive weapons of war" be abolished was received with little enthusiasm at the disarmament conference. Great Britain supports it, and Italy and Germany are lukewarm toward it. But France is openly hostile. The question involves numerous difficulties over which the conference might argue for months, in spite of its apparent simplicity.

Mobile artillery, tanks and poison gases are the "aggressive weapons" against which Ambassador Gibson's proposal is aimed. Apparently the American delegation made special mention of these items with a view to directing the attention of the conference to a specific problem. Ambassador Gibson does not pretend that these are the only aggressive weapons used in war. Bombing planes and battleships are certainly not less aggressive than tanks and gas. When the proposal comes actively before the conference other nations doubtless will ask that weapons which they particularly fear be put on the forbidden list.

One of the foremost defects in this plan of disarmament is the impossibility of drawing any line between weapons of aggression and defense. The distinction is largely academic. What one nation may consider a defensive weapon serves as an instrument of aggression for another country. Great Britain, for example, would like to have bombing planes and submarines abolished because they constitute a threat to her safety. The lesser sea powers would like to see the battleship abolished. If the special aversion of all countries were placed on the prohibitive list there would be few weapons of war available. Hence, it is not easier to agree upon this type of disarmament than upon general reduction in the relative strength of the powers.

Ambassador Gibson's arguments were couched so as to make an appeal to France. Premier Tardieu's government, like all other French administrations, insists upon security before making any move toward disarmament. By abolishing the weapons of aggressive warfare, says Mr. Gibson, a larger degree of security may be obtained. But the fact remains that a nation with a grievance can make war whether or not it has tanks, poison gas and movable artillery. As a substitute for the French plea for political guarantees the Gibson plan is extremely weak. The fact that it was put forward as a security measure gives assurance of bitter opposition by the French and foreshadows its failure. Indeed, Premier Tardieu has already rejected it.

The nations are making themselves ridiculous by prolonging the fiasco at Geneva. There will be no agreement upon reduction of armaments, and all the delegates know it. They are deliberately maintaining a mockery conference for the purpose of misleading the peoples. If the delegates had the courage to join in a statement of the blunt truth they would say: "None of the nations wishes to disarm. Each makes proposals which it knows the others will reject. Each is trying to make it appear that the other fellow is responsible for refusal to disarm. All are equally guilty. We refuse to participate in the fraud any longer, and this conference is hereby adjourned."

TO REGISTER EVERYBODY.

Representative Brunner, of New York, has introduced in Congress a bill proposing to require under a Federal statute that every man, woman and child in the United States shall be registered, photographed and fingerprinted. Mr. Brunner's theory is that such a universal system of identification would greatly facilitate the discovery and arrest of criminals, and police officials throughout the country appear to be agreed that he is right.

By many other citizens the suggestion will be approved because of the undoubted fact that it is of advantage to an individual to be in position to prove his identity at a moment's notice. Many persons carry with them old passports for that purpose. They know from experience that these papers are a convenience in the innumerable emergencies of everyday life. Any man who has vainly canvassed the average small town on a Sunday afternoon in search of a Samaritan willing to cash a check will appreciate the point. "Who are you, and how can you prove that you really are the person you claim to be?" is a question so frequently asked that the wonder is that such a device was not invented long ago. An identification folder of the kind Mr. Brunner has in mind would justify itself in a thousand ways. Doubtless Col. Lindbergh wishes he had such a record of his lost child.

The real opposition to Mr. Brunner's bill will come from professional criminals and their friends, and their disapproval will be an honor and a credit to the measure.

MOCKING JEFFERSON.

Democrats throughout the country will pay their respects to Jefferson today. The birthday of the great first Democrat has become the occasion for numerous political festivals. Jefferson Day is always a delightful occasion. It gives Democrats a chance to expatiate upon beautiful theories, which they utterly ignore in practice.

As a matter of fact, Jeffersonism is obsolete. Jefferson's philosophy of government was prescribed for an agricultural country. He had no faith in the so-called common man as an industrial laborer. Only while the rank and file of citizens remained free and independent farmers would he trust the destiny of the country in their hands. His theory may be summed up in a brief quotation from his own words:

> I think our governments will remain virtuous * * * as long as they are chiefly agricultural; and this will be as long as there shall be vacant lands in any part of America. When they get piled upon one another in large cities, as in Europe, they will become corrupt, as in Europe.

Every one who stops to think about it knows that the country is further away from Jefferson's ideal than ever before. His ideal of pure democracy is perpetuated for political reasons. The country has outgrown this concept. But Democratic oratory never takes cognizance of that fact. The dreams of Jefferson make a wonderful appeal from the stump. Lip service to the first Commoner resounds from banquet halls with as much gusto as if America had built its civilization on the pattern furnished by him.

Only one cardinal principle in Jefferson's political creed is applicable to present-day conditions. Jefferson contended that government should be decentralized and that its functions should be strictly limited. His idea of preserving the power of the States and of local government is still sound, but it is shamefully neglected by the Democratic party. It is only his impractical theories for which the stalwart Jefferson is apotheosized.

Democrats who deliver eulogies to their idol tonight will not mention the efforts of the party in the House to appropriate money out of the Federal Treasury to be spent by the States in carrying out State functions. Nor will they emphasize the attempt of the Senate Democrats to provide $750,000,000 to relieve States and local communities of the responsibility of providing for their own people. For this one day these insults to Jefferson will be put aside, and good Democrats everywhere will join in incantations to Jefferson. The extreme few who really believe in Jeffersonism must endure this mockery "for the good of the party."

BALKAN FAIRY TALES.

Out of the ever romantic and mysterious Balkans comes another fantastic tale, which gains circulation because it emanates from a region about which the outside world knows little, and that little wrong. The latest story is that several Jugoslav subjects are on their way to London to offer the crown of Jugoslavia to Prince Arthur of Connaught in place of King Alexander.

Just why King Alexander gained the displeasure of the self-appointed kingmakers, and just why they picked upon Prince Arthur as monarch of a country that has never heard of him, is not made clear. But what is clear in regard to the Balkans? The more absurd the inventions concerning those countries, the easier it is to mislead Western peoples in regard to them.

Jugoslavia is a country in which 85 per cent of the population are peasants. There is no aristocracy and hardly any middle class. King Alexander is the "leading peasant" of his country, and in no other land is the bond so close between crown and people. The idea that these people should go abroad for a ruler who is ignorant of their national history, spirit and language is preposterous. They already have a king who is a pure Jugoslav and whose forefathers won the independence of the country.

It is quite possible that some of the British financial pirates who have been trying to discredit the American dollar are at the bottom of the wild tale regarding Jugoslavia, with the object of hammering down the price of Jugoslav securities and then buying them in.

PHILIPPINE SCOUTS

By VICENTE VILLAMIN.

The United States Army in the Philippines consists of 11,000 men, of whom 6,500 are Filipinos, known as Philippine Scouts. This Filipino organization is under the jurisdiction of the War Department and not under the Philippine government.

The Philippine Scouts are officered by both Americans and Filipinos, many of the latter being graduates of West Point. There is a Filipino, holding the rank of major, who graduated from the Army War College here in Washington.

The loyalty and efficiency of the Filipino Scouts are spoken of by American officers in the highest terms. The Filipino soldier is brave, resourceful and dependable. He is a military asset to America today. The Filipino people are justly proud of him.

A part of the United States Army, including the Philippine Scouts, is in the Philippines as one of the symbols of American sovereignty in those islands. It is only logical that America should bear the expenses for its support. To shift the financial responsibility to the Philippine government is to make that government pay for the upholding of American sovereignty. This would be a patent incongruity. It would smack of one of the grievances of the Thirteen Colonies against England.

While the Philippines are under the American flag the Filipinos rightly feel that their government has no need for the scouts. There is already a force of 6,500 men, known as the Philippine constabulary, which is keeping law and order throughout the country. This body is highly commended by American officials.

It stands to reason that if the cost of maintaining the scouts is made to devolve upon the Philippine government that organization is as good as dissolved. Both financial and political considerations will support the action. The net result will be the abandonment by the United States Government of its own responsibility. It would not be in the interests of economy to replace the scouts with American regulars.

This matter is different from the case of the Philippines having a standing army, once it is an independent nation. At that time the Philippine nation will be solely responsible for its existence. Then it will have to have an army larger than the present constabulary force. The sovereign position of America in the islands at present creates a condition of peace.

The cost of maintaining the scouts to the United States is about $5,000,000 a year. This sum is equivalent to one-seventh of the entire revenue of the Philippine government.

It is plain that if America desires to prepare the Philippines for a stable and durable independence the step to take is not to weaken them financially or harass them commercially, but to aid them in setting up a new self-sustaining economic structure, developing their natural resources and generally strengthening the Filipino commonwealth.

POST HASTE.

If Senator Sheppard's bill should become law, making the purchaser of liquor a five-and-ten subject, in terms of jail and cash, drinking is going to be much more of a sporting event. But how can it become law when, according to the wets the country is overwhelmingly wet?

Senate Democrats are adamant against any tariffs in the revenue bill—except maybe oil, coal and copper.

As if Chile's political, financial and economic eruptions were not enough, without having three red-hot volcanoes blow their heads off!

We trust no one fainted with surprise at the arms conference when France objected to specific suggestions for reduction from America.

Washigton wins a ten-inning game to start the season and not a single frozen finger broken off.

Just how do you suppose a House committee ever fixed on 11 per cent for a Federal salary cut?

Cole Blease wants to join Smedley Butler in a senatorial threesome with Huey Long, but why does Tom Heflin refuse to make it a quartet?

This country expects a change and won't tie up its money. Even the yearling bonds were too old, but see how the Treasury's three-month infants are adopted five times over.

The wonder is not that various Progressives decline to be delegates to the Republican convention this year, but that for these many moons they have been permitted to attend.

The President went to the ball game, but he only had to receive twelve different delegations first and do a day's work afterward. Sure, cut his salary.

The Senate will have to suspend this piffle about budget, beer, bonus, bears and boards—Senator Borah hears that three Cuban students have been arrested in Havana!

Senator Johnson asks a revolving fund for the Virgin Islands. Must all our dependencies have the financial dizzies along with us?

Gloria Swanson's naming of her daughter "Mike" Bridget was evident surrender to an inevitable career.

Congress eventually will balance the budget. Some members still insist they will nullify this action with the bonus. PAUL HUDSON.

JUST FOLKS

PAST EXPERIENCE.

Those who believe in pomp and power
And gold and luxury held on
In Rome until the fatal hour
When all they'd treasured most was gone.

Not once, but time and time again
Have beautiful nations grown too great,
Found all their selfish conquests vain
Against the rising tides of fate.

The lessons of the past are not
So difficult to read and learn
That they so soon should be forgot
As round and round the cycles turn.

'Tis not in culture; not in pride,
Or armies vast long safety lies,
The race turned too self-satisfied
Revels in luxury and dies.

The man to fortune wholly bent
Crumbles beneath his ponderous tasks
And, finding his nervous system spent,
A quick release from life he asks.

The things of permanence are wrought
In simpler views of right and wrong,
In gentle ways and kindly thought
And all that makes the spirit strong.

There Is No Charity in Giving Bread to One Who Only Desires Love.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

A CERTAIN man who possessed numerous properties, a family and a sense of duty was impoverished by the decline in market values.

His only remaining assets were a few Government bonds that paid $1,800 a year and a life insurance policy that pledged his wife a life income of $400 a month—or, in the event of her death, pledged his children a similar income for a period of 20 years.

As a matter of fact there were other available assets, such as health, courage, hope and earning capacity, but he didn't count these. He thought only in terms of negotiable securities and immediate cash values.

And since his chief concern was the welfare of his family, he said to himself: "If I live, they must surrender all luxury and somehow exist on $150 a month; if I die, they will have an additional $400 a month and can live in comfort. My duty is clear."

He shot himself through the head.

The preacher who conducted the funeral services quoted the words of Jesus: "Greater love hath no man than this, that he lay down his life for a friend."

Doubtless the man thought of that saying when he planned his martyrdom. The strange mad ecstasy of self-surrender, so often mistaken for courage, upheld him in a trance to the end, as it upholds all martyrs.

Poor, blundering, well-meaning dupe. He intended to give his life for his loved ones, but he did nothing of the kind. He gave them his death and destroyed the life they so sorely needed.

Of what value is money to broken hearts?

If a man's purpose is to benefit his family, what right has he to decide which benefit shall be taken from them? If they must choose between poverty with him and riches without him, what right has he to make the choice for them?

A man who leaves his family while yet alive is universally condemned. Does the sacrifice of his life make the leaving more commendable?

Good intentions give a service no value. A service is worth no more than the happiness it gives to those who receive it.

PRO AND CON

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

Blundering Navy League.

Kansas City Times.

The Navy League is in a fair way to make itself a thoroughly discredited organization in its renewed attack upon the President at a critical time in balancing the budget and effecting imperatively needed national economy. The county will not be impressed with the league's charge that the President has been neglecting the Navy or attributing to armaments an undue part in the maintenance of burdensome public costs.

Armaments are a burden the world over, and their cost has been an obstacle to economic recovery. Sensible and intelligent people know it. They know, too, that the Navy and the other military establishments can and must share in an enforced reduction of costs.

If the Navy League pretends to be a patriotic organization, it can display its patriotism now by a sharp reversal of its policy and by an expressed willingness to stand by the country in a time of need. It is not displaying patriotism in a selfish demand that is contrary to the Nation's welfare.

If the league is not behind this latest attack signed by its president, William Howard Gardiner, it needs a new leadership. If the league is behind it, it needs a new membership.

Good Politics.

Philadelphia Public Ledger.

It is frequently said that the new tax bill is bound to be a product of politics and not enlightened statesmanship. But what better politics can Congress play than to enact a sane tax bill that will not handicap the revival of business? The House has done its worst. Now let the Senate do its best by protecting the interests of all the people, the "big fellows," and the "little fellows" alike, whose interests are interdependent. For a day of reckoning will surely come should this Congress now fail in its plain duty to the country.

A Program by Installments.

Brooklyn Eagle.

Gov. Roosevelt's candidacy for the Democratic nomination to oppose President Hoover has been known to the country for a long time. Yet his views on national and international questions are still largely unrevealed.

Until his public announcement after the first of the year he carefully avoided any discussion that might reveal his attitude on controversial national issues. In February he made his first speech as a candidate before the New York State Grange. In a brief radio address, he added three more objectives as part of ten or a dozen vital factors in a comprehensive plan to provide permanent relief in an emergency which he describes as at least equal in gravity to that of World War days.

The three new items listed by the governor are the restoration of the buying power of farmers, relief of small banks and homeowners and a reconstructive tariff policy.

Some months ago President Hoover outlined a program of some "ten or a dozen" proposals to meet the emergency. He is therefore some distance ahead of the governor in this matter of a program—and the governor has only touched upon three of his proposals. Of these three, only that relating to a tariff policy is new.

Moses Was Right.

Belle Plaine (Minn.) Herald.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Deadly Yellow Traffic Light Should Be Eliminated—A Cause of Confusion and Disaster.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: When, some years ago, the traffic lights began to bloom out at more and more street crossings, it seemed to me that here was a very effective means of materially reducing accidents at intersections, and they would have worked admirably but for the addition, for some inscrutable reason, of a third, a yellow, light, not seen at police-controlled crossings, and which was then, is now and will always be, until it is eliminated, a source of uncertainty, confusion and potential disaster.

The deplorable bus collision last week at Seventeenth street and Rhode Island avenue, I am convinced, would never have occurred if the simple rule "green, go—red, stop" had not been complicated by the worse than futile and actually dangerous yellow signal.

Soon after the lights were installed I asked four (4) traffic policemen just what they meant, and I received four answers, all differing widely and in essential particulars.

The first man said: "When you see a green light ahead of you, and a yellow joins it, it means that you have five seconds to keep going."

Another said: "If you are within twenty feet of the green and yellow you keep on going."

Still another said: "It simply means drive carefully." As if every sane and sober man didn't instinctively drive cautiously at intersections, and the other kind pays no attention to any signals in the absence of a policeman.

The fourth authority told me that as long as a yellow light was visible, whether with green or red, it meant that all wheeled traffic must stop; that the crossings thus were reserved for pedestrians. This seemed the most sensible of all the explanations, except that the time the yellow light is seen is much too short to help pedestrians, and very few drivers seem to understand that rule.

Many times a day I see drivers start on the red and yellow and speed up on the green and yellow—all trying to beat each other to the intersection. There is no excuse for that with the simple stop and go signals at police controlled crossings and I believe that the elimination of the yellow light would reduce materially the number of collisions at street intersections.

I have been driving for over twenty years in Washington traffic and believe I know something about it.

WILLIAM H. ARTHUR.

Mr. Lloyd Explains Secretary Stimson's Greeting to Disarmament Meeting.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In the news account in The Post on April 11 of the youth disarmament mass meeting at the Belasco Theater there is a slight error of phraseology which, while of course unintentional, might be misleading. I beg, therefore, the courtesy of space in your columns to make a correction.

In the final paragraph it is stated, among other things, that there were read from the platform messages of indorsement from Miss Mary Emma Woolley and Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson. The Secretary of State is not authorized to indorse the aims and purposes of the various radical and pacifist speakers who addressed the meeting, and of those organizations such as the National Council for the Prevention of War, which helped organize it, and he did not do so.

The letter from Mr. Stimson, as read, contained the following statement: "On the eve of my departure for Geneva to attend the disarmament conference, I am happy to acknowledge your pledge of support, and I am impressed by the zeal and spirit manifested by the young people of America." The letter then goes on to an even more general statement of world conditions and aspirations for future peace.

The Secretary evidently was merely acknowledging a communication he had previously received regarding the Geneva conference, which has little relation to the comprehensive plans for making this Nation defenseless, fostered by those who sponsored this meeting. DEMAREST LLOYD.

Mr. Wilson Says Congress Might Profit by Study of Gas Company Magic.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In their efforts to balance the budget the leaders in Congress have evidently overlooked the magicians of the local gas companies. In 1930 when gas consumption cost per 1,000 feet was reduced the consumers' bills were increased, in my own case about 30 per cent, compared with bills for the same months in 1929. This was laid, if I remember correctly, at the time to increased pressure, though no rebates were forthcoming.

I have just received my bill for gas under the new reduced rates recently effective and find a 20 per cent increase over the previous two months. Has the pressure been increased again?

At any rate these people seem to have the secret which Congress might apply in seeking increased revenues from reduced taxes.

E. R. WILSON.

Mr. Lyle Joins in Teasing Senator Pat Harrison.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In order to win the esteem of Senator Pat Harrison, who says that he does not believe anything published in The Washington Post, it seems that The Post will have to change its time-honored policy of taking a fearless independent stand on political and economic issues, and indorse the Democratic policies on the tariff, taxation, &c. No doubt the senator would be delighted if The Post would represent him as a great statesman in its editorials and indorse his ridiculous charges against the Hoover administration. EDWARD D. LYLE.

POST'S VOICE TEST NOVEL AND THRILLING

Audition Stations Attract Many to Make Records on R. C. A. Discs.

To hear your own voice speaking to you is to experience a thrill impossible to describe. Not only does it give an uncanny impression, but few people really hear their own voices while speaking or singing and therefore find it difficult to recognize.

When sound waves are directed at a tiny microphone, however, and indelibly and faithfully recorded on the new RCA-Victor "home recording" discs, the speaker may later hear his own voice exactly as it sounds to other listeners.

To enable every one to enjoy this unique experience, The Washington Post, cooperating with the RCA-Victor Co., has established recording stations throughout the city where 5,000 genuine RCA disc records will be recorded without cost or obligation. In addition, $700 in merchandise prizes will be awarded for the best registrations, whether of vocal or instrumental nature, and two contestants will enjoy a trip to the Victor Laboratories in Camden, N. J., with all expenses paid.

Men and women, boys and girls of all ages, are equally eligible to compete in this entertaining contest. Just select the station most convenient for you and make your recording on or before Saturday, April 23, when the contest ends.

Free auditions are given daily, during regular store hours, at the following "home recording" stations:

In Washington.

Homer L. Kitt Co., 1330 G street northwest.

House & Herrmann, Seventh and I streets northwest.

Hub Furniture Co., Seventh and D streets northwest.

Mary Astor to Become Mother.

Hollywood, April 12 (A.P.).—A new member of the family of Dr. and Mrs. Franklin Thorpe is expected in August. Mrs. Thorpe, known in the films as Mary Astor, said today she expected the birth of the child to take place in Honolulu, where she will go following a cruise of the South Seas.

A FUTURE RECORDING STAR

Little Helen Mahoney, 7, of 1500 Spring place northwest, took great delight in singing "I Love to Travel on the Stagecoach," in The Post recording studio of the Homer L. Kitt Co. Later, she wanted to take the RCA-Victor radio combination apart, to find where her own little voice was coming from. No! Helen could not be induced to sing a love-song to some one by the name of "Billy."

$700 in Prizes in The Washington Post RCA-Victor Recording Contest

For the best auditions on the "home recording" records furnished by The Washington Post the following prizes will be awarded:

FOR AMATEURS

First Prize—RCA-Victor Radio combination (No. RAE-26), equipped for home recording. Value, $287.50. Also a special audition at the laboratories of the RCA-Victor Company at Camden, N. J., with all traveling expenses paid.

Second Prize—R-4 Latest model 7-tube Victor Superheterodyne Radio. Value, $46.75.

Third Prize—One hundred Assorted Victor Records.

Fourth Prize—Fifty Assorted Victor Records.

Fifth to Seventh Prizes—Twenty-five Assorted Victor Records, each.

Eighth to Thirtieth Prizes—Ten Assorted Victor Records, each.

Thirty-first to Fiftieth Prizes—Five Assorted Victor Records, each.

FOR PROFESSIONALS

In this class the two professionals whose auditions on the home recording records are considered best, a special audition at the RCA-Victor laboratories in Camden, N. J., with all expenses paid, will be awarded.

FLEXNER IS ELECTED HOWARD BOARD HEAD

Three Other Members Also Chosen; Inquiry Group Makes Progress.

Dr. Abram Flexner, of New York, director of the Institute for Advanced Study, was elected president of the Howard University board of trustees yesterday to succeed Gen. John A. Sherburne, of Boston, who declined renomination. Gen. Sherburne will remain an active member of the board.

Dr. Channing H. Tobias, of New York, senior secretary of the colored work department of the National Council of Y. M. C. A., was named to fill the unexpired term of the late Dr. M. O. Dumas.

Dr. Charles H. Garvin and Dr. Sara W. Brown were elected as alumni trustees.

A graduate of Johns Hopkins University, Harvard University and the University of Berlin, Dr. Flexner was in 1928 the Rhodes Memorial lecturer at Oxford. He is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and formerly was an expert with the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Science.

Dr. Tobias is a graduate of the Paine College and the University of Pennsylvania. He was a member of the American delegation attending the world conference of the Y. M. C. A. at Helsingfors, Finland, in 1926.

Serving as captain in the Medical Corps, U. S. A., during the World War, Dr. Garvin was commander of the 368th Ambulance Company for twelve months overseas. He graduated from Howard University in 1911, from the College of Medicine in 1915, and served as an interne at Freedemen's Hospital. Since 1920 he has been a member of the genito-urinary department of Western Reserve University.

Dr. Sara W. Brown was the first female member of the board and is now entering her third term.

The special investigating committee of the board, appointed at the New York meeting, reported progress.

The portrait of Dean George William Cook was formally presented to the board by an alumni committee. Resolutions of appreciation were entered on the records for the services of the late Dr. M. O. Dumas, Dr. John W. Mitchell and Dean Frank R. Cook. Dr. Russell A. Dixon was continued as acting dean of the college of dentistry.

Value of Music Erskine's Topic

Cites Importance of Building Orchestras and Gives Brief Recital.

Music, lots of music and the love of it in the lives of all Americans, will be the greatest spiritual source in the development of our future, according to John Erskine.

The Columbia professor, who is novelist, essayist, poet, critic and pianist, addressed a large audience last night at Central High School under auspices of the Community Institute.

A believer in the value of all arts in the lives of all, he said that the most important are the "living arts that are created at the present in America by Americans." Introduced by Hans Kindler, conductor of the National Symphony Orchestra, Mr. Erskine cited the importance of the building of orchestras in all cities and schools. He stressed the necessity of music training in the home.

After his lecture was complete and the applause had died down, he returned to the stage and gave a ten-minute recital on the piano.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY PRESBYTERIANS

Spring Meeting Is Closed by District Church Organization.

The final session of the sixty-second stated spring meeting of the Presbytery of Washington, held in the Sixth Presbyterian Church, Sixteenth and Kennedy streets northwest, closed yesterday with the election of commissioners to the General Assembly and officers to the national missions committee.

Commissioners elected to attend the General Assembly, to be held next month in Denver, Colo., were the Rev. A. E. Barrows, the Rev. George M. Cummings, the Rev. W. Keith Custis, J. D. Secrist, Harry Davis and Chester R. Smith. Officers to serve a three-year term on the national missions committee were elected as follows:

Charles T. Clayton, W. K. Hendy, L. S. Depue, the Rev. D. Hobart Evans and the Rev. I. W. Ketchum. The Rev. Henry B. Wooding, of the Eckington Presbyterian Church, who was elected moderator at an earlier session, presided yesterday.

The session opened with devotional services, conducted by the Rev. J. W. Babbitt. Following greeting by the Rev. Albert Evans, various committee reports were heard.

The fall meeting, it was announced, will be held in Riverdale, Md.

Vote on Blue Law Set in Baltimore

Sunday Movie Issue Will Be Decided at Primary on May 2.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., April 12.—The voters of Baltimore will have the privilege of determining whether there shall be a relaxation of the ancient blue laws, so as to permit Sunday moving pictures and sales of certain merchandise on the Sabbath, as the court of appeals today upheld the act passed at the last session of the Legislature which conferred upon the mayor and city council power to adopt ordinances regulating such matters.

The council, several months ago, adopted an ordinance providing for a referendum under the law, and it will be placed on the ballot at the presidential primary election May 2. The decision of the appellate court was given in a per curiam order prepared by Chief Judge Carroll T. Bond, which simply upheld the validity of the law. The issues will be discussed in detail in an opinion to be rendered later. The case was argued only a few days ago, and the promptness of the decision was due to the nearness of the election.

The constitutionality of the act was attacked by the Lord's Day Alliance and others largely on the ground that it "was special legislation," and contravened the Federal Constitution, and it has been hinted that the question may be appealed to the United States Supreme Court for final adjudication.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Hoover Is Entertained at Breakfast By Congressional Club; Later Visits Meeting of Red Cross Units.

MRS. HOOVER WAS entertained at breakfast yesterday by the Congressional Club in the ballroom at the Shoreham Hotel at noon. This is an annual function of this strictly official club which gives annual evening receptions to the President and First Lady, the Vice President and Second Lady and the Speaker of the House and his wife. The honor table had a sprightly decoration of mounds of spring blossoms. A section of the Marine Band, Capt. Taylor Branson leading, played in one end of the ballroom until the function was ended and the speaking began.

The members of the club and their guests, other than the officers of the club and the honor guests, were seated at small tables holding ten. Two tables were occupied by the associate members, who are the daughters of active members, who have recently been made associate members for life. The tables were all numbered, but No. 13 was the conspicuous one, as it was unoccupied throughout the party. The members drew for their tables, and she who drew No. 13 had not the courage to take it although it stood all through the function with decorations and the fruit course.

Mrs. Hoover was escorted to the seat of honor by the president of the club, Mrs. Leonidas C. Dyer, wife of the representative from Missouri, who had Mrs. Gann, sister of the Vice President, at her left. Other Cabinet hostesses who were honor guests were Mrs. Ogden L. Mills, wife of the Secretary of the Treasury; Mrs. Adams, wife of the Secretary of the Navy; Mrs. Wilbur, wife of the Secretary of the Interior, and Mrs. Doak, wife of the Secretary of Labor, who were seated with officers and past officers of the club between them.

Mrs. Hoover was especially handsome in a costume of all brown. Her gown was of the new shade of brown crepe made with a V neck in front, filled in with white lace. Her hat was of brown straw with goodly brim, worn straight on her head and not in the modish fashion of over one ear. It had two narrow bands of darker brown velvet about the crown and a flat pom-pom on the right side. She wore a scarf of brown fur, and she made a very happy speech. She said she was quite accustomed to and very much enjoyed being hostess to numbers of women, but she was a little puzzled as to how to graciously be the guest of so many hostesses. Mrs. Hoover has a particularly good and pleasant voice for speaking.

Mrs. Gann wore all black yesterday, a suit of black satin and a small turban of black satin, with a little lace about the throat and a fox scarf. Mrs. Mills also was in black with a small close-fitting turban. Mrs. Adams wore black, with black hat and black fur. Mrs. Wilbur wore a black gown and a large, broad-brimmed black hat, and Mrs. Doak, contrary to her habit, succumbed to the fashion for black and wore a black gown with small black hat. Mrs. Dyer was in dark blue with dark blue hat and a lighter blue ornament in front.

A number of past presidents of the club and Mrs. Charles G. Dawes, wife of the former Vice President and Ambassador to Great Britain, were at the speakers' table, Mrs. Dawes wearing a suit of brown cloth with a blouse of tomato red which showed the bit of color above the top of the jacket, and a brown hat to match which had a narrow brim and little trimming. She wore a sable scarf. Mrs. Atlee Pomerene, a former president, who came from her home in Cleveland for the breakfast, wore a costume in the new shade of blue with trimmings of a lighter tint, and a hat with a brim of the two shades. Each of those at the honor table arose and were introduced to the company.

After Mrs. Dyer's bright little "greeting" and Mrs. Hoover's very short speech, a program of violin music was given by Sylvia Lent, American violinist with an international reputation. Miss Lent played on the inaugural program of President Hoover in 1929 and was no stranger to the club or to the guest of honor. She was accompanied by Mr. George H. Wilson. The program had been kept as a surprise to the members of the club until they read it on their souvenir programs, which carried a photograph of Mrs. Hoover taken in the famous cotton evening gown, which she had made purposely for a White House reception during the winter. The photograph was autographed "Lou Henry Hoover." Miss Lent opened her program with two movements from the Bruch concerto, the prelude and adagio, which she played in masterly fashion, superbly accompanied by Mr. Wilson. Her other numbers were equally brilliant and equally beautifully done, her bowing, her brilliant technique, her temperamental interpretations, and artistic finish winning for her an ovation.

The dessert is worthy of special mention, being brought in, in formal fashion, borne on trays by the waiters, headed by one bearing a huge American eagle with its wings spread, made in ice and lighted from within, which brought forth a storm of applause. It was followed by one with a smaller eagle made in the same way, the first being set upon the honor table in front of Mrs. Hoover and the other upon one of the associate members' tables. There were about 350 women in the company and not a man except the accompanist and the waiters.

Mrs. Hoover attended the meeting of Red Cross units in the Chamber of Commerce Building, on her way back to the White House from the breakfast which had lasted until the late afternoon. She received several groups of women here for the various conventions in the city this week, in the morning.

1,200 Women Attend Banquet of W. O. N. P. R.

Nearly 1,200 distinguished women from 41 States and the District of Columbia, representative of social, philanthropic and civic circles in their respective communities, attended the conference banquet of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform in the Mayflower Hotel last night. It was one of the most brilliant and one of the largest social functions of the spring season in Washington. Evidence of the marked interest in the organization work and the four prominent speakers was shown not only in the large assemblage which filled the ballroom and the Chinese rooms of the hotel, but also necessitated "overflow" tables in the main dining room.

Miss Maud Wetmore, Newport, R. I., chairman of the national conference committee and a former president of the Women's National Republican Club, presided. At the speakers' table were four speakers, Mrs. Florence P. Kahn, Republican representative from California; Mrs. Henry Moskowitz, New York City, prominent in Democratic circles; Howard Lee McBain, professor of constitutional law at Columbia University, and Breckinridge Long, Assistant Secretary of State in the Wilson administration; Mrs. Mary T. Norton, Democratic representative from New Jersey and the District of Columbia "Mayoress;" Mrs. Lee Warren, chairman of the District conference committee, and the following officers and committee chairmen of the national organization: Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, Mrs. Courtlandt Nicoll, Mrs. Coffin Van Rensselaer, Mrs. William C. Potter, Mrs. Archibald Roosevelt, Mrs. E. Roland Harriman, Mrs. Edward Small Moore and Mrs. Anne O'Hagan Shinn. Mrs. Ruth B. Pratt, Republican representative from New York, was at one of the tables of especially invited guests.

The organization had as its special dinner guests, wives of United States senators and representatives, who are recognized as members of the "wet" bloc. The senatorial representation included Mrs. John J. Blaine, Wisconsin; Mrs. W. Warren Barbour, New Jersey; Senator Hiram Bingham, Connecticut; Mrs. Harry Hawes, Missouri; Mrs. Hamilton Kean, New Jersey; Mrs. Richard Aldrich, New York; Mrs. Robert Low Bacon, New York; Mrs. Sol Bloom, New York; Miss Vera Bloom, New York; Mrs. Fred Britten, Illinois; Mrs. John Cochran, Missouri; Mrs. William Connery, Massachusetts; Mrs. E. Underwood & Underwood.

MRS. HERBERT HOOVER, wife of the President, photographed recently, wearing a dainty old-fashioned dimity dress, a concession to a noticeable trend to colonial styles. The dress is white with sprays of blue flowers and has many ruffles on the skirt and sleeves. With it she wears a bow of black velvet in her hair and a narrow band of velvet around her throat. A small black fan on a chain of black and crystal beads is carried with the costume.

Helping the Homemaker

By NANCY CAREY

HERE IS THAT SOMETHING DIFFERENT.

How about a beef heart, stuffed with materials to insure succulent flavors, and roasted to just the queen's taste? It sounds good, and will taste better, and likewise offer something of a change in our endless desire for something different for dinner. With this meat dish, suggested for tomorrow's repast, we shall plan the most simple vegetables imaginable but, also, as though to dress up our meal, we suggest Scotch scones, and orange spice dessert which may be highly recommended to every one. Now—the menu.

THURSDAY'S DINNER.

Stuffed Beef Heart
Pan Roasted Potatoes
Spinach Ring
Scotch Scones
Orange Spice Dessert
Coffee

Stuffed Beef Heart.

Carefully wash and trim loose edges from the heart, then parboil in hot water to which has been added a tablespoonful of vinegar. Make stuffing of one cupful of stale breadcrumbs, a half teaspoonful of poultry seasoning, a small onion which has been fried in a tablespoonful of butter and a strip of bacon cut in small pieces. Mix these ingredients and add an unbeaten egg and sufficient soup stock or water to moisten. Mix thoroughly before filling and bake base side down for an hour. Pour a half cupful of water into the pan and baste frequently.

Spinach Ring.

2 tablespoons butter
1 cup finely chopped spinach
½ cup grated cheese
2 tablespoons flour
½ cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
Pinch paprika
Few grains nutmeg
3 eggs, beaten separately

Melt the butter, add the flour, mix well until smooth and cook until frothy, then add the cold milk, stirring constantly until thick. Add the cheese, spinach, beaten yolks and seasoning, then fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Pour into well-greased ring mold, set in pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven about 45 minutes. To test, run a sharp knife through the center. If the knife comes out clean, the soufflé is cooked. Let stand a few seconds before removing from mold. Serve at once.

Scotch Scones.

2 cups flour
¼ cup butter
¾ cup dried currants
1 tablespoon baking powder
1½ cups milk
½ teaspoon salt

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Rub the butter into the mixture. Add the milk and currants, sprinkle with flour and stir until smooth. Place on floured board and roll to half-inch thickness. Cut into triangles and place in greased baking pan. Bake for fifteen minutes in a hot oven. Split, butter and serve hot.

Orange Spice Dessert.

6 oranges
2 cupfuls cream
3 eggs
Sugar
Cinnamon
Nutmeg

Squeeze and strain juice from oranges. Add the cream to the beaten eggs and orange juice and sweeten to taste. Sprinkle with nutmeg and cinnamon and cook in a double boiler, stirring constantly until mixture coats the spoon. Pour into glass dishes and chill before serving.

THE WEIGHT GUIDE.

For individual assistance, write to Nancy Carey, sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope and give age, weight, height and habits of life.

Answers to Readers.

Dear Miss Carey—My husband has become very much interested in the reducing folder you sent me. Do you advise men, too? He is 45 years old, 5 feet 7¾ inches tall and weighs 178 pounds. We would appreciate your suggestions very much. DORIS L.

Your husband should weigh about 160 pounds, Doris. We are very glad to be of assistance in planning his diet and are very glad, too, that you wrote us about him. Men need help just as much as women in this regard. Perhaps even more so, for they have not, in most cases, the knowledge inborn in women of what is and what is not good for them. Especially as regards this counting of calories are they usually in somewhat of a "fog." They may know and they may have heard that pie as a regular luncheon dessert is not the best thing in the world for keeping the waistlines slim and supple, but further than that they do not often go.

While our folder does contain simple menus and a list of the caloric values of most everyday foods, we have also a day's food plan especially arranged for an overweight man. Using this as a guide the planning of the three daily meals becomes quite simple and if care is taken to watch the calories for a little while at least, a gradual and beneficial loss of weight should result. After a time it will not be so necessary to actually count calories. Providing the plan is adhered to, the calories will tend to take care of themselves, especially as the appetite becomes better controlled and the stomach accustomed to smaller amounts of food. It isn't a bad business at all, this business of reducing. Rather like a game in which both sides being equal, the actual play can not help but be interesting and the outcome beneficial.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

SOME SIGNS OF MEASLES.

IF PARENTS wish to protect their children against measles they can do so, but the responsibility rests with them. Physicians and health departments can be of but little service. The rule is that uncomplicated measles is treated by home remedies. When physicians are called in it is because complications are at least suspected. In the small proportion of cases in which medical services are used, the physician does not arrive on the scene until the disease has been spread if it is to be scattered around.

In some countries health departments admit they are powerless and do not require the reporting of the disease, on the ground that disregard of one law brings all law into some degree of disrepute. In other countries, health departments have tried special means of controlling the disease, but not even these have given satisfaction.

The reasons for these shortcomings are several. Measles is contagious for three days before the appearance of the eruption. It becomes contagious when the person presently to be sick is feeling too well to be kept in bed, or even to remain away from school. There are symptoms, it is true, but they are minor, and the average parent will not call a doctor or notify the health department.

When the symptoms cause enough discomfort to force the child to bed the danger is largely passed because the natural tendency is for a feverish, irritable child with an eruption, and staying in a dark room, to be avoided by other children. Besides, the disease is beginning to be less catchable. In the light of these facts it is highly important that parents and school teachers should know some easily observed symptoms which should cause them to suspect that a given child had measles.

The very first visible symptom is a red line on the inner side of the lower lid. To see it the observer has the child stand in a good light. With one finger pressed on the skin of the cheek and lid, the lower lid is pulled away from the eyeball far enough for the inner surface of the lid to be observed. In exceptional instances it is necessary to catch hold of the lower lashes and pull the lid away from the ball.

If measles is on the point of breaking out, there will be a fine red line about a quarter of an inch from the border, and there may be a little swelling of the loose parts and of the red lump in the inner corner. If this line is noticed, the child must be separated from all other children. If it is not measles the child will be isolated only for one day, and no harm is done.

If this line is noted, the examination should be repeated the following day. If the case is one of measles yet to break out, this narrow red line will have changed to a red band. There will be considerable more swelling of the loose folds at the bottom of the place where the lid joins the ball. The naturally red opening of the tear duct at the inner corner of the eye will be quite swollen. The child will complain of the eyes feeling sandy, and there may be some tendency for tears to overflow.

This story will be continued in a few days.

RAYNAUD'S DISEASE.

G. P. writes: What is Raynaud's disease? Three of my fingers turn white when they get cold. Does working outdoors in the cold weather or putting the hands in cold water cause it to spread? Is there any treatment I could take?

REPLY.

You can see for yourself what the symptoms are. Nobody knows the cause. The fingers turn white because the blood vessels are, temporarily, too small to carry sufficient blood. But that, too, is an effect. We might say that an instability of vasomotor nerves causes that effect, but even that instability is an effect behind which lies a cause. It is exposure to cold that pushes over the apple cart.

By way of treatment an operation is being tried. There is a method of hardening the skin by alternate exposure to warm and cold water. At the same time the affected limb is raised and lowered.

Some subjects try the climate cure.

STARTING A DISCUSSION.

G. H. M. writes: I wonder if W. B. S. and others interested in migraine would not do well to pursue their investigations from a psychogenic rather than a pathogenic standpoint. Such a discussion would be of interest.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

A Lovely Lady Is Known by Her Voice.

HERE is a true story with a bit of romance in it. They had carried on all their business transactions by telephone; the lovely lady and the charming gentleman. One day he telephoned, asking her to lunch, and she accepted.

Elsie Pierce.

Some time before that he had expressed to mutual acquaintances his belief that "she must be brim full of personality; such a beautiful voice, a smile in it, infinite calm, power and distinction."

He pictured her as tall and stately. Yet he was not disappointed to find her quite petite. Her voice told him that though small in stature she actually must be a "big" person inside. Before long there was the usual happy ending, or shall we say beginning? Her voice had won his heart.

• • • •

A charming voice is quite as important as a clear, flawless skin, perfect figure, sparkling eyes. There's fascination in modulated tones and beautiful speech. It holds one.

Haven't you some friend whose voice is either too raucous, too shrill, too tinny, too gruff, too loud, strident or monotonous? The most dramatic story is dulled by a singing voice.

In cultivating a pleasant speaking voice, the first step is to make sure that even slight colds and laryngitis attacks do not leave lingering after-effects. If you are accustomed to waking up in the morning with a suggestion of sore throat or huskiness, which wears off later in the day, have your doctor give you a few treatments to get throat and larynx into condition. Also, make it a habit of using a mouthwash and disinfectant gargle every night and morning.

Learn to breathe properly. If your voice does not carry, but seems weak, you probably are not breathing very deeply. Throat, jaws, lips, teeth and tongue were given us to make speech with. Some people use only lips and teeth. The effect of a long conversation is tiring.

Those who can afford it should go to some elocution teacher for a few lessons and be told the truth about their speaking voices and be taught how to place their tones properly. Those who cannot do this, can practice reading aloud. This is an excellent way to test your own voice. Avoid monotony of tone, listen to the various modulations, place your voice now high, now low. Mothers can help their children to learn to speak in modulated tones and avoid any strident or raucous quality. Voice habits, like all others, grow on youngsters, so help them to cultivate good habits.

In addition to pitching or placing the voice properly, do be sure that your children enunciate distinctly, don't let them slur over important vowels, check any too rapid, nervous speech, teach them to speak more rapidly if they drawl their sentences. Speech is an important part of personality, and personality is kin to beauty.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

Two spring coats with similar stylings, showing shoulder epaulets, both of lightweight wool, and faille reveres and cuff and shoulder epaulet linings. (Courtesy the Maison Heim, Paris.)

NEW YORK, April 12.—The psychologists hardly need insist that perfume stirs the emotions, for we all know that. Various emotions, none the less of which is memory!

How clever a woman can be with perfume! Choosing one special kind that she really likes and truly believes is suitable to her personality, it remains for her but to use it correctly, and the world is literally hers!

That it is your skin which gives a perfume warmth, body, feeling, the French insist. And I find that this is true—that the warmth of one's skin helps vaporize the elements of which the perfume is made, and helps also to retain the fragrance of the perfume. Put then, a drop in the curve of your neck, in the crook of your elbows if you are wearing short sleeves, and finally, a wee, wee drop on your upper lip—to give yourself memory and joy!

Of course, if we can't all afford a room atomizer, we can put perfume in the upholstery of the chairs, in the hems of drapes, in our automobile seats—perhaps as the French women do, on little dabs of cotton which are perfume permeated. These little cotton dabs are simply perfect, I find, for making anything we own or wear rendolent of our perfume, and ourselves—hat lining, the palm of your gloves, on a little used pocket of a dress or tailleur, or a purse lining. Saving much hasty throwing on of perfume, many a spot, and the worst perfume tragedy of all, that of being overperfumed.

Perfume is an art, and as such must be studied, as I have often told you. Its usage is almost as important as its selection. So if you will start with the little things we have chatted about today, we will have more perfume hints anon.

• • • • •

"Secrets Every Lovely Lady Should Know" hasn't any perfume hints in it, but many another secret heretofore known only to the elect of lovely ladydom! But now, for only a stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to the Dare Department of The Washington Post, you can know the secrets of being a lovely lady—and be one, easily. And to know these secrets, to incorporate them into your life, you need not have time nor money, nothing but this leaflet and a little application. Better just send for "Secrets" and see for yourself.

M. Jacques has ideas! To show the possible subtle changes in the lines of a model, to show in his collection how a model can be varied to fit the requirements of each individual figure that it will clothe, is something that no couturier has ever done. He has, and I sketched an example of it. "Marius" of drool fame, is the name given one model, a redingote in green wool, with shoulder epaulets, very high waistline in cut, not belted. Then the same shoulder cuts, the same silhouette, the same lapels, made to button slightly lower on the waistline to change to the line for better effect, is shown in Heliopolis, another redingote in yellow wool, this time. The same model—but not the same model. One type of figure will select one, another type of figure will be better suited to another. Clever? et comment!

Au revoir!

Advice on Gardening

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

DO NOT FORGET YOUR ASTER SEEDS.

SO MANY persons growing asters for the first time sow the seeds in the open border about the middle of May. This is a perfectly correct procedure if you wish late flowers, but if you prefer early blossoms do let me urge you to sow at least a part of the seeds in flats (shallow boxes) in April. Sow only in well prepared, rich, friable soil, if you would have large flowers.

By sowing early you will assure blooms from July until late September or October, which will be much better than having the first buds unfold in late August, as will happen if you postpone sowings until May.

Where the seeds have germinated and the tiny seedlings show their third leaf, you must either thin them out or transplant them. This will give each plant a splendid chance for individual development before being transplanted to the open border. Seeds sown in the house give plants with such fine constitutions that you need have no fear of setting them in the open about the middle of May. They will, after such a good start, be quite able to take care of themselves.

Spray Your Roses

To prevent mildew and black spot. You will find directions for making the dusting powder which controls these diseases in a leaflet prepared especially for readers of this column. A self-addressed, stamped envelope will bring it you if you will write, inclosing it with your request, to

JANE LESLIE KIFT,
Care of The Washington Post.

The remainder of the aster seed, on which you depend for late flowers, must be sown in the garden with care. First, select a bed where the soil is most friable and pulverize it to as fine a powder as possible. Sow the seeds thinly in rows at least one foot apart, and after distributing the seeds, press the soil down firmly about them.

These young seeds will come up faster and more surely if you protect them from the strong rays of the sun for a few days. The matter of proper shading isn't a difficult one. All that is necessary is to drive a post in each corner of the bed to extend about one foot above the ground, and then spread muslin or cheesecloth between the points of the posts. Water your aster seed every morning, using the finest nozzle of the watering can (or, if your patch is large, a hose). I recommend a fine spray, so that you do not disturb the seeds. If you carry out these instructions I can not imagine failure.

You see, if you sow thinly (sparingly) you do not have to thin the plants out, and by June 15 they will be ready to set in their permanent beds. There each plant must be given space of six or eight inches each way. Asters are greedy. Pulverized sheep manure, sprinkled over the surface of the soil every other week, will assure them plenty of nourishment.

Culbertson on Bridge

By ELY CULBERTSON

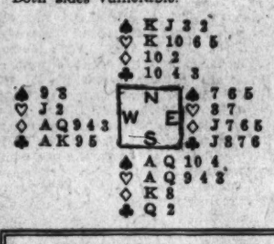
PROVIDING FOR A DISCARD.

AN unusual situation, not generally appreciated by bridge players, occurred in a recent Contract tournament in Cleveland, in which only one of the contesting pairs reached the correct game declaration. This situation is presented in the hand shown below. The problem involved was one of finding a discard for a losing trick in a side suit, in order to realize the full trick-taking power of the combined hands. More than adequate trump support for both of South's suits was held by North, but only one pair realized the necessity of having a long side suit in the Declaring Hand in order to gain the vital tenth trick. This situation occurs occasionally and, through correct bidding methods, can be correctly appraised.

The players who had the satisfaction of making game, while others fell 1 trick short of that, were Mr. Russell J. Baldwin, secretary of the Cleveland Whist Club, playing the South hand, and Mr. A. G. Schuman, former president of the club, who held the North hand.

The hand and bidding were:

South—Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.



The Bidding:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
1♡(1)	2◇	2♡(2)	Pass
2♠(3)	Pass	3♠(4)	Pass
4♠(5)	Pass	Pass	Pass

1—Of course, bidding the longer of two biddable suits first.

2—The hand contains 4 tricks in support of the heart bid.

3—Correctly showing the second biddable suit.

4—Unsure of game, but willing to have partner make the choice of the final declaration.

5—South correctly grasps the situation. He realizes that if hearts are trump, no losers in the North hand can be discarded on the heart suit. However, if, as he believes, the heart suit is solid and his partner holds such support for spades that no tricks are lost in the trump suit, a discard of a loser in one of the side suits may be found on the fifth heart.

South's holding of the King of diamonds indicates that the Opening lead will be a club, as West, vulnerable, probably holds the major tenace in the suit which he has bid. West's bid has probably made valueless the diamond King.

In the play, West opened the King of clubs and continued with three rounds of that suit, the third round being ruffed by the Declarer. The adverse trumps were then drawn and, as planned, Mr. Baldwin found a discard of one of the Dummy's losing diamonds on the fifth heart, thereby losing only two clubs and one diamond and scoring game. The bidding of North and South showed a keen appreciation of the trick-taking possibilities of the combined hands and South's bid of four spades, after his partner had supported both suits, was absolutely correct. When partner has shown support, a four-card suit may be bid as freely as a five-card suit, and the nature of partner's bidding had quite clearly indicated the kind of support he held for the South hand.

Game, of course, would have been equally safe if the King of clubs had been located in the North hand. The fact that East had refused to support West's Overcall strongly indicated that practically all the opposing strength was held by West.

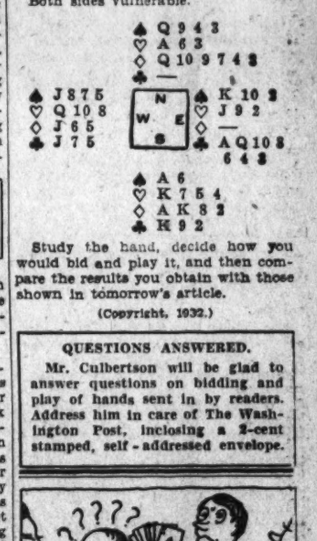
TODAY'S POINTER.

Possible unusual playing situations can frequently be recognized by the players during the bidding. Bidding is mental play, and inferences should be drawn as to playing situations, as well as honor and playing tricks.

Tomorrow's Hand.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

South—Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.



Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it, and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

(Copyright, 1932.)

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Mr. Culbertson will be glad to answer questions on bidding and play of hands sent in by readers. Address him in care of The Washington Post, inclosing a 2-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES McDONALD

Ten Years of Temperament!

DEAR FRANCES McDONALD: Being greatly in need of advice I hope you can help me as you have so many others through your column.

For ten years I've been married to a very temperamental man, unusually quick to be offended and who uses no discretion in what he says. On the other hand, he is just as lovable as he is cruel, very affectionate, good looking, ambitious and a hard worker, but can not hold a job very long due to his temper.

About four years ago his brother came to live with us, during which time he has not been able to pay us very much board, which my husband thinks is all right. In the meantime my brother came to stay with us, which my husband resented from the first and he has made things very unpleasant for him at times. My brother drank a lot and was not able to pay us for keeping him for when he could help he sent money to our father who lost his business and needed help. My husband, in the past two years, has developed an awful craving for revenge on any one he imagines does him wrong, regardless of whom it may injure. My brother is not living with us now, but has a chance to get some money which he and my family needed, but my husband says he will do all he can to keep it from him.

For eight years I have had steady employment as a secretary in the Government and have spent my salary for living expenses for his brother, mine and ourselves. The many times he has been unemployed it has been my salary that has carried us through. His only thought seems to be to hurt this young brother of mine and everyone that loves him. I love my people and I love him, so the question is, must I continue to stand by and see my people hurt for no cause at all or must I sneak around and help them when I'm in need of money myself and am making the living at present, for us three and live on as at present or shall I leave my husband, face disgrace and loneliness, be treated coldly by our friends (they do not know these things) in order to help my father, mother and brother? I want to do right by every one. I have tried to talk and reason things out with my husband, but the mere mention of anything concerning my brother provokes an argument.

I feel now as if I'd be very unhappy without this tempestuous husband of mine, but on the other hand, I keep myself worried sick over the way he acts toward my people when they have always been kind to him. Too, this vindictiveness of his is beginning to kill the finer feelings I had for him. True, my brother owes us money, but so does his. Am I right in trying to get along with him and secretly helping my people? This I despise, and I feel under-cover acts will always come to light. Maybe I haven't the courage to face the loneliness and public criticism of a divorce, but my heart says, regardless of his acts, I love him. What is a woman to do in a case like this? He tells me most every day he loves me and will do anything he can for me and is sweet to me if nothing angers him.

I shall eagerly watch your column for a word of courage.

A WORRIED WIFE.

So, he graciously tells you that he loves you—if nothing annoys him! And in exchange you support him and his brother, and accept his contemptible pettiness and greediness, and fear to call your soul your own! What on earth can you find in such an association?

Leaving your family entirely out of the question, we would say that the most important thing in life for you would be to rid yourself of this selfish and arrogant egotist who is fired from one job after another and does at home all the dictating he is not permitted to do elsewhere. The one place where he feels sure of his job is a home where a few words of love-making insure him support and the privilege of ruling with high hand.

This man loves no one. He is interested in no one but himself. He begrudges what you give to your people because it lessens what you can give him. He is one of the worst specimens ever brought to this clinic for observation and dissection, but if he tells you tonight that he "loves" you what will all these scientific opinions matter? Exactly nothing. But we have done our best, and that is something.

What Today Means

By MARY BLAKE

"ARIES."

IF April 13 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7:30 to 9 a. m., from 2 p. m. to 3:15 p. m., and from 7 p. m. to 8:30 p. m. The danger periods are from noon to 1:35 p. m., and from 5 p. m. to 6:30 p. m.

There are several red flags of danger which should not be disregarded in the astrological picture for April 13. Machinists, engineers, motorists and electricians should keep their eyes open and run no chances. The bright spot in the picture is centered around young lovers, and wedding bells are heard in the near distance.

The child born on this April 13 will have an overly sensitive nature and will be easily hurt by the words or actions of others. It will take its responsibilities seriously, its joys soberly, and its griefs hysterically. It will need love and encouragement to help it find its place in the sun.

If you celebrate your natal anniversary on April 13, and are a woman, you spend your life spinning a delicate web of services around your family, or those who are dependent upon the efforts of your willing hands, brain and soul. "Let me do it," is ever on your lips. You are a willing door-mat, and a promoter of selfishness in others. If you have children, your hovering attitude and wolf-like devotion will tend to clip their wings and to crush their spirit of initiative and independence. You are shrewd, fearless, resourceful, capable and energetic, and you seldom start a thing which you can not finish. Both young and old confide in you, and you have a natural gift of fixing things up for other people. You can not handle your own affairs as well as those of others. Many owe their success and happiness to you, and your payment will be ingratitude.

If you are a man, you are a natural person of affairs. You are ambitious, intelligent and given to industry and hard work. You are nobody's slave, and your labors are for the comfort and good of "Number One." You have a strong will and a temper; the former is domineering and the latter is to be feared. You are very proud, and will be a good provider if you have a family.

Successful people born April 13:

Henry T. Allen, General U. S. A.
Fred Houdlett Albee, orthopedic surgeon.
The Earl of Stafford.
John William Davis, Ambassador and counselor American Red Cross, 1918-1919.
William H. Beard, artist.

PREVENT self-infection
during Grippe,
Flu and COLDS

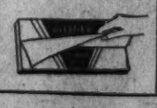
KLEENEX
Disposable
Health Handkerchiefs

DON'T encourage a cold to hang on, by using a handkerchief over and over. That means constant self-infection.

Instead, use Kleenex. Then destroy it. Germs and all. And don't think this health habit is expensive. It will cost you less than laundering!

Kleenex is an exquisite tissue, made of softest rayon-cellulose. It is many times more absorbent than linen or cotton, and so is especially soothing during colds.

Regular 50c size now 35c



As you destroy Kleenex after using, there's no washing. No spreading germs through laundry bags, to contaminate other clothing.

Kleenex comes in convenient packages, at any drug, dry goods or department store.

Get a package today and you'll never go back to unsanitary handkerchiefs!

KLEENEX disposable TISSUES

Germ-filled handkerchiefs are a menace to society!

Tondorf Portrait Given Georgetown

Medical Fraternity Donor of Painting of Late Seismologist.

A portrait of the late Rev. Francis A. Tondorf, a close friend of Dr. George M. Kober, was presented Monday evening by members of the Lambda Phi Mu, a medical fraternity, to Georgetown University, at exercises of tribute to Dr. Kober, dean emeritus of medicine, who provided for the endowment of the Kober Foundation.

The presentation, which followed an address by Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, curator of physical anthropology of the Smithsonian Institution, was made by Dr. Raphael N. Manganaro, who represented the medical fraternity. Dr. Manganaro discussed the many achievements of Father Tondorf, and told of the high regard Dr. Kober held for him.

Speaking of Father Tondorf as a teacher, Dr. Manganaro said, "this man gave his life to his work. He did not only preach to his students, but reflected to them what he himself did."

300 of Victory Post Ask Stevens to Resign

Claiming "hundreds of thousands" of legionnaires are "in the throes of poverty," Victory Post No. 4, of the American Legion, here, last night sent a telegram to National Commander Henry Stevens requesting his resignation. Stevens was advised in the message to "try and get an appointment as good or better than Teddy Roosevelt or Hanford MacNider." Three hundred members of the post attended the gathering at Odd Fellows Hall and approved the message.

A resolution opposing any pay cut for Federal employes also was adopted. National Commander DeCoe, of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, addressed the legion post.

Cathedral Session Elects Bishop's Guild Officers

Mrs. William E. McReynolds and Mrs. Charles F. Roberts were elected secretary and treasurer, respectively, of the Bishop's Guild at the annual meeting yesterday at Washington Cathedral.

Celebration of Holy Communion in the Bethlehem Chapel was followed by a business session, at which reports on institutions of the diocese were made. The guild gave a tablet to be placed in the Shadow House in the Bishop's Garden in memory of Mrs. Charles M. Wilkes, who was for many years a leader in guild and diocesan activities.

Electrical Engineers Visit Phone Offices

Members of the Washington section of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers were guests last night of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. at the new Cleveland-Emerson telephone central offices at Wisconsin avenue and Warren street northwest.

About 200 members made an inspection tour of the new building and equipment, following the regular meeting at which John A. Remon, general manager of the telephone company, greeted the A. I. E. E. with an address of welcome.

The additions to the Cleveland-Emerson office, including new central office equipment, are being constructed at a gross expenditure in excess of $1,500,000.

Passing Money to Felon Sends Guard to Prison

Kansas City, Kans., April 12 (A.P.).—C. A. Carlson pleaded guilty today to smuggling $8.50 to a convict at Leavenworth Federal Penitentiary and was sentenced to serve 18 months in the Federal prison at McNeil Island, Wash.

Carlson, a guard at Leavenworth, was on duty in the prison shop into which arms were smuggled for the break last December in which three convicts were slain and the warden abducted. The Government did not charge Carlson with a part in the break, but pointed out that the firearms and explosives had been purchased with money furnished by the prisoners.

Washington Man Heads Bakery Sales Promoters

A. L. Alderman, of Washington, was elected a member of the executive board of the Bakery Sales Promotion Association, which adjourned yesterday after a two-day session at Wardman Park Hotel. Joseph D. Noonan, of Baltimore, was named president.

Among the speakers were Representative Hamilton Fish, of New York; Henry Stude, president American Bakers Association, Chicago, Ill.; E. St. Elmo Lewis, trade councilor, Philadelphia, and Dr. Louise Stanley, Bureau of Home Economics, this city. Several hundred delegates were present for the conference.

Burial of Leiter Set Here Today

Last Rites Will Be Held at St. John's Church at 4 o'Clock.

The body of Joseph Leiter, widely known capitalist and sportsman, today will be brought to Washington—the scene of many of his business and social triumphs—for burial in the family plot in Rock Creek Cemetery.

Mr. Leiter died Monday at his home in Chicago. Brief funeral services were held yesterday in the fashionable St. Chrysostom's Church, in Chicago. The train bearing Mr. Leiter's body is expected to reach Washington this morning.

Final rites will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock in historic St. John's Episcopal Church, opposite Lafayette Square. The Rev. Robert Johnston, rector of the church, will officiate. The services will be simple, with only members of the family in attendance.

MRS. PUMPHREY'S RITES.

Lifelong Resident of Washington Will Be Buried Tomorrow.

Funeral services for Mrs. Effie Pumphrey, 39 years old, of 1430 Ridge place southeast, who died Monday after a week's illness of pneumonia, will be held tomorrow at noon from the residence. Services will be held at 1 o'clock from St. Paul's Episcopal Church. Interment will be in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

Mrs. Pumphrey was a resident of Washington all of her life. She is survived by her husband, Louis Leonard Pumphrey; her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. William Sparrow; a son, Leonard, jr., and two daughters, Effie and Elizabeth Pumphrey. Two sisters, Mrs. Mamie Jones and Mrs. Lizzie Soper, both of Washington, and a brother, William Sparrow, of Philadelphia, Pa., also survive.

SOCIETY

at Richmond to visit their son-in-law and daughter, the Rev. and Mrs. Ernest van Renesselaer Stires.

Mr. and Mrs. Addison G. Foster, of New York, have come to Washington for several months and have taken an apartment at 3510 Sixteenth street. They made their home here about four years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Elisha Dyer, of Brookville, Long Island, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son on April 9, in New York. Mrs. Dyer, who was formerly Miss Katherine Whitaker, daughter of Mrs. Price Whitaker, of Washington, made her debut here several years ago. The boy will be called Elisha Dyer, jr., and is the eighth in that family to bear that name.

Frederic W. Wile, Jr., To Wed New Yorker.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Halle, 322 West Seventy-eighth street, New York City, announce the engagement of their daughter, Rita, to Mr. Frederic William Wile, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic William Wile, of Washington. Miss Halle was a member of the class of 1931 at Wellesley, and Mr. Wile was graduated from Princeton with the class of 1930. After leaving Princeton Mr. Wile spent a year at Rome as private secretary to the United States Ambassador to Italy, John W. Garrett, and is now associated with the Columbia Broadcasting System in New York. The marriage will take place during the coming summer at Poundridge, the country home of the bride's parents in Westchester County.

Miss Ada Barclay and Miss Mildred Sacket, of Cleveland, have come to Washington to spend several months at Wardman Park.

Many prominent Democrats arrived yesterday to attend the Jefferson Day luncheon, one of the major political affairs of the year, which is to be held at the Willard.

Important on the lists of speakers are two prominent Democratic women, former Gov. Nellie Tayloe Ross of Wyoming and Representative Mary T. Norton, of New Jersey. Other speakers, who will be heard are Representative Henry T. Rainey, House floor leader; Senator Joe T. Robinson, Senate leader, and Gov. George White of Ohio. Mr. Jouett Shouse, commander of the Minute Men of the Democratic national committee, will preside. Mr. Claude G. Bowers, prominent political writer, will deliver an address at the close of the luncheon in eulogy of "Thomas Jefferson, the first Democratic President."

Mrs. Frank Wattles, accompanied by her daughters, Miss Elizabeth and Miss Peggy Wattles, came to Washington yesterday from their home in Buffalo, N. Y., to make a lengthy stay at Wardman Park Hotel.

Mrs. Albion Noyes Doe and infant son, Charles Albion, of Jackson Heights, Long Island, arrived on Sunday to visit relatives and friends during the cherry blossom season.

Mrs. Doe will attend the banquet given Tuesday evening by the National Society of New England Women in the rose room of the Hotel Washington. Mrs. Doe is a former officer and director of the New York City colony of the society.

Capt. and Mrs. Arthur B. Cook, who make their home at Wardman Park Hotel, have as their guest Mrs. W. F. Barrett, of Rye, N. Y., who arrived in Washington a day or two ago.

Gov. O. Max Gardener, of Raleigh, N. C., is at the Willard for a few days' visit.

Miss Mary Louise Chace is giving a bridge party for her friends at her home on Twenty-first street this evening.

Former Senator Henry Allen left Washington yesterday for his home in Wichita, Kans., where he will remain for the wedding of his daughter, Miss Henrietta Allen, to Mr. Julius Holmes, which will take place on April 25. Mr. Holmes and his bride will sail from New York on April 29 aboard the Ile de France for Europe, where Mr. Holmes will resume his duties as third secretary of the United States Legation in Bucharest.

Mrs. Hoggatt Clopton and her daughter, Mrs. Leland Dotson Webb, were hostesses at luncheon yesterday at the Shoreham Hotel, in honor of Mrs. Thomas D. Schall, wife of the senator from Minnesota. The other guests were Mme. Veverka, Mrs. Marcus A. Coolidge, Mrs. Archibald L. Parsons, Mrs. Walter W. Webster, Mrs. Harry R. Bogusch, Mrs. Henry S. Kendall, Mrs. Leland Dotson Webb, Mrs. Warren J. Haines, Mrs. Mark Reid Yates, Mrs. Benjamin D. Hill, Mrs. George Bidwell, Mrs. Phillips Lee Phillips, Mrs. William E. Elliott, Mrs. Edward Campbell Shields, Mrs. Harry Moore Payne, Mrs. Moncure B. Berg, Mrs. Cabot Stevens, Miss Flora Wilson and Miss Bernardine Gardener.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Lovell, of New Haven, Conn., are guests at the Powhatan.

Mrs. Henry Martin Jensen, wife of Commander Jensen, entertained at luncheon yesterday for Mrs. Lewis Watkins, wife of Col. Watkins, of Fort du Pont, Del., who is visiting Mrs. Earl North. The other guests were Mrs. North, Mrs. Francis B. Wilby, Mrs. William L. Lightle, Mrs. Tierney, Mrs. Royal E. Ingersoll, Mrs. William Newton, Mrs. W. G. Neill, Mrs. Harry Baldridge, Mrs. Charles Clay Bayly, Mrs. Homer Wick, Mrs. Joseph Colquitt, and Mrs. Phillis Lauman.

Maj. and Mrs. James E. Fechet entertained at dinner last evening. Gen. and Mrs. Fechet and their daughter, Miss Catherine Fechet, will go to Atlantic City on Monday to spend several days.

Daughters of Cincinnati View Art Exhibition.

The National Society of the Daughters of the Cincinnati, meeting in Washington this week, visited the Corcoran Gallery of Art Monday afternoon to view the Bicentennial historical loan exhibition when Mrs. Rose Gouverneur Hoes, official manager of the exhibition, gave a brief talk on the portraits.

The visitors were interested to notice that the badge of the society, which was founded by George Washington, appeared in several portraits of Washington and his contemporaries.

Dental Society Makes Health Meeting Plans

Plans for the May Day health meeting at Central High School, which is to be held the evening of April 26 with Dr. Wallace Seccombe, dean of the University of Toronto, and Dr. E. V. McCollum, of Johns Hopkins University, as speakers, were outlined at last night's meeting of the District of Columbia Dental Society, held at George Washington University.

Dr. Samuel M. Gordon, secretary of the council on dental therapeutics, of the American Dental Association, was the speaker at last night's meeting, his subject being "The Movement for Reform in Dental Drugs." Dr. Gordon discussed, in a general way, the activities of other organizations, the activities of his own organization and what this has meant to the dental profession and to the public.

DR. L. A. BAUER DIES IN SIX-STORY PLUNGE

of Washington, Literary Society of Washington and the Cosmos Club.

Dr. Bauer had received many medals and awards for his scientific work, was called to Oxford to lecture on terrestrial magnetism and was a frequent contributor to scientific publications.

Besides his widow, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Dorothea Weeks, and a brother, William Charles Bauer, dean of the school of electrical engineering at Northwestern University.

Funeral arrangements have not been made. Mrs. Bauer was in a state of collapse last night.

Publisher Bryan to Talk Before Advertising Men

John Stewart Bryan, publisher of the Richmond, Va., News-Leader, will address the annual dinner of the American Association of Advertising Agencies tomorrow evening at the Mayflower Hotel.

C. D. Newell, chairman of the association board and president of the Newell-Emmett Co., of New York, will preside as toastmaster. Entertainment will be given by radio stars through the courtesy of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Finland Plans Farm Debt Holiday.

Helsingfors, Finland, April 12 (A.P.).—The Government disclosed today that it will present a bill in Parliament for a moratorium until February, 1933, on the debts of farmers, who have been seriously hit by the economic depression. Certain other interests not identified also may be included, it was said, but the moratorium will be limited to such debts as may be postponed without endangering the national finances.

MARBERRY OPPOSES SOX TODAY; OPENER IS DELAYED BY RAIN

Russell Due to Hurl for Boston; Kerr Pleases Johnson.

Manager Will Save Crowder for Macks on Saturday.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH
(Sports Editor of The Post).

BOSTON, Mass., April 12.—Weeping skies in the land of culture and the cod tethered the athletes of the Washington and Boston teams to hotel lobbies today and deferred the opening-game festivities here until the morrow. Ten minutes after noon, when the game was definitely postponed in the face of a drizzling rain, the sun came out in all its heavenly brilliance to mock the decision of the Red Sox management, but, alas, the deed was done.

So the good right arm of Fred Marberry and the talented right limb of Jack Russell, slated to do the jousting on the pitching mound, were in repose until tomorrow, when the same gentlemen will be sent back to the wars by the respective managements of the Nats and Red Sox.

Marberry you all know from his nine years' service in Washington regalia, but a few words about young Mr. Russell would not be amiss. This latter fellow, a slim young Texan, was a salient factor in the Red Sox's ability last year to climb from a six-year habitat in last place to a lofty sixth in 1931, and when they speak of big league pitchers who can pitch, Jackie is always included in the conversation.

Russell Enigma of Nats Last Year.

Jackie's affiliation with a second division club of the lower flight hasn't dimmed the esteem in which he is held by club managers at large, and the Nats last year learned to respect his ability in no mean measure. It seems that Russell set the Nats back on their heels five times last season.

So the Nats have an old score to settle with young Mr. Russell and Manager Johnson has nominated big Fred Marberry for the job of pinning back Jackie's ears, even as Alvin Crowder tamed the precocious Mr. MacFayden in the opening game in Washington on Monday.

Marberry all spring has been telling all and sundry that his arm is in better fettle than in any season since 1927, and some of his work in the exhibition games bear him out. Manager Johnson has been visibly impressed and is inclined to agree, and Marberry it will be against the Red Hose tomorrow.

To note that Johnson was extremely gratified by the 1-to-0 ten-inning exhibition of Crowder on Monday, is putting it very mildly. Crowder, in the shape he displayed on that day, is potent salve for Johnson's pitching worries and should Marberry redeem his promises tomorrow, the burden will have been considerably lightened for the Nats' ambitious manager.

The rain today reduced to four

MARYLAND U. NINE BOWS AGAIN

Old Liners Beaten, 6 to 3, by Washington and Lee.

Special to The Washington Post.

LEXINGTON, Va., April 12.—A big seventh inning, in which three hits, a sacrifice and a Maryland error scored five runs for Washington and Lee, let the Generals trip the Old Liners nine, 6 to 3, here today.

Burrows doubled to start the fifth and scored on a passed ball for the first score of the game, and Wolfe tied it up by doing exactly the same for Maryland in the sixth. Davidson then took the mound for Maryland, and two hits and Berger's error loaded the bases. Routon's bunt squeezed one in, and Mattox's single to center scored three more.

Shikat, Kley, Pinetzki Win New York Bouts

New York, April 12 (A.P.).—Dick Shikat, of Philadelphia, former claimant of the heavyweight wrestling championship, threw Sandor Szabo, of Hungary, in 42:28 of the main bout at the New York Coliseum tonight. Shikat weighed 217; Szabo, 205.

Sammy Stein, 200, of Newark, tossed Jack Burke, 205, of Oklahoma, in 6:55 of the cofeature. Leo Pinetzki, 217, of Poland, tossed Tony Felice, 216, of Italy, in 10:48. Fritz Kley, 212, loose-jointed German, threw Renato Gardini, 200, Italy, in 10:46.

Dodgers Lose Opener to Braves

"Carey's Chickens" Are Beaten in Own Swamp, 8 to 3.

Hack Wilson, in Debut, Again Bothered by the Sun.

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., April 12.—The Brooklyn Ball Club, formerly known as the Robins, now called Mother Carey's Chickens, laid themselves an egg in the opening game of the season on their home swamp. The Boston Braves beat them 8 to 3 in a contest that might have been more appropriate to the Winter Olympic program.

Hack Wilson, the reformed Stein-Song Crooner, made his first appearance under new management and almost foundered in the swamp as he went to his left for a fly hit by Art Shires, in the second inning. He was wading along at a brisk rate and just as he caught the ball he stepped into a sink-hole from which he emerged limping. He then sat down and floated about in the goo, rubbing his right leg as the other Robins or Chickens or whatever fowl it may ultimately be decided to call the Brooklyn athletes, swam out to make anxious inquiries.

Wilson Makes Shore Unassisted.

Wilson presently made shore unassisted and apparently not much the worse for his misstep and continued playing. In the fifth inning, Wilson was implicated in the scoring of two runs for Boston when he went into his memorable world series sun-dance again, pirouetting like an elephant on a tub in the circus, as Urbanski's fly plopped into the mud behind him and buried itself like a mashie pitch to a soggy green. Wesley Schulmerich, a football player from somewhere out West, and Shires both scored as Wilson surveyed the unplayable lie, but the local scorers, with every good wish for a stranger in these parts, diagnosed the incident as a double.

The opening of the season in Brooklyn was an occasion of unusual significance, there having been a change of managers and executive policy on the team and a general shift of personnel. Wilbert Robinson, of course, was missing from the bench, and there was no word or gesture of remembrance for the fat old man who managed the Daffiness boys for seventeen seasons. The box seat where Mr. Robinson had sat so many afternoons watching Uncle Wilbert's players perform their amazing arts, including the running of bases from left to right, was occupied by some stranger.

Babe Herman, who learned to catch fly balls in self-defense lest they hit him on the head, was playing in Cincinnati and George Kelly, long to be remembered as Kelly Struck Out, had come down from St. Paul for temporary work in place of Del Bissonette, the Brooklyn first baseman.

Waite Hoyt Backs Home.

Then, too, Waite Hoyt, the wandering and now thoroughly matured boy wonder of Brooklyn High School baseball of a dozen years ago, was returned to his native borough and was pitching his first game in the Brooklyn flannels.

The athletes were sent away on their season's career with blasts of strident music emitted by the band of the 106th Infantry, in the flesh, not a phonograph record, wherein the opening of the season in Brooklyn excelled in point of festivity and cost the world series celebrations which have been held three years running in Philadelphia. The gallant musicians wore their full dress or lion-tamers' uniforms and even the drum-caddie, who waded through the outfield everglades toting a quiver of spare bats for the head drummer, bowed under as great a weight of epaulets and other ornamental brass work as ever adorned a czarist field marshal setting out for the massacres.

The serenaders saluted Hoyt with a few peals of "Home, Sweet Home," and the new first baseman was acknowledged with "Has Anybody Here Seen Kelly?" This was a mildly heretical way to do, because the song was intended to honor a South-of-Ireland Kelly, whereas this Kelly has always been supposed to be of Ulster stock. Mr. Kelly seemed as lean and stretchy and his voice was as raucous in its continual babble of "C'm, now, 'O-boy-O-boy, yat-a-boy-O-boy," as in the days when he played for John McGraw with the Giants.

On the Boston side there was a bit of a reunion, too. Art Shires was up in the majors again and playing with Al Spohrer, the catcher, whom he once knocked out in a prize fight in Boston. Out of that fight, a beautiful friendship had grown, Spohrer losing no chance to relate that Shires, having knocked him out, then sent a bushel of flowers to Mrs. Spohrer, who lay ill in a hospital. It appears that everything Shires did that night

Red Rally in Ninth Beats Cubs, 5 to 4

25,000 See Home Team Register Four Runs in Final to Triumph.

Cincinnati, April 12 (A.P.).—Slamming over four runs in a wild ninth inning, the Cincinnati Reds today defeated the Chicago Cubs, 5 to 4, in the opening game of the season here.

After holding the Reds almost helpless throughout eight innings, Charley Root weakened in the ninth with the score 4 to 1 to permit Grantham to single and Heath to walk and then went out of the game as a hot drive from Lombardi's bat injured his hand. Bush took his place, but the damage was begun. Lucas, batting for Morrissey, cracked out a double, the only extra base hit the Reds could gather. Then Roettger, batting for Benton, substitute pitcher, was walked and the bases again were loaded. Douthit singled, scoring Durocher and Bieuge, substitute runners, and the game was over.

Approximately 25,000 fans jammed Redland Field for the game despite early morning snows and chill winds.

Cards Defeat Pirates by 10 to 2

Rhem Hurls Champions to Victory in Opener.

Cold Weather Keeps Attendance Down to 5,937.

ST. LOUIS, April 12 (A.P.).—Championship strides were taken today by the St. Louis Cardinals as they decisively outplayed the Pittsburgh Pirates, 10 to 2, at Sportsmans Park here, in the opening game of the season. The 1931 National League pennant, won by the Cardinals, was raised with ceremony just before the game which attracted 5,937 paying customers. Cold weather cut attendance considerably.

Flint Rhem, who had pitched the Cardinals to victory in the opening games of pennant winning years in 1926, 1928, 1930 and 1931, justified his selection as opening pitcher for St. Louis, scoring his fifth triumph as hurler for the season's first game. He allowed seven hits, but only in the seventh inning were the Pirates able to turn hits into runs, and the two in that frame came after St. Louis already had sent eight men across the home plate.

Collins More Than Just A Substitute.

James Ripper Collins, who replaced the slugging Chick Hafey in left field for the Cards, proved more than just a substitute by knocking the ball over the right field pavilion in the seventh for the only home run of the game.

Pepper Martin, hero of last season's world series, reminded the fans that he is up to old tricks, by stealing a base.

Ray Blades and Sparky Adams, each scoring two singles and a double, gave assurance that the St. Louis Nationals can count on some consistent hitters in this year's title chase.

Larry French hurled six innings for the Pirates, allowing ten hits, before he was replaced by Swift.

BABE RUTH.

Earnshaw Is Blasted by Savage Attack Before 18,000.

Macks Knock Gomez Out of Box With Attack in 9th.

By ALAN GOULD.
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

SHIBE PARK, Philadelphia, Pa., April 12 (A.P.).—Greeting Big George Earnshaw like a long-lost "cousin," Babe Ruth and the New York Yankees fell upon the right-handed ace of the Athletics this chilly afternoon, blasted him off the field in four innings and outslugged the American League champions, 12 to 6, in their first battle of the season.

As if to protest the implication of a $5,000 salary cut that reduces his stipend to a mere $75,000 for the year the celebrated Mr. Ruth led the rough assault upon Earnshaw by clubbing a pair of towering home runs upon the rooftops of the brick houses opposite the right-field barrier.

After the first of these blows, which sent the Yankees off to a three-run start in the first frame, the constabulary ousted about twoscore bundled-up citizenry from the rooftop bleachers originally erected for the world series overflow. The law forbids this vicarious business, but the evacuation was completed in the nick of time, for Ruth's second circuit clout, in the fourth, rattled in the very seats where most of the housetop guests had been sitting.

Ruth Reaches New High.

Ruth has contributed many a rousing blow to baseball's opening ceremonies, but this was the first time in his big league career that he started the defense of his slugging crown with a pair of homers. The best that the cochampion, Lou Gehrig, could do was to pound one home run into the left field stands and rattle a triple off the outfield wall, but Sammy Byrd demonstrated his right to a regular job in center field by blasting out two homers and a single.

The triple threat of Byrd, Ruth and Gehrig was entirely too much for Earnshaw, who yielded eight hits and ten runs before retiring at the end of the fourth in favor of young Jimmy Deshong, Jersey City recruit. Jimmy held the Yankees to four hits and only two runs in the last five innings.

A crowd of 18,000 fans, slightly more than half the capacity of the park, alternately shivered, cheered and jeered as their champions took a succession of heavy wallops to the chin.

Despite erratic support, Vernon (Lefty) Gomez, left-handed pitching ace of the Yanks, kept the Athletics well in hand until the ninth inning, when four straight hits, including a home run by Al Simmons, knocked him out of the box. With the bases full of Mackmen, two out and Dib Williams at bat, Gomez yielded to the right-handed Red Ruffing, who retired the A.'s shortstop on a line smash to Byrd after working the count to two and three.

Seven Homers Mark Game.

All told, seven home runs, only three short of the major league record, was produced in one of the biggest slugfests since some of the jackrabbit juice was supposed to have been extracted from the lively ball. Jimmy Foxx, big first sacker of the A's, rivaled Ruth's blows with a drive that cleared the centerfield fence a few feet from the flagpole.

Al Simmons, with a single, double and homer, made a good start toward the defense of the league batting championship. Max Bishop came close to a record by walking on his first four trips to the plate. Otto Saltzgaver, New York Yankee second baseman, also was passed in four out of five times at bat. The other Yankee outfielder rookie, Frank Crosetti, failed to get a hit in five tries, popping out with the bases full in the sixth.

Portney Wins Over Jallos Before 2,200 at Portner's

Greek Floored in First; Overlin, Bowen and Groves Take Decisions; Young Van Scores Fifth Straight Knockout.

By JACK ESPEY.

JACK PORTNEY did two men's work in beating Louis Jallos, Jimmy Bronson's Cleveland protege, in the final of three eight-round bouts in Portner Arena last night. The clever Baltimore southpaw, his best hand swollen before entering the ring, was forced to do Jallos' share of the fighting as well as his own to please the crowd of 2,200, who paid a tidy sum into the coffers of the Alexandria Day Nursery.

Portney, seeking an early knockout, floored the young Greek for a count of five in the opening round, and thereafter it was a case of Jallos trying to last the route with Portney striving mightily to give the customers their money's worth in action.

The result was a discredit to Jallos and a testimonial to the sincerity and courage of Portney, who tossed his injured left hand with reckless abandon times without number. After that knockdown, which apparently paralyzed what, if any, nerve Jallos possessed, the Baltimore Hebrew was never in danger of being harmed, excepting the ever-present possibility that he might break his hand on Louie's head.

Jallos Climbs on Speed Bike.

Jallos knew well how to pedal away from a fight, but didn't realize meanwhile that he was pedalling himself right out of future engagements at Portner's. Day Nursery athletic officials condemned his performance in no uncertain terms after Referee Charlie Short continually ordered him to "get in there and fight."

The preceding bouts lacked nothing in the ingredients of crowd pleasers. Sailor Ken Overlin, highly touted Norfolk middleweight, lived up to advance notices by trouncing Tony DAlessandro, Long Island champion, and Ray Bowen, popular Washington lightweight, pounded out a decison over Tootsie Bashara, of Nor-

Chemists Find Poison In Organs of Phar Lap

San Francisco, April 12 (A.P.).—Traces of poison were found by Government chemists in the organs of Phar Lap, the Australian race horse that died a week ago today at Menlo Park, Calif.

W. W. Vincent, chief food and drug administrator of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, who made the examination, announced today a poison commonly used as a tree spray was present in the organs of the giant gelding which won the $50,000 Agua Caliente Handicap after being brought here from "down under."

"We have yet to determine what the percentage of poison was," Vincent said, adding that further tests for other poisons used in the spray were being conducted.

He pointed out the poison may have come from grass coated with the spray used on oak trees on the ranch at Menlo Park where Phar Lap died. Veterinarians have attributed the horse's death to colic.

Giants Defeated By Phillies, 13 to 5

New York Opener Spoiled by Visitors; Collins Stars in Box and at Bat.

New York, April 12 (A.P.).—The New York Giants celebrated the start of their forty-ninth year as members of the National League and John McGraw's thirtieth season as manager today, but it was the Phillies who celebrated the opening-day victory before 20,000 fans.

The Phils piled up 17 hits, bunching most of them off Bill Walker and Hy Bell in the early innings, to win, 13 to 5.

Phil Collins pitched an effective game, scattering the hits except in the fourth inning, and led his team's attack with 4 hits. Johnny Vergez set the batting pace for the Giants, collecting a homer, two singles and a walk in four trips to the plate.

Sam Jones Pitches Chisox to Victory

Former Nat Holds Brown to Win, 9-2; Selph Stars at Bat.

Chicago, April 12 (A.P.).—Two newcomers, the veteran "Sad Sam" Jones and Carey Selph, started the White Sox off to a good start in the American League race today by pitching and batting out a 9-to-2 victory over the St. Louis Browns before a frozen crowd of 18,000 spectators.

Jones held the Browns to eight scattered hits, while Selph, considered the draft prize of the year, blasted out three doubles off the delivery of Stewart and Blaeholder. "Goose" Goslin paced the Brown hitting attack with two doubles and a single.

ACAUTAW IS WINNER IN KINDERGARTEN STAKES AT BOWIE

Cattail Loses By Head in Feature

Bruce Colt Triumphs in Thrilling Duel in Stretch.

Marlene Wins in Sub-Feature; Don Tasker Wins Second.

By WALTER HAIGHT.

THEY couldn't find the "Maryland, My Maryland" record to put on the loud speaker yesterday afternoon at Bowie, but Owner Howard Bruce and Trainer Elmer Trueman were willing to overlook that sentimental touch. It would have been appropriate, however, for the Maryland-bred Acautaw, son of Trojan, which has supplied so many Bowie winners this season, and The Squaw, which defeated fifteen of the best 2-year-olds available here to win the Bowie kindergarten, early spring derby for the juveniles.

The victory sent some $2,000 jingling into the pocket of Howard Bruce and provided a profitable day for Jockey Albert Robertson, the leading rider of the Maryland season thus far. It was Robertson's eleventh victory.

The prospect of seeing the bangtails run drew more than 10,000 to the track. The sun played hide and seek with islands of clouds and the customers got a chance, despite a chilly wind, to come out on the concrete lawn without risking a ducking.

Acautaw Wins By Head.

Acautaw took the decision by a margin of a head from Cattail, representing the William Zeigler, jr., interests, which in turn was two lengths ahead of Miss Brilliant, the property of R. C. Schwarz.

The field was started without the stalls, due to the large number of entries. Foul Tip broke on top, with Acautaw and Cattail laying close. Some 20 yards from the barrier Foul Tip was shuffled back and Acautaw took up the principal running, followed by Cattail and Miss Brilliant. This trio battled it out in the stretch, Robertson and Elston went to work on their mounts coming up the stretch, with the jockey honors about even. Acautaw, however, proved just a little better than his rival.

A field of eight fillies, 3-year-olds, paraded to the post in the Fads and Fancies, a test over the 5½-furlong course. The winner turned up in Marlene, favorite, which defeated Delicacy and Marciana.

Jimmy Smith made it a riding double with the filly owned and trained by A. Pelletti.

Indiantown Takes Opener.

Indiantown, son of Trojan, won the opener, for maiden 2-year-olds, leading from start to finish, under a hustling ride by Jimmy Smith, New Orleans' gift to the turf world. Wave On, from the Sagamore Stable, was second, with the Nevada Stock Farm's Cantoria third.

With the exception of Cantoria, which beat out Feliciana for third place, there was no change in the leaders from the barrier rise to the wire.

Hank Mills rode J. J. Moran's Don Tasker to victory in the second race over the mile and 70 yards route. Brandon Rose was second, with Broadway Lights third.

Upset Em, Home Work and Brandon Rose fought for the lead as the field rounded the clubhouse turn, with Blaze White, the favorite, laying fourth. Brandon Rose finally went to the front as the group reached the 6-furlong chute. Blaze White was second, with Upset Em third. Going up the back stretch Blaze White gained command, with Brandon Rose second. Blaze White slowed down rounding Don Tasker, which had been laying back under wraps, moved up with a rush to take the lead. Brandon Rose fought a losing battle with the Moran colt. Broadway Lights found speed enough to move up to the third money.

Sun Memory In Victory.

Sun Memory, which closed at 4-5 on the odds board, won the third race, at 6 furlongs, with ease. Prometheus was second and Brown Pet third. Hank Mills hustled Sun Memory along in the first flight and soon had the situation well in hand.

Hank Mills showed local patrons the kind of riding that made him the sensation of Florida tracks last winter when he rode Gloria Maris to victory in the sixth event to complete a triple. The filly won by a length and was a $6 for $2 choice. General Court beat Worldly Lad, which ran away before the start by three lengths for the place. Mills sent Gloria Maris right to the front and kept her a yard in front of Don Romiro, measuring the latter until he folded up beaten in the stretch. General Court closed a big gap to Challenge through the final stages, but the winner was held together to the end.

Hank Mills barely missed his fourth winner when his mount War Saint was beaten a head by Garlic in the last race. Star Lassie was beaten a half length for the place. The winner paid $6.

DUNBAR VS. MINER.

Dunbar High will be seeking its third victory in as many starts this afternoon at Walker Stadium at 3:30 o'clock, when it meets the Miner Teachers College nine. Brooks and Gray will divide the mound work for Dunbar, with Harlan and Fearing likely to get the Miner box assignment.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—INDIANTOWN, $5.70, $3.80, $2.70; WAVE ON, $6.10, $5.40; CANTORIA, $4.70.

INDIANTOWN, away in the first flight, took command at once, drew clear at the final furlong pole, but had to be shaken up nearing the finish to stall off WAVE ON. Latter, a stout factor, served in behind the winner midway of the home stretch, was taken up slightly, but came again under pressure and closed gamely. CANTORIA showed a good effort throughout. FELICIANA weakened during the final quarter mile. FLORA CANTER was unable to improve her position. LAZI CANTER saved ground wherever possible, but could not reach the leaders. CANTERWOOD raced wide for the entire journey. TIPHAINE came very wide into the home stretch.

SECOND RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:29½. Off at 2:30. Winner, J. J. Moran's b. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—DON TASKER, $12.40, $6.40, $3.10; BRANDON ROSE, $8.10, $6.10; BROADWAY LIGHTS, $3.20.

DON TASKER, outrun for the first six furlongs, was placed to punishment in the final drive and, responding with good courage, wore the leaders down inside the final furlong and, under stiff urging, outstayed BRANDON ROSE. Latter went into a brief lead midway of the back stretch while under slight restraint, lost command rounding the final turn, but continued stoutly thereafter and fought it out willingly. BROADWAY LIGHTS, taken to the outside when reaching the back stretch, worked his way to the leaders and held on well for the closing test. BLAZE WHITE, a forward factor in the early racing, assumed command when ready, but faltered fast in the final issue. CHOSEN PAL could not menace the leaders. KNEE HIGH was held safe. HOME WORK tired. UPSET 'EM labored in the going and stopped.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:00. Off at 3:02. Winner, Pauline Stable's b. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—SUN MEMORY, $3.70, $2.60, $2.40; PROMETHEUS, $3.50, $3.20; BROWN PET, $6.80.

SUN MEMORY, at home in the footing and hustled to the front, raced THE OKAH into defeat, came out into the firmer footing when entering the home stretch and drew out all the way. PROMETHEUS, slow to reach full stride, swung to the outside when moving to the leaders at the stretch turn, closed gamely, but could not threaten SUN MEMORY. BROWN PET, kept forwardly placed and saving ground, held on well for the final drive. KLIP DRIFT lacked early speed. He finished with good courage during the closing stages. RAIN OR SHINE had no excuses. EVERYTIME lost ground for the entire trip. THE OKAH quit after a half mile.

FOURTH RACE—Four furlongs. Purse, $2,500 added; allowances. The Bowie Kindergarten. For 2-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:32. Off at 3:37½. Winner, H. Bruce's br. c. (2), by Trojan—The Squaw. Trained by E. Trueman. Value to winner, $2,000; second, $400; third, $200; fourth, $100. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:49.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—ACAUTAW, $10.50, $6.40, $5.20; CATTAIL (William Ziegler entry), $13.80, $12.00; MISS BRILLIANT, $20.90.

ACAUTAW, away quickly and rushed hard to take command, was vigorously ridden throughout and, holding on with good courage, outstayed CATTAIL. Latter, a stout factor and racing straight and true, was slowly wearing the winner down at the finish. MISS BRILLIANT, kept close to the leaders, was making up ground steadily approaching the finish. SERGEANT HILL could not seriously menace the leaders. NOMIN was taken very wide into the home stretch and tired. THREE BEES was held safe. DARK LOVE tired fast when straightened into the home stretch. FOUL TIP was unable to race in a forward position after breaking clear.

FIFTH RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,200; allowances. The Fads and Fancies. For 3-year-old fillies. Start good from gates. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:05. Off at 4:10. Winner, A. Pelletti's b. f. (3), by St. Germans—Afternoon. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 3-5, 0:48 3-5, 1:08.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—MARLENE, $7.00, $4.20, $2.70; DELICACY, $5.30, $3.60; MARCIANA, $3.10.

MARLENE suited by the footing and following in close pursuit of the leaders, assumed command when straightened into the home stretch and, kept under pressure, held DELICACY safe. Latter improved her position on the outside, responded to punishment and finished with good speed. MARCIANA, stoutly ridden the entire trip, outstayed BRIGHT LUNA. Latter, taken out into the firmer footing when gaining command, was unable to keep pace in the final stages. BOSCOBEL, rushed into early contention, went well for the first half mile and weakened thereafter. MODERN QUEEN was outrun.

SIXTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:40. Off at 4:44½. Winner, Mrs. W. M. Jeffords' ch. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—GLORIA MARIS, $6.10, $4.10, $3.30; GENERAL COURT, $10.30, $6.90; WORLDLY LAD, $3.50.

GLORIA MARIS, sent into a slight lead for the first six furlongs, shook off DON ROMIRO and, holding on with rare courage, had enough left to stall off GENERAL COURT. Latter, going in improved fashion, but outrun for seven furlongs, came through on the inside entering the home stretch and was going gamely nearing the finish. WORLDLY LAD galloped off a mile before the start. He was rated within striking distance of the leaders and came gamely for the final test. DON ROMIRO weakened in the final half mile. DEXTRO had no excuses. TRIPLE THREAT, under punishment in the final half mile, was unable to threaten the leaders.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:10. Off at 5:12. Winner, J. E. Smallman's b. c. (4), by Pot Au Feu—Miss Patatine. Trained by G. Alexandra. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:25, 0:51, 1:16 2-5, 1:43, 1:58.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—GARLIC, $6.00, $3.80, $2.70; WAR SAINT, $5.50, $3.50; STAR LASSIE, $3.20.

GARLIC, restrained off the early pace, gained stoutly when moving up on the outside approaching the far turn, came through on the inside of WAR SAINT in the final sixteenth mile and was up in the few strides. WAR SAINT, steadied in front, shook off repeated efforts from ERA, came wide during the stretch run, but continued stoutly. STAR LASSIE, a stout factor the entire trip, swung wide into the home stretch, then continued courageously. DANGEROUS finished seventh, but was placed fourth through error. GULLY JUMPER, slow to get going, closed a big gap. Latter was used up forcing the pace and tired.

MIDGET TEAM ORGANIZED.

The Lionel and Swann's Men's Shop Midgets have joined forces and will place a team in the midget division of The Posts' Capital City League. Howard Mann will manage the team, and Harold Melman will act as business manager. Morris, Seal, Sabatini, Boroni, and Chalfonte have been signed. The team will drill Saturday at 11 a. m. on the West Ellipse diamond.

SKINKERS DRILL.

Skinker Eagles will practice this afternoon beginning at 5 o'clock on the diamond at Wisconsin avenue and Upton street.

AGRICULTURAL GOLF.

The Department of Agriculture Golf Association will hold its first informal tournament of the season at East Potomac Park tomorrow. The association has a membership of 110 linksmen.

EDWARDS NAMED PILOT.

Charles Edwards was reelected manager of the Columbus Heights Business Men's Association nine at a meeting held at the Arcade Bowling Alleys. Abbie Clark was chosen business manager. The team will play in the Capital City League again this year.

Gulf A. C. Nine Adds Many Stars to Roster

George Dingler, manager of the Gulf A. C., has signed quite a number of stars for the team which will perform in the Industrial League, and play independent ball over the weekends. Included on the roster are Ralph Bennie, Burdette, Charley Dingler, Benny Mensh, Barr, "Lefty" Stevens, Joe Miller, Sherman Johnson, Abbie Clark, "Lefty" Baker and Jakie Lewis.

The team would like to book games with strong unlimited teams, either away or at home. Business Manager Johnson is arranging the schedule. He can be addressed at Box 84, Rosslyn, Va., or reached by telephone at West 1400, during the day.

NATS FORCED TO IDLE; HOPE TO PLAY TODAY

games the series with the Red Sox before the Nats open fire against the Athletics on Sunday and Monday and Johnson makes no secret of his ambition to score a clean sweep and fortify himself against any reverses that may be encountered at the hands of the A's and the Yankees. The Red Sox every year have been easy pickings for the Nats, but Russell has shown a worrisome faculty of being able to beat the Washington Club.

Despite the clever pitching that Crowder displayed, the Red Sox are no great shucks as an offensive club, with only Webb and Pickering boasting a dangerous punch. The batting outside of these two is spotted with weak-hitting lads, and it is the pitching staff of MacFayden, Russell, Lisenbee, Durham and Donahue that is carrying Boston's hopes. The club's defense, outside of Van Camp, at first base, is quite tolerable.

Manager Johnson's pitching program for the remainder of the week, including next Sunday's game in Washington, is already mapped. Following Marberry against the Red Sox tomorrow will be Carl Fischer and Monte Weaver in the Thursday and Friday games here.

Alvin Crowder has earned his chance at the Athletics in Philadelphia on Saturday not only in view of his impressive performance on opening day, but because of the fact that he has been a pet enigma to the world champions and last year amassed a string of five straight victories over Philadelphia. Marberry will be sent back against the Mackmen on Sunday in Washington.

Johnson is congratulating himself on the presence of Johnny Kerr, who was thrown in as ballast in the deal last winter with the White Sox. Kerr gives the Nats ample protection at shortstop until Joe Cronin rejoins the club on Saturday for the game at Philadelphia.

Young Jimmy McLeod, turned back by the Chattanooga Lookouts, will be the other extra infielder to be carried by the Nats, temporarily at least. McLeod will join the team here tomorrow morning.

arm extension. Londos is about 40 times faster on his feet and knows more about the game, but Pinetzki is no neophyte, having been champion of Europe long enough to have his ears cauliflowered. He looks strong enough to hold Londos in one of his banana-bunch hands.

Promoter Turner has lured some new and strange huskies here for the preliminaries. Tony De Vito, who claims victories over everybody but Mahatma Gandhi, rassles George McLeod, George Manich faces Oscar Negrim, Howard Cantonwine has to do with George Hagen, and Fred Grobmeier is rematched with Frank Speers, their last engagement having been unsatisfactory.

JESSEE WILL COACH.

Hartford, Conn., April 12 (A.P.).—Daniel E. Jessee, graduate student at Columbia University and former major league baseball player, was appointed head football coach at Trinity College today.

FRANC JEWELERS MEET.

The Franc Jewelers will meet Friday night at 7 o'clock at French's Sport Shop. All players are requested to report. Practice sessions are scheduled for Saturday and Sunday at 2:30 p. m. on the Potomac Heights field.

CAPITALS WOULD PLAY.

The Capital Midgets are angling for games. Goodacre's Cooffee Pot nine and the National Pale Drys are especially challenged. Call Lincoln 9211-W.

DEAR AL: BOWIE RACE TRACK.

Bowie is putting on a program for today worthy of the large crowds that have been turning out. The Baltimore Handicap with $5,000 added, is the big money offered the horsemen, but chief interest of John Public will center in the 1932 debut of C. V. Whitney's Equipoise.

Today's news item: Price of horse feed went up a cent a bushel. Expect somebody to let a sleeper loose today. If you must play 'em, try these:

B'AR HUNTER'S victory over Wotan recently stamps E. R. Bradley's Black Servant colt as a logical choice in the Baltimore Handicap. Jimmy Smith had his charge well in hand at the end of that race over the same route as today. Works have been good is the report. SNOBFUL had little chance, as the race was run against Towee, and with better racing luck today can take second money. LIGHTNING BOLT won the last two in Florida. Is a probable favorite and may take it all.

Freddy Hopkins has EQUIPOISE primed for bigger and better races, and the Whitney star seems ready to start 1932 with a victory. Seems to be a lot better than all the pounds he must give away. ON TAP won easily here and should be second. HYGRO will be making his first start and is a dangerous animal.

FIRST RACE — SNOWDRIFT has been scratched with a race like this in view. Said to be a fast filly and may take the long end of this purse at the first asking. SWEET CHARIOT, another first-time starter, is named for second ahead of ST. CHRISTOPHER which is experienced but appears to lack class.

SECOND RACE—FERVOR showed a fine performance the last time and I look for him to come right back today with another as good. The opposition is about the same. GENERAL LEJUNE was picked to beat much better horses than these last year and may be second. POP GAFFNEY for third money.

THIRD RACE — AL GREEN has worked well and has the necessary speed to come home ahead of these platters. That No. 1 post position should not hinder his chances, now that the track is drying out. THE HEATHEN, always a threat among these kind, can get second money. GAY PARTY ran third in a better field.

SIXTH RACE—STRONGHEART is about due for a winning purse. Has a little more weight than some of the leading contenders but I believe that handicap can be made up with a good ride. EAGER PLAY was not himself the other day. May improve a lot and make it mighty tough for the top one. RUANE has shown speed here and should be third.

SEVENTH RACE—Expect enough scratching here to move all of my selections out of the also eligible list. FAIR BILL ran well during the winter and seems to be in a spot where he can score. The honest JUDGE CAVERLY for second and NEALON KAY for third.

Mother Carey's Chickens Beaten in Own Backyard

was a gracious favor to Spohrer, for the catcher needed money and Shires was kind enough to give him a chance to make it. That Shires knocked him out was a matter for no resentment whatever.

The passenger accommodations in left and center fields, exposed to the sweep of a malicious April wind, were only slightly patronized in their two spacious decks and Wilson therefore was unable to meet the public which will become his own personal following, for better or for worse, when summer comes. Sometimes, in Brooklyn, an artist's public is more inclined to pursue than follow him.

In the old main wings of the plant, however, the patrons were crowded, elbow to elbow, below and aloft, and they exploded a summary blast of yelps as the athletes of both clubs, more than fifty head altogether, fell into a straggling file behind the band and waded out to the flag pole for the indispensable ceremonies. Johnny Evers, who played a fairish sort of a game of ball when he was younger, remarked that there was enough personnel in uniform to have manned the stations of five teams when he was active.

A mischievous customer tossed a couple of bunches of firecrackers onto the lot, where they fizzed and spat in the mud as the boys disappeared to their knees in the soggy outfield and the season was on in Brooklyn.

Max Carey, the new manager, was boldly evident on the coaching lines, unlike Uncle Wilbert, who in his latter years seldom revealed himself to the trade, and he made several quick decisions as to who was to hit for whom in the seventh inning when the boys were striving to win the ball game.

This was a strange method in Brooklyn, where for years Old Uncle Wilbert selected his pinch hitters and his relief pitchers with a jury wheel. Judged by results up to now, Uncle Wilbert's system was just as good.

Hoyt pitched until the fifth inning when he went away tossing his glove and pretending not to care. In this inning and the one before, he had seemed to be going along prosperously only to meet embarrassment with two men out. In the fourth, he walked three hitters and two others tagged him all for a total of three runs. In the fifth, under similar conditions, Berger Schulmerich and Shires singled and Hoyt withdrew, leaving Hollis Thurston a bad lie. Urbanski had doubled in the fourth and now he greeted Thurston with the one that splashed in the ooze at Wilson's back.

The ceremonial first ball was reported to have been thrown in by some local politician, but nobody ever pays any attention to such things any more and whether a first ball was formally thrown and by whom is one thing that posterity will simply have to worry along in ignorance of.

Central and St. John Golfers Play Saturday

Central High School's golf team will make its debut Saturday in a match with the St. John's team at the East Potomac Park. Ted Duvall will captain the team this year. Other members are Arthur Slater, Neal Turner, Lew Jacobs, Kenneth Bennett, and Bud Parks. Other matches have been arranged with Georgetown Prep, the freshman teams of Georgetown, Catholic University, and George Washington University, Tech, Western, and Swavely. One is pending with Baltimore City College.

Interest in the Central interfraternity championship is running high. Thirty-two entries have been received and more are expected. David Miller and Kenneth Bennett, defending champions, are favored to retain their title.

M. U. SCHEDULE ENLARGED.

Three matches have been added to the Maryland University tennis schedule. The Old Line netmen will entertain Washington and Lee on April 18 and visit the Generals at Lexington on May 4. American University will play host to the Old Liners on April 27.

PREPS ORGANIZE GOLF LEAGUE

Elect Officers And Adopt Schedule

G. U. Prep to Stage Scholastic Tournament in May.

Weaver Wins Fleming Trophy in Bankers' Annual Play.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

THE fact that interest in golf is seriously developing in the younger generation was demonstrated last night when the District of Columbia Prep Golf League was organized at a meeting held at the new Willard Hotel, representatives of five schools being present. Officers were elected and a schedule of team games for the season was adopted.

George Richards, Devitt, was elected president and the list of officers was completed as follows: Gordon Zubrod, Georgetown Prep, vice president; John McMahon, Gonzaga, recording secretary; Richard Lunn, Friends, corresponding secretary, and Francis Ortman, St. John's, treasurer. These officers are the managers of the golf teams of their respective schools. Ortman was named as chairman of the schedule committee. Among others present were the Rev. Earl J. Carpenter, S. J., Gonzaga High School; John H. Finn and F. Edmond Donoghue, Georgetown Prep; H. F. Child and R. C. Mell, Devitt, and F. Simmons, George Washington.

Teams Limited to 4 Players.

It was decided to limit each team to four players with matches played in foursomes, with one point for each individual contest and one point for best ball. Each team will play five matches and the tentative schedule announced is as follows:

April 17—St. John's vs. Georgetown and Friends vs. Georgetown, the latter school having entered two teams. April 19—St. John's vs. Friends. April 22—Gonzaga vs. Georgetown. April 23—Friends vs. Gonzaga. April 26—Devitt vs. St. John's. April 28—Friends vs. Devitt. April 29—Gonzaga vs. Devitt. April 30—Devitt vs. Georgetown.

May 5—St. John's vs. Gonzaga. May 6—Devitt vs. Gonzaga. May 7—Friends vs. Gonzaga. May 7—St. John's vs. Devitt. May 10—St. John's vs. Devitt. May 12—Devitt vs. Friends. May 13—Gonzaga vs. Georgetown. May 15—Friends vs. Georgetown. May 16—St. John's vs. Georgetown. May 27—Georgetown vs. Devitt. May 27—St. John's vs. Gonzaga.

On the 20th of May the Georgetown Prep School will stage an invitation tournament for all prep school players. The first day will be devoted to a qualification round, followed by two rounds of match play on the 21st and 22d. The winner of the low gross score in the qualification round will be presented with a medal and the winner of the tournament will receive a prize. The school represented by the winner will be awarded the R. Harris Trophy. The winning team in the league will be given the Spalding Trophy. In addition to the matches arranged for the local schedule the Georgetown Prep team has a number of contests with teams representing schools in Maryland and Virginia.

Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, District woman golf champion, not only led the field in the miniature tournament of the Women's District Golf Association on the course of the Indian Spring Club yesterday with a score of 31 for six holes, but won the tournament by defeating Mrs. J. F. Gross, also an Indian Spring member, 2 and 1, in the final round. The tournament was marked by several extended matches, two ending on the tenth hole and one going as far as the eleventh, Mrs. J. W. Harvey, Indian Spring, being victor over Mrs. Fred Holtzman in the latter match. The summary:

First flight—Mrs. Betty P. Meckley defeated Miss Virginia Pope, Kenwood, 2 up; Mrs. J. F. Gross, Indian Spring, defeated Mrs. J. F. Dowdall, Consressional, 1 up. Final round—Mrs. Meckley defeated Mrs. Gross, 2 and 1.

Second flight—Mrs. J. William Harvey defeated Mrs. Leo Walper, 1 up; Mrs. Fred Holtzman defeated Mrs. George Diffenbaugh, 2 and 1. Final round—Mrs. Harvey defeated Mrs. Holtzman, 1 up, 11 holes.

Third flight—Mrs. L. T. Hedrick defeated Mrs. A. M. Neff, 7 up, 10 holes; Mrs. Frank S. Keefer defeated Mrs. J. H. Bullock, 2 up. Final round—Mrs. Keefer defeated Mrs. Hedrick, 2 and 1.

Fourth flight—Mrs. McCook Knox defeated Mrs. Morrill, 4 and 2; Mrs. J. T. Powell defeated Mrs. Kleberg, 3 and 2. Final round—Mrs. Powell defeated Mrs. Knox by default.

Fifth flight—Mrs. Hewitt defeated Mrs. F. J. Kennedy, 1 up, 10 holes; Mrs. Snow defeated Mrs. D. M. McPherson, 1 up. Final round—Mrs. Hewitt defeated Mrs. Snow, 3 and 4.

Sixth flight—Mrs. Huston Harper defeated Mrs. Yager, 2 and 1; Mrs. Amorous defeated bye. Final round—Mrs. Harper defeated Mrs. Amorous, 1 up.

The annual golf tournament of the District Bankers Association was held yesterday on the course of the Columbia Country Club. The principal trophy, the Robert V. Fleming cup, eighteen holes medal play handicap for bank officers, was won by R. A. Weaver, of the Chevy Chase Bank, with a score of 90—18—72, and the low gross for bank officers was won by John F. Brawner, with a card of 40—39—79. The first low net prize in the directors' class was won by Ralph P. Barnard, District National, with 90—18—72, and for the second low net there was a triple tie between Robert S. Stuntz, Park Savings, 88—15—73; I. W. Shoemaker, Liberty, 88—15—73, and Charles H. Doing, jr., Washington Loan & Trust, 83—10—73.

At the meeting of the board of governors of the Indian Spring Club last night, the proposition that the club hold a spring invitation tournament was decided adversely. The recommendation that Mrs. J. William Harvey, jr., be appointed as chairman of the women's golf committee and that Mrs. J. V. Brownell be named as captain of the women's team was approved.

FITZGERALD BREAKS ARM.

Joe (Handsome) Fitzgerald, who caught for the D. C. Repair Shop nine in the Departmental League last year, and was being counted on to hold down the initial sack this season, is definitely out of action for the year. Fitz was rendered hors d' combat when a ladder collapsed while he was doing some work at the Second District Police Headquarters. He broke his left arm in the accident. Last year his ability was impaired to some extent by an injured hip.

Eastern, Western Delayed By Weather, to Play Today

Opening Championship Game at Eastern Finds Home Team Favored; Lanahan and Raedy to Duel in Box.

CALLED off because of a damp diamond and a high wind, the initial appearance of Eastern in the high school baseball series, scheduled yesterday against Western, will be held this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock on Eastern Field.

The same pitching selections, Lanahan for Eastern, and Raedy for Western, are likely to prevail, but there is a strong probability that Bill Payne, ace of the Western staff, will see service during the game.

Eastern is admittedly weaker than last year, and would have been listed among the likely also rans of the series but for the entrance of five expert former Gonzaga athletes into the school.

The youths, Joe and Carl Mills, shortstop and catcher; Francis Cleary, pitcher; Dick Fitzgerald, second base, and Tom Nolan, outfielder, make Eastern a favorite to repeat its annual triumph in the schoolboy league. The team, with Dick Lanahan twirling fine ball, has won the pennant for the last four seasons. It was last beaten in a high school series game in 1927. Today it will be attempting its nineteenth consecutive series win, and it is highly favored to accomplish the feat.

Western Handicapped By Hitting Weakness.

Western has not much in the way of diamond talent this year save Payne. It is particularly weak at the plate.

The postponement of the game caused Western to set back its proposed clash with Gonzaga today until a later date. Business vies for some of the spotlight today when it entertains Swavely, probably at the Monument grounds.

Today's big attraction, however—excepting the series ball game—is the annual field and track program put on by the Central High Parent and Teacher Club at Central Stadium for the big Blue and White squad. Seventeen events in all have been listed, and will be run off beginning at 3:15 o'clock. The meet is open only to Central trackmen who have not won a letter.

Hitting the Head Pin

By LEWIS F. ATCHISON

BRONSON QUAITES treats her Beeques team to dinner whenever they win three games in the Washington Ladies League. Fair enough. But Bronson owes them breakfast, luncheon and dinner today, because the Beeques won all three from the Veterans Bureau and tied the Columbias for the league leadership. The latter team could win but two of its games from the Hilltoppers. The matches were contested at Columbia.

Billie Butler's 342 set, and Catherine Crawley's 139 game furnished the individual highlights. The B. Q's speared team honors with a three-game total of 1,575, and game of 549. The season ends next week, and the teams are busier than Floyd Gibbons describing a battle royal, with their preparations.

Lucy Owen topped the individual scoring in the Eastern Star League at Lucky Strike last night, as usual. Her best game was 121, and her set a 339. Just like that! Washington Centennial No. 1, landed the team honors, as usual. Its high game was 503, and its set 1,469.

Section C, No. 5, captured the pennant in the Income Tax Unit League as the teams crossed the finish line at Lucky Strike last night. Securities was lodged in the runner-up position, with Section C, No. 8, third.

Jimmy Jalloff won the individual championship of the loop. He averaged an even 114 for the grind. He was also credited with three sets over the 400 mark, 408, 406 and 436. The latter, incidentally, was a new record for the 31-team organization.

As sort of a chaser after the long season, the members of the league will indulge in a handicap sweepstakes Friday night at Lucky Strike. Already 125 members are entered, and this number is expected to be doubled when the event is officially opened.

Mickey Vitale landed the largest bowling score to take the top prize in the Columbia Heights Business Men's League Sweepstakes rolled at Arcadia last night. His games of 115, 153, 121, totaled 389. "Mag" Wood was second, six pins behind the winner. "Mag", tickled the timber for games of 134, 124 and 125. "Red" Rhodes was third by virtue of his 370 set, comprised of 110, 118 and 142 games. Harry Wolfe's 366 copped fourth place, and Chester Bild's 364 enabled him to cross the line fifth.

Charley Wetzel's 133 game and E. Moyer's 351 set were high in the North Washington Church League, at Columbia. Emory clinched the team money with a 585 game and 1,630 set.

Capital Sportsmen Aid Olympic Fund

Seek Means to Raise D. C. Quota of $5,000 at Meeting Today.

Local sportsmen will gather this afternoon at 4 o'clock, at the Army and Navy Club, to discuss ways and means of raising $5,000, the District of Columbia's quota of the funds which will defray the expense of American participation in the Olympic games this summer in California.

A committee will be named empowered to act as it sees fit in the raising of the money. It is understood that efforts will be made to gather the funds by methods aside from subscription. Informally it has been suggested and indorsed that a boxing show be staged, also a horse show and society circus at Fort Myer, and the revision of the District A. A. U. track meet into an Olympic tryout—a change which would bring many of the country's outstanding runners here and consequently find its reaction at the turnstiles.

Arthur Carr, local business man and sports enthusiast; Maj. William C. Rose, a member of the American Olympic committee, and Winfree Johnson, A. A. U. office holder, are the motivating spirits behind the meeting.

HEIGHTS TEAM BOOKING.

The Capitol Heights unlimited team wants a game Sunday with a club having a diamond. Call Capitol Heights 391.

TEAM SCHEDULES DRILL.

The Washington A. C. will drill today at 5 p. m. on the field at Eighteenth and Bay streets southeast. All players are requested to report promptly.

CONTRACTORS TO BE BUSY.

The members of the Bernizer Contracting Co. nine will be busy the remainder of the week, with drills scheduled every afternoon at 4:30 p. m. on the field at Third street and Missouri avenue. A practice game with the Hecht Co. nine is listed for Sunday at 11 a. m. on diamond No. 10 of the Monument grounds.

District Boatmen Called to Philly

Canoe Association Meeting Saturday Includes Basket Ball Games.

The semiannual meeting of the Middle States Canoe Racing Association will be held at the Exide Country Club, Philadelphia, Saturday, with a large local representation on hand. A general day of sports is planned. The Potomac Boat Club Scholastics, strong local court team, will participate in an elimination tournament in competition with the Penn A. C., Bristol A. C. and the Philadelphia Canoe Club.

Bowling, handball, ping pong and other sports are on the program. The allotment of regattas for the coming season is the major business of the meeting.

Washington already has been named the scene of the Middle States championships, to be held August 27, in connection with the George Washington Bicentennial Celebration. The regatta will be held over the Lincoln Memorial course, a half mile straightaway running down the Potomac and finishing immediately west of the new Arlington Memorial Bridge. The regatta will consist of fourteen senior and junior championship events.

Freezing Weather, Snow in Tigers' Lair

Detroit, April 12 (A.P.).—Snowballs instead of baseballs were tossed about Navin Field today, as the Detroit Tigers and Cleveland Indians called off the scheduled American League opener here because of snow and cold weather.

With the mercury at 27 above zero during the day, snow flurries covered the playing field with a winter blanket, and small boys had a snowball fight where the Tigers and Indians had planned to play baseball.

Frank Navin, president of the Detroit Club, said the opening game would be played tomorrow, providing the weather is favorable. The weather man has not offered much hope, predicting cloudy skies and little change in temperature.

League Head to Conduct Meeting of Unlimited Clubs

Col. Ericson Presides at Gathering of Capital City League Teams to Discuss Rules for Coming Season.

COL. HJALMAR ERICSON, president of the Capital City League, sponsored by The Post, will preside at a meeting of the unlimited division, the second held by this group, to be held tonight at 8 o'clock, in the office of the Playground Department at the District Building. Representatives of all teams entered in the league, and of those desiring to obtain franchises, are requested to attend.

The two most important subjects to be discussed concern the selection of an opening date, and the limitation of team rosters to fifteen players. Of the two, the roster discussion looms as the most important of the two. Several teams voiced their objections to such a ruling at the initial meeting, held last week. Several others approved of the measure. Col. Ericson will render a decision tonight which will be written into the rules.

The 1932 pennant chase, the ninth since the league was organized, promises to overshadow all others in interest and color. Sixteen clubs have already cast their lot with the loop, and several more are expected to apply for berths tonight. League officials had hoped to operate two eight-team divisions in the unlimited class this year, but the unprecedented response of the sadlotters to the call for teams may force them to enlarge each division to ten teams. A noticeable number of teams which have played only weekday ball in the past are lined up for Sunday action this season.

A. A. U. MAT FINALS DUE TONIGHT

8 Champions Will Be Crowned in Bouts at Boys' Club.

THE boys who buckle bones for gold medals and a little agate type publicity will go at it again tonight at the Boys' Club, when the final round of the District A. A. U. rassling tournament will be run off, with eight District titles at stake.

Action tonight will concern grapplers ranging from the 112-pound defending champion, Dell Shockley, a wiry young man, who was undefeated at Oklahoma A. and M. for three years, up to and including the giant and belligerent Jack Ballard, of the 200-pound division. The accredited weight divisions are 115, 125, 135, 145, 155, 165, 175 and unlimited.

Free from leering and all the circus stunts which are looked upon as part and parcel of the professional side of the game, tonight's amateur matches are expected to touch a new high for integrity and sincerity in the mat game hereabout. The sixteen finalists are in good shape and all predict victory.

Eight Matches On Program.

All eight matches may be viewed for the price of admission—50 cents. The first match starts at 8 o'clock. The Boys' Club is located at Third and C streets northwest.

Five champions will be called upon to defend their titles tonight. Dell Shockley is down to meet Frank Anderson, a fellow Y. M. C. A.'er, whom he has met almost as many times as Jim Londos has leered at Ray Steele. Jack Kosowsky, reigning 125-pounder, meets a fellow member of the J. C. C. in Herman Iskow. Harry Goldman, J. C. C. 155-pound champion, meets a first rater in P. M. Brothers. S. M. Wiscoker battles Johnnie Broaddus for the right to wear the 145-pound crown another year. R. J. Whitworth, Y. M. C. A. 165-pounder, is the fifth defending champion. He will meet D. W. Armstrong.

Some New Champions Assured.

New champions will be named in the 135-pound, the 175-pound and the unlimited divisions. The 135-pound issue lies between Fred Sargent, Y. M. C. A., and John Devine, from Fort Myer. Allan Cohen, of the J. C. C. forgot to show up Monday night, and his crown will be haggled over by Joe Paul, of the Y, and Al Tobby, of the J. C. C. The unlimited division final matches up John C. Ballard, perhaps the most colorful of all the boys, and George Turner.

Yost, Here, Upholds Revised Grid Rules

Veteran Michigan Coach Visits Local Schools and Sees Cherry Blossoms.

Fielding H. Yost, veteran football coach and sports director at the University of Michigan, has been making a tour of Dixie colleges and will stop off in Washington until the latter part of the week, visiting local coaches and "doing" the cherry blossoms.

Yost once more will not take an active part in the coaching of the 1932 Michigan team, his position as athletic adviser to the school's 15,000 student body taking most of his time. He attached no significance to his visits to nearby colleges.

One of the promulgators of the new rules in football, Yost strongly upheld the revised codes last night. The plight of the player has been notably lessened. Never has the game been fundamentally more safe, the veteran coach stated. He believed from a spectator's standpoint there will be little visible difference in the game as played last year and the game which will be played starting next season.

He regards the new dead ball rule—which provides for the stopping of play when any part of a player except his feet come in contact with the ground—as rather drastic, but the only means of stopping the virile undergraduate practice of "piling on."

Gleason's "Pat" Fails To Help Earnshaw

Philadelphia, April 12 (A.P.).—It wasn't Kid Gleason's fault that Ruth, Byrd, et al. knocked George Earnshaw out of the box today.

The veteran Athletic's coach left his sickbed, donned an old baseball shirt and was on hand to give Earnshaw the pat on the shoulder without which neither he nor Lefty Grove would take the mound. The pat from Gleason is a superstition with the two hurlers.

The coach was unable to accompany the team to Fort Myers, Fla., this spring for the first time in years on account of a stomach ailment. He is recovering now.

Goslin Is Denied Use Of Camouflaged Bat But Slams Out 3 Hits

Chicago, April 12 (A.P.).—"Goose" Goslin wasn't allowed to use his new famous camouflaged bat in the opener against the White Sox today, but he got sweet revenge just the same.

Tossing aside his "prisoner's" bat, a forbidding looking willow painted with black and white stripes running lengthwise, the St. Louis outfielder grabbed the first one he saw along the dugout and hammered out two doubles and a single in four times at bat, driving in one run and scoring another.

Third in the batting order, he strolled to the plate waiving his camouflaged mace. Umpire Harry Geisel, who had conferred with President Harridge on the legality of the striped bat, stepped in and ordered him to get another one. The "Goose" argued for a minute, displaying his treasure to Umpire Geisel and Catcher Grube, of the White Sox, and then gave up the struggle.

"There is nothing in the rules to stop me from using it," he objected, "and I intend to find out why. I'll admit I'm not in good arguing form yet. It's too early in the season."

Willis Johnson, secretary of the Browns, is the designer of the bat. He and Goslin believe it will confuse the pitcher and infielders.

ROAD LAW TO CUT TAXES, REID HOLDS

Tells Rosslyn Civic League Arlington County Should Save $133,000.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST,
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Addressing the meeting of the Rosslyn Precinct Civic League held last night in the auditorium of the Woodrow Wilson School at Fort Myer Heights Hugh Reid, delegate to the General Assembly from Arlington County, declared the county should benefit by at least a 20 per cent reduction in its taxes by remaining under the provisions of the Byrd road law. A 20 per cent reduction means approximately a saving of $133,000.

Reid contended that the State, by taking over the roads systems of the 100 counties, can accomplish more in construction and maintenance with $5,500,000 than the counties can with $6,500,000.

The citizens of Arlington County have no need to fear that the State will not take care of the needs of the county, as it well recognizes the fact that the county is the gateway to the South and an adequate road system is most necessary, he said. He stated further in support of this view that it was largely due to the sale of gasoline that the State road fund is raised and without adequate roads they will not be traveled.

Attacking Reid's statement that the county would benefit by a saving of at least 20 per cent in its taxes by remaining under the Byrd act, Chairman Harry A. Fellows, of the county board, declared that the county should perhaps save twice that amount if road work in the county was stopped.

"The citizens of the county are better informed of its road needs than are the authorities at Richmond and we have no assurance of what we will get," Fellows declared.

"It may be true that a majority of the counties in the State will benefit by this bill but not Arlington County, situated as it is, adjacent to a city," he stated.

"The best feature of the bill, as I see it," said Fellows, "is the fact that it provides for the calling of an election in order that the voters of the county may say whether or not it is best to stay in the bill. I trust petitions will be circulated and the voters fully informed as to what the bill means to the county."

The league unanimously adopted a resolution offered by Dr. Victor Meyers providing for the calling of a special election on the question.

The Arlington Post, American Legion, at its meeting in the Boy Scout Hall at Ballston last night, voted to petition the county board for permission to sponsor amateur boxing in accordance with the provisions of an act passed by the General Assembly at its recent session.

A committee from the post will appear before the county board at its meeting Saturday morning at the courthouse.

Jack Dempsey Faces Ring Ban in 42 States

Jackson, Miss., April 12 (A.P.).—Bob Morrow, chairman of the Mississippi Athletic Commission, said today that Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, will face suspension in 42 States unless he files a formal answer to charges arising from his appearance on a "Dempsey Day" boxing program at Columbus in November, 1930.

The commission has arranged a meeting Friday to consider the charges. Morrow specified the answer must be filed before that time or action toward Dempsey's suspension will be taken. The charges are concerned with debts left in the wake of the "Dempsey Day" program. Creditors attempting to collect the bills left by the promoter were told Dempsey was a partner in sponsoring the bout. Dempsey denies he had any interest in the program aside from being employed to referee the fight.

PORTNEY WINNER AS JALLOS PEDALS

folk, in the other eight-round affairs. In the preliminaries Young Van, local middleweight, scored his fifth straight kayo victory at the expense of Sailor Potter, of Norfolk, and Harry Groves, Baltimore featherweight, outpointed Buddy Grimes, of Norfolk.

Overlin, a methodical puncher who wastes little effort, sent D'Alessandro, a stablemate of Jallos, to the canvas for no count in the second round with a whistling right to the whiskers. Many more of these blows found Tony's upper structure, but the Italian managed to remain vertical until the end.

In the fifth D'Alessandro took the offensive, scoring heavily at close quarters as the sailor missed, but Overlin returned to his best form in the sixth to finish impressively. Solid left hooks to the stomach, overhand and uppercut rights to the head and chest spouted from Overlin's artillery in rapid order.

Boxer-Slugger Clash.

The Bowen-Bashara brawl was one of those boxer-slugger epics with Bowen outsmarting his smaller opponent to win going away. In the last three stanzas the local boy elected to slug it out, and though shaken up by several of Tootsie's shots, succeeded at the other man's own game. Bashara throughout the bout was too anxious to plant his lightning right on Bowen's chin, the result being numerous wild swings that stirred up a breeze for ringsiders.

Young Van disposed of Sailor Potter after 2 minutes 54 seconds of the second round. Van's patented two-fisted body attack with variations—blows that wandered and finally settled on the head—were much too lusty for Potter's health. Harry Groves had to step lively to earn the decision over Buddy Grimes but emerged from four sizzling rounds with a popular verdict.

THOMPSONS WIN, 5-4.

Hollidge hurled the Thompson Furniture Co. Team to a 5-4 victory over St. Anthony's High School in a well-played game yesterday. The winners want more games. Call Business Manager Dawson at North 2843-J.

BETHESDA SEEKS ACTION.

The Bethesda A. C. would like to book a game with an unlimited team having a diamond for Sunday. Teams interested should call Bradley 80 between 6 and 7:30 p. m. The club is scheduled to meet the Virginia White Sox April 24.

Prince Georges Takes Steps To Protect Bank Depositors

All Institutions in County Must Post Security, Commissioners Decide; Petition Protests Proposed Removal of Beltsville Crossing Watchman.

All banks in which Prince Georges County funds are deposited will be required to post security for the money in their possession, the board of county commissioners decided yesterday in an executive session.

At present only sinking fund accounts are protected by the posting of collateral security, or by depository bonds, it was said. The new measure is designed to protect the money kept in current or checking accounts.

At their regular meeting yesterday the commissioners received a petition bearing 120 names and protesting against the proposal to remove the watchman and gates at the railroad crossing in Beltsville. The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co. had requested permission to substitute flashing lights for the watchman service. In their request officials of the line said there was some sentiment in the neighborhood for the change, which would provide 24-hour protection to traffic, whereas the watchman is on duty only about 12 hours. No action was taken on the request yesterday.

The commissioners decided to spend $300 for Bicentennial markers to show the spots in Prince Georges County visited by George Washington, and to show the roads he used. They also indorsed the Buy-in-Maryland campaign sponsored by Raymond W. Bellamy, Federal director of unemployment.

The board approved a change in zoning of lots 328 and 329 in Cedar Heights from residential to commercial. The change was asked by Thomas W. Dorsey, and it is understood that a store will be erected on the lots. A delegation of Maryland Park citizens appeared before the board to ask that the grade of the new roadway in that town be examined by the commissioners, which was agreed to. The delegation said that the grade was bad and that water from the road was draining into the front yards along the road. J. Oliver Hill, on behalf of the colored Parent-Teacher Association of the county, asked that free bus transportation to all colored high schools be provided. He was referred to the school board.

AUDIT OF COUNTY'S SCHOOL FUNDS SET

Move of Montgomery Board of Education Aimed to Reassure Residents.

Audit of the accounts of the Montgomery County Board of Education for the last six years was ordered yesterday by the board at its meeting in Rockville. The action was taken on the recommendation of Superintendent of Schools Edwin W. Broome. The firm of R. G. Rankin & Co., which recently audited the accounts of the county for the last sixteen years will be retained to make the audit. The board's accounts will be audited annually.

The audit will include the quarterly statements, and the annual accounts of the board of education and is to be completed in time for the annual report. The decision was made to reassure the residents of the county that the school board accounts are in good shape and largely as a result of the alleged shortages found in the accounts of the former clerk to the county commissioners, Berry E. Clark.

Commencement dates for the senior high schools of the county were fixed as follows: Takoma-Silver Spring and Gaithersburg High Schools, June 7; Rockville, Poolesville, and Fairland High Schools, June 8; Bethesda-Chevy Chase, Damascus, Sherwood, and Dickerson High Schools, June 9; Rockville colored school, May 13.

The board received a resolution from the Kensington Board of Trade asking that the proposed consolidated high school for the eastern suburban district be located at a point convenient to Kensington and Garrett Park. A delegation from the Damascus Parent-Teacher Association asked that the board consider establishment of additional transportation for the school and suggested consolidation with the Damascus High School, which the board took under advisement. A petition from the White Oak-Colesville section asking location of a high school adjacent to the White Oak-Colesville road was received.

Plans for the annual athletic meet for the public school children were approved. The meet is to be held May 7 at the Rockville Fair Grounds.

Ruling to Be Asked On Tax Year Dates

Maryland Commission Will Decide Issue Raised in Riverdale.

The Maryland State Tax Commission will be asked to decide when the tax year in the State begins and ends, it appeared yesterday when Attorney Frank M. Stephens said he expected to appeal an order by the Prince Georges County board of commissioners that all buildings completed when the levy is signed be taxed for the current year.

The order of the board means that buildings completed between January 1 and the signing of the levy, late in March, will be assessed with their full tax. Mr. Stephens contends that only buildings completed on the first of the year should be taxed. He represents John J. L. Berlin, who owns the Sanitary Grocery store building in Riverdale.

Whether the tax bills rendered on July 1 represent an assessment for the calendar year, for the fiscal year just beginning, or for that just passed, has never been decided. The State tax commission is expected to clear up this point in passing on the validity of the county commissioner's order. If the assessment is for the calendar year, it was pointed out, buildings not complete on the first should not be taxed, as their owner does not have the use of them for the entire year.

REZONING PETITION GRANTED IN COUNTY

Montgomery Commissioners Approve Plea of Hahn; Will Erect Building.

The Montgomery County commissioners yesterday voted to grant the petition of Albert G. Hahn for the rezoning from residential "A" to commercial "D" of the triangle at Bradley boulevard, River road and Potomac road, for use as a flower and fruit shop and gasoline station. Plans for the building must be approved by the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission.

The commissioners approved attendance at the State sanitary inspector's school of W. Ernest Offutt, newly appointed sanitary inspector for the county. Mr. Offutt will go Monday to Annapolis for the school, which is a short course provided by the State Department of Health. The road from Glenn to Piney Meeting House road was ordered closed until further notice for construction work.

The commissioners received the usual request of the Montgomery County Social Service League asking that it be appointed the general county agent for welfare work in the county and that an appropriation of $10,000 be made for such work by the commissioners. The request also asked that an additional sum of $1,000 be appropriated for probation work in connection with the county juvenile court. The request was approved by the commissioners.

The commissioners approved the new regulations and ordinances of section 2 and part of section 1, known as the Village of Chevy Chase, which provide for a health officer, building inspector and several police regulations. A petition was received from Rufus C. Satterfield, asking permission to operate a golf pitching course at Silver Spring just north of 7906 Georgia avenue.

The report of the county police court at Rockville for March showed fines and costs of $1,598 collected in criminal cases, of which $760 goes to the motor-vehicle commissioner, $25 to the State game warden and the balance to the county police fund. Costs collected in civil cases totaled $43. Sheriff Richard H. Lansdale reported collection of $270.05 in civil fees in March.

Warrant Invalid, Man Freed in Raid

Forestville Club's Alleged Proprietor Wins in His Appeal.

Because the search warrant on which the Forestville Club was raided was invalid, Benjamin F. Morris, alleged proprietor, was freed yesterday when his appeal on charges of keeping a slot machine was tried in Prince Georges County Circuit Court. He was convicted last summer, shortly after the raid, when the case was tried in police court. A jury to try Morris had been impaneled when State's Attorney Alan Bowie moved to have the charges dismissed.

A jury decided that Strother M. Taliaferro, Washington taxi driver, was not guilty of driving his car while drunk, after he said that the colored man who had been driving the auto jumped out and ran when policemen approached. Taliaferro had been convicted in police court.

Luther Colbert, colored, pleaded guilty to assault and battery on Thornton Allen in a fraternity house in College Park. Colbert was alleged to have cut Allen so badly that 31 stitches were required to close the wound. Sentence of Colbert was not pronounced yesterday.

Fairfax Firemen Decide To Start Building Quarters

The Volunteer Fire Department at Fairfax, Va., last night voted to proceed immediately with the erection of a new fire engine house. The new home will be built according to the plans of a special committee consisting of the president, James E. Nickell, Thomas P. Chapman, sr., and John M. Whalen.

The specifications call for a glazed tile construction, being 22 feet wide, 50 feet long, and one story high. In the rear of the engine room space will be used for meetings and a recreation hall. The site which was selected is on Mechanics street, near the town hall. The land was donated by W. F. Carne, owner of the Fairfax Herald.

The department also ordered a new truck, which will be used as a chemical and hose wagon in auxiliary to the large pumper.

The town council of Vienna, Va., has voted to erect a dam 18 feet long and 6 feet high across Piney Branch, which flows through the center of the town, to be used for fire protection purposes. The council for the past several years has contemplated this project, which will impound sufficient water to protect the entire business section. Councilman Joseph E. Berry and Fred N. Hagman have been appointed to take charge of the construction at once.

Mayor Edgar T. Bennett, who has served the town for the past two years, has announced that he will be a candidate to succeed himself subject to the town election to be held on June 14.

Mrs. Joseph L. Crupper has been reelected president of the Women's Club of Falls Church, Va. Mrs. Henry Knowles has been elected vice president; Mrs. J. H. Hill, treasurer; Mrs. J. Stanley Higgins, recording secretary, and Mrs. W. H. Weeks, corresponding secretary. Mrs. Knowles was selected delegate to the State convention of the Federation of Women's Clubs, which will be held in Norfolk next month. The president will attend the convention ex-officio.

Sweepstakes, a silver bowl, was won by Miss Martha Harris, of Aldie.

Silver medal, given by the Garden Club of America for the most outstanding exhibit, was won by Miss Mary Bierne, of Ashland, for her collection of seedlings.

The judges were B. Y. Morrison, of Washington; Erio Van Waveren, of New York; Edwin C. Powell, of Sligo, Md.; Miss Rose Greely, of Washington; Mrs. William Massie, of Greenwood, Va., and Mrs. D. C. Sands, of Middleburg, Va.

Mrs. Floyd Harris, of Aldie, Va., was chairman of the narcissus test committee of Virginia, and Mrs. Louis S. Scott, of Alexandria, was chairman of the show.

The annual meeting of the Alexandria Business and Professional Women's Club was held last night in the George Mason Hotel, when the following officers were elected:

Mrs. Charles M. Shepperson, president; Mrs. D. C. Book, vice president; Mrs. Robert A. Bowman, recording secretary; Miss Ida Hill, corresponding secretary, and Miss Adelyn Apperson, treasurer.

These officers will represent the club as delegates at the annual convention of the Virginia Federation of Business and Professional Womens Clubs to be held in Suffolk, Va., May 20 and 21, together with Mrs. Windsor Demaine, Mrs. Otis H. Hullings, Mrs. Charles A. Power. Alternates are Mrs. Mary W. Troth, Miss Eleanor Watkins; Miss Florence Long and Miss Minnie Herndon.

Addresses will be delivered by seven speakers at the annual district meeting of Group No. 1 of the Virginia Pharmaceutical Association, today in the George Mason Hotel, Alexandria. Walter S. Nicklin, of Alexandria, vice president of the association, will preside and H. C. Littlejohn, of Leesburg, will be master of ceremonies.

Those scheduled to talk are Dean Worthy P. Rudd, of the School of Pharmacy, Medical College of Virginia; Dean W. Paul Briggs, of the School of Pharmacy, George Washington University; Dr. W. G. Crockett, professor of pharmacy at the Medical College of Virginia; Dr. R. L. Swain, editor of the Maryland Pharmacist, Baltimore; Allen R. Cross, of Norfolk; A. L. I. Winne, secretary of the Virginia Pharmaceutical Association, and Edward S. Leadbeater, of Alexandria.

Addresses of welcome will be delivered by Mayor Edmund F. Ticer and Dan S. Hollenga, business manager of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce, and response will be delivered by C. W. Powers, of Roanoke, president of the association. The invocation will be by the Rev. Ernest W. Aaron, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church South.

William Elwood Dean, 79 years old, a prominent farmer, died yesterday at his home at Annandale, Fairfax County. Besides his widow he is survived by four sons and five daughters.

Funeral services will be conducted at the residence at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, and burial will be in Ivy Hill Cemetery, Alexandria.

Bus Depot Move Forced by Church

Greyhound Lines Ordered to Vacate Terminal on New York Avenue.

The joint board of District Commissioners and the Public Utilities Commission yesterday granted in part the request of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church that the Greyhound Bus Lines be ordered to vacate their present terminal at 1317 New York avenue.

After hearing testimony and argument offered by Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo, pastor, and other officials of the church, the board held a brief session and then announced that the bus line would be permitted to maintain the off-street terminal until August 1 but that after that it would have to move again to another site. The company moved on April 1 from its former depot just across the street.

The present site of the bus company comes clearly within the terms of the interstate bus order adopted last summer.

THE Federal Sausage Casings, Corporation, makers of superfine sausage casings, announced today that it would present Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, candidate for the Democratcl nomination for the Presidency of the United States, next Wednesday night. Gov. Ritchie will address the American people on the great problems which confront them today, immediately following an imitation of four Hawaiians by Joe Cook. His address will be followed by an intimate chat on Broadway night life by Willis Goobel, noted commentator, and by a concert by Pooch Darby's Syncopation Monarchs. The program:

Theme song, "Kiss Me Again."

Eulogy of Federal sausage casings, Luke Meller.

Pooch Darby's Orchestra, playing:

"Snuggled on Your Shoulder."

"Was That the Human Thing to Do?"

"Love, You Funny Thing."

Four Hawaiians, Joe Cook.

Address, Gov. Albert C. Ritchie.

ALFRED E. SMITH, it was learned this afternoon, will go before the voters next Friday night, presenting his opinions of the present crisis and outlining his views on the coming election, under the auspices of the Great Northern Selected Soups Corporation, Inc., makers of soups that have stirred the civilized world.

"I don't know just what time I'll speak," said Mr. Smith. "There's to be a talk on the superior qualities of Great Northern soups—and I understand they will introduce a new chowder, then there is to be a recital by some Swiss yodelers. After that comes Kate Smith and some true love stories by the Masked Adventuress. There will also be music by orchestras in Quebec, Bridgeport and New Orleans. I think I come in somewhere between a selection called 'Just Friends,' by the Harmony Boys of Bridgeport, and 'Kiss Me Good Night,' by Jake Rosenblatt's Knights of the Saxophone, who play on the roof of some hotel in Quebec. It looks to me like a grand chance for the American people to get an insight on the significant phases of the coming campaign."

Gov. Alfalfa Bill Murray, it is being reported today, who addressed the American people on the issues of the 1932 campaign on a radio program which included the Mills brothers, the Stebbins boys, Amos 'n' Andy and Lowell Thomas, made such a hit on the air that he is thinking of quitting the presidential race and becoming a fixed radio feature.

"There is more money in it," said the governor, "and the hours are much better."

Should Gov. Murray retire as a presidential candidate, the Democrats may draft Tony Wons or Ernie Hare as presidential candidates.

"What are we putting in the White House this year?" asked a confused voter and radio fan. "A Statesman, a jazz orchestra or a Broadway columnist?"

EUROPE IS EXPECTED TO SEEK U.S. WHEAT

George Milnor Predicts End of Price Crisis in Heavy Demands Abroad.

Paris, April 12 (U.P.).—Heavy European purchases of wheat from America were predicted tonight by George S. Milnor, chairman of the Farmers National Grain Corporation, who arrived in Paris after an exhaustive study of wheat conditions throughout Europe.

"The announcement of poor crop prospects in the United States, coincident with the forthcoming European demand for wheat means, I believe, the end of the wheat crisis," Mr. Milnor said. He predicted that the European purchases would be from either the United States, Canada or the Argentine.

"The principal European countries, including France, Italy, Germany, Holland and Belgium, have exhausted their domestic wheat," he said. "They must buy heavily before the new crop is ready at the end of August.

"As the Soviet Russian surplus is exhausted, only the American nations remain as possible vendors of wheat."

Mr. Milnor was optimistic as to the probable improvement of the wheat situation generally, but explained he had not concluded large sales of wheat to European countries.

"I did not conclude agreements in Germany or elsewhere because in each case credits were demanded by the potential purchasers," he said. "The United States does not need to grant credits at present to facilitate the sale of wheat, because Europe by necessity will be forced to pay cash for wheat within the next three months."

It was understood that the European wheat requirements up to next September have been estimated at considerably in excess of 50,000,000 bushels for the Western States.

This does not include other requirements which will increase the total. For instance, it was said that Greece will require 10,000,000 bushels during the present year. The Greek authorities recently have been in negotiation with Argentine and Canadian representatives, attempting to secure credits which would permit them to purchase wheat from those countries.

At present these negotiations are at a standstill.

BETHLEHEM STEEL DIVIDEND FAVORED

Schwab Tells Company to Pay on Preferred Stock; Reviews Dull Trade.

Newark, N. J., April 12 (A.P.).—Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the board of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, showed none of the unbounded optimism, for which he is noted, in discussing steel conditions and general business at the annual meeting of Bethlehem stockholders today.

He told the stockholders that never in his seventeen years in the Bethlehem Corporation has the outlook been as depressing or as unpromising as this year.

However, as if to let his stockholders know that he still cherishes a strong opinion that things will work out satisfactorily in the long run, he said: "Bad as things are, bad as things look and blue as everybody is at present, I am still optimistic on the outlook of the country and your company."

In response to a question raised by Eugene G. Grace, president of the company, as to the propriety of forecasting dividend action on the company's preferred stock, Mr. Schwab declared he was willing to say that he would recommend the payment of the regular dividend at the board meeting scheduled for April 28.

Commenting on the company's operations Mr. Grace said the first quarter of 1932 has followed the downward trend which prevailed during 1931.

"The tide is still running out," he declared, "it has not turned yet. This is discouraging, but it is a fact and we must face it.

"Our operations have been steadily reduced until they are about 20 per cent of capacity. We have kept our forces intact and could handle 80 to 90 per cent operations with these forces. In the first quarter of this year the average operations were 23.4 per cent."

Stock Gains Brighten Fight To Halt Liquidation Losses

THE MARKETS AT A GLANCE

What the Stock Market Did

	Tues.	Mon.
Number of advances	171	104
Number of declines	331	391
Stocks unchanged	177	182
Total issues traded	679	677

Stocks.

The market firmed from the outset, but heavy selling of rails followed some rather discouraging outlook reports in the annual meetings of Erie and Northern Pacific. The close was irregular with a good undertone.

Bonds.

Some of the bond market leaders displayed notable resistance to pressure for the first time in several weeks, and the United States Government's resumed the advance.

Curb.

The curb made a brave beginning, but ran into heavy offerings on the bulges.

Wheat.

Continued alarmist reports of crop damage in Kansas and Nebraska advanced wheat futures 1½ cents for the day, despite heavy selling by some big traders, who stepped out with a 7-cent profit for the week.

Cotton.

Prices moved in a narrow range on a thin trade. The close was 1 to 3 points above Monday's.

Battle Is Fairly Successful, Despite Many New Lows; Steel Is Higher.

By JOHN L. COOLEY.

New York, April 12 (A.P.).—The stock market struggled to regain its equilibrium today, and the effort was fairly successful. Helped by a noticeable lessening of liquidation, a good representation of industrial and utility issues closed higher.

Rails, less responsive to occasional rallies in other directions, nevertheless finished above their lows. Some canceled early losses. Volume drifted back toward the low levels of activity attained last month, amounting to 1,562,160 shares.

A slow advance in the first two hours, coincident with brokerage house rumors of "bullish news" expected from Washington, dribbled away when renewed weakness cropped out in the carriers, many of which dropped to new lows since the receivership days of the nineties. However, other groups took this reaction stoically and when it was seen that wheat was more than holding its own, prices again moved upward.

Net gains ranging from a fraction to more than a point were registered for United States Steel, American Can, General Electric, General Motors, Case, Woolworth, North American, Sears Roebuck, Peoples Gas, International Telephone, United Corporation and American Telephone.

U. S. Bonds Firmer.

United States Government loans again stepped into bond market leadership today while corporate issues, with the exception of the rails, slipped quietly to lower levels.

In somewhat more active trading than usual, three of the Liberties and one Treasury issue recorded new highs for 1932. The Federals were aided considerably by the reports of the Treasury that its new offering of short-term bills, carrying much lower interest than the previous issue, was bringing in heavy bids.

While some rail liens dropped from 9 to around 14 points on single sales—notably Atchison 4s of 1965, Boston & Maine 5s and Atlanta & Danville second 4s—a number retained sufficient portions of an early rally to bring the average for the 20 carrier lines up 2-10 of a point. Strength was shown by Canadian Pacific debenture 4s, Chicago & Northwestern 4½s, Rock Island convertible 4½s, Erie convertible 4s, New York Central refunding 5s, Pennsylvania consolidated 4½s Frisco 4½s, Southern Railway general 6½s, Southern Pacific refunding 4s and Union Pacific first 4s.

The industrials had a bad day and the average for the utilities was fractionally lower.

Sales totaled $12,042,000 par value. The average for 60 corporate securities dropped 3-10 of a point to a new low for the year.

Curb Irregular.

The Curb Market floundered about uncertainly, failing to establish a definite trend, in fairly active trading.

The list firmed up in the early trading, reacted during the middle of the day, and recovered somewhat in the final dealings. The close found a mixture of gains and losses. The turnover approximated 300,000 shares, or roughly 30,000 more than yesterday's.

Oils were reactionary, evidently reflecting reports of increased crude output, and tardiness of the gasoline market in reflecting the higher crude prices.

Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, one of the few rails traded in this market, declined to 30½, and closed at 32, off 3, net.

WHEAT PRICE HIGHER ON CROP CURTAILING

Corn and Oats Join Advance; Lack of Rain Feared in Kansas Area.

Chicago, April 12 (A.P.).—In a fresh burst of strength, wheat prices today outdid high price records as far back as February 26. Kansas and Nebraska crop reports were more bullish than at any time heretofore this season. Field advices from the south central part of Kansas in particular, contrasted sensationally with the fact that up to April 1 the region had the best crop prospect in the State. Nebraska's official statistician predicted that abandonment of wheat acreage would be the largest since 1917.

Wheat closed nervous, 1 to 1½ cents above yesterday's finish; corn, ¼ to ⅝ cent advanced, and oats, ⅛ to ¼ up.

Highest prices of the day in wheat were reached shortly before trading ended. The maximum rise amounted to just 2½ cents a bushel, compared with an earlier low point that was reached as a result of big profit-taking sales for recent purchasers, some of whom had a gain of 7 cents a bushel to their credit. Adding to the late upward momentum of the market was word of 5,615,000 bushels decrease of world's available stocks, together with notice that Spain had authorized imports of 50,000 tons of wheat because of pronounced shortage of supplies.

Corn and oats borrowed firmness from the action of wheat. Receipts of corn were meager.

COTTON STAGES RISE IN QUIETER TRADING

Fluctuations Are Irregular as May Reaches 6.18; Covering in Liverpool.

New York, April 12 (A.P.).—Trading in cotton was comparatively quiet today and fluctuations somewhat irregular. Offerings were light, and while rallies from an opening decline were followed by reactions prices firmed up again in the late trading on covering promoted by the firmness in grain and the steady tone of the late stock market. May contracts after selling up from 6.10 to 6.18, during the early trading, eased off to 6.09 but later advanced to 6.23, closing at 6.18. The general market closed steady at net advance of 1 to 3 points.

There was some selling here through houses with Liverpool and far Eastern connections. Closing quotations were several points off from the best on active positions.

Reports from Texas said offerings from the interior were light and that sellers were now basing on July at about 5 points under the basis on May.

A report by the New York Cotton Exchange Service placed consumption of all kinds in this country for March at 429,000 bales compared with 450,000 in February and 490,000 in March a year ago.

The same authority estimated world's consumption of American lint cotton for February at 1,051,000 bales against 898,000 last year and for the three months of the season to the end of February at 7,201,000 against 6,275,000 last year.

According to cable advices to New York Cotton Exchange from the Chinese Mill Owners Association, consumption of American cotton by mills of China for the first half of this season amounted to 432,000 bales.

Hostilities in the Shanghai district in February caused a sharp reduction in Chinese spinning of American cotton, but in spite of this world consumption of the American staple was 17 per cent greater than in the same month last year.

Liverpool calls reported covering with local and foreign buying in that market.

Exports today were 44,849 bales, making 7,162,130 bales so far this season.

SUSPECT IDENTIFIED AT POLICE LINE-UP IN HOLDUP SERIES HERE

HIS ARREST FOLLOWED CHASE BY CAB DRIVERS

33 Men Taken by Police in Drive to Halt Rising Tide of Crime.

After 81 persons had crowded into the squad room at police headquarters, Eleazar J. Howder, 26, was picked last night as the perpetrator of four holdups in addition to the robbery of a Thirteenth street delicatessen yesterday morning, which resulted in his arrest after a spectacular chase by a group of hackers.

Howder, who was paraded in front of the holdup victims with four other white men arrested on suspicion, also admitted robbing at gunpoint two hackers a few days ago.

Determined to halt the recent tide of holdups, police in the past 24 hours had corraled, besides Howder, 4 white men and 28 colored men for the inspection of victims. Nearly 150 victims were summoned to appear at police headquarters, but only 81 appeared. Another line-up will be staged tonight for those absent last night.

Identified by Four.

Those who identified Howder last night were:

D. Delvecchio, 500 Thirteenth street southeast, who said the man robbed him of $17 at gun point two weeks ago in his delicatessen.

George Flikas, 401 Maryland avenue northeast, groceryman, robbed on April 7 of $18.

Dr. Harry E. Minor, druggist, of Eighth and East Capitol streets, held up Monday night and robbed of $20, three pints of prescription whisky and two-fifths of rum.

A. W. Eagle, employe of the Rose Tea Room, 731 Thirteenth street northwest, identified Howder as the man who robbed Peter Vlachos, also of the tea room, of $42 yesterday morning. This robbery brought about Howder's apprehension by a crowd of taxicab drivers who witnessed the holdup.

Confesses Robbery.

Howder confessed to members of the holdup squad the robbery at gun point last Sunday of Jack Tallon, 815 M street northwest, hacker, of $12, at Second and G streets northeast, and David Samuelson, hacker, Riverdale, Md., of $4 and his cab, at 55 M street northwest. These men were not present to view Howder.

Three of the white men were released last night, but the fourth, Richard C. Sykes, will be held, detectives said, pending tonight's line-up. Some of the Negroes were released while a number were held also pending the line-up.

A stolen automobile permit found on Howder was explained by police last night as the reason Howder was identified at Emergency Hospital early yesterday as George Meinberg. Private H. Boyce, of the First Precinct, engaged in the investigation, said Howder had stolen the permit about two months ago and that this card found in Howder's clothes at the hospital led to the erroneous identification.

Jewry in Capital To Raise $25,000

Recruiting of Workers for Palestine Fund Drive to Start Soon.

Washington Jewry will be called upon to contribute $25,000 next month for Palestine rehabilitation, according to plans for a local campaign announced today by the District Zionist Organization.

Isidore Hershfield, former chairman of the United Palestine Appeal, will head this year's effort. Work of recruiting volunteers and drive teams will begin at once. A record number of workers to participate will be sought, Mr. Hershfield said.

The Washington campaign is part of the national American Palestine campaign which is striving to raise $3,000,000 this year to continue the work of reconstruction in the Holy Land. The tentative dates for the local drive have been fixed at May 9 to May 17.

1933 Teachers' Parley To Be Held in Capital

The convention of the Eastern Commercial Teachers Association next year will be held in Washington on April 13 to 15, the greater National Capitol committee of the Board of Trade announced yesterday.

An attendance of 1,500 persons is expected. The group was originally to meet in Buffalo, N. Y., but changed to Washington after continued effort by the committee to bring the convention to Washington.

Church Drama Group To Perform on Friday

"Treasure Island," dramatic interpretation of Robert Louis Stevenson's famous novel by that name, will be given in the social hall of the Western Presbyterian Church, 1906 H street northwest, Friday night at 8 o'clock. The proceeds will go to the church building fund.

The play, produced by the Dramatic Club from the Noel House Boys Club, 1663 Kraemer street northeast, was first presented in Washington on March 4 and 5, at which time the club played before packed houses at the Kraemer street address. Friday night's performance will be sponsored by the Sunday school of the Western Presbyterian Church.

Al Smith Club to Meet.

A meeting of the Al Smith Club of Washington will be held tomorrow night at the Arlington Hotel. Several speakers prominent in the 1928 "Al Smith for President campaign" are scheduled to address the meeting.

BICENTENNIAL TREE MARKER

The National Society of New England Women now in convention at the Washington Hotel placed a bronze marker at a tree which they planted on the campus of American University a year ago. This marker dedicates the tree to the memory of George Washington on the bicentennial of his birth. Chancellor Lucius G. Clark, of American University, at the left, is accepting the marker from Mrs. A. Willis Bryn, of Hartford, Conn., honorary president general.

FOUR FOUND GUILTY IN WHIPPING CASE

One Man Acquitted in Attack Upon Supervisor of Union in Street.

Four of the five alleged "horse-whippers" who attacked Charles E. Haury, supervisor of the International Union of Operating Engineers, at Tenth and K streets northwest, in March, 1931, yesterday were found guilty of simple assault.

They are Mrs. Ruth Stevens and her husband, Robert E. Stevens; Robert Ely and William I. Green. C. B. Rockenbaugh was acquitted.

The four convicted persons noted appeals and were allowed to remain at liberty, pending appeals. Their offense carries with it a possible imprisonment of a year and a small fine.

Through Assistant United States Attorney John J. Sirica, the Government proved that Haury was set upon and badly beaten, and that during the attack upon him a dog leash was used as a weapon of aggression. Mrs. Stevens, during her testimony in her own behalf, said that she had struck Haury after he had refused to apologize for insulting her, and had pushed her so that she was about to fall to the sidewalk.

The trouble grew out of differences between members of the union as to whether supervision, as exemplified by Haury, or nonsupervision, was the best method of controlling the placing of members in jobs here.

Rockenbaugh, who was acquitted, was represented by Harold J. Pack. It is said that this was the first time Mr. Pack participated in a criminal case or addressed a jury in more than 25 years' practice as a member of the local bar.

Prisoner Fails in Death Attempt in Police Cell

A prisoner attempted to hang himself in a cell at the First Precinct station last night, but was discovered before he was badly injured. The man was taken to Gallinger Hospital for observation.

He had been arrested earlier in the day on a charge of being drunk. He gave his name as John Smith, 28 years old, of no fixed address. About 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon Private G. W. Shinault found him with his shirt knotted about his neck, dangling from the top of the cell. Shinault freed him.

Takoma Park Body Asks Milk Inquiry

Maintained Price Is Called to Capper's Attention by Citizens.

Stability of the price of milk in the face of decreasing prices for other food commodities should be investigated, according to the Takoma Park Citizens Association.

In a resolution adopted last night at its meeting in the Takoma branch of the Public Library, the group asked Senator Capper, chairman of the Senate District committee, to investigate milk prices.

In another resolution the organization went on record against the establishing of a gas storage tank at Riggs road and the Baltimore & Ohio Railway. They opposed the construction of such a tank in any territory contiguous to their area.

FISH PREDICTS PANIC IF BONUS PLEAS WIN

Addresses National Society of New England Women; Confident of Future.

An appeal to members of the National Society of New England Women to urge their members in Congress "to stand on the side of all the people in the present economic crisis instead of on the side of the few for political purposes," was made by Representative Hamilton Fish, of New York, at the annual banquet of the society last night at the Washington Hotel.

Predicting a panic that would make the present depression look trivial if the veterans' bonus is paid, Representative Fish said that this and other requests from Congress for money have caused him to be more discouraged than at any time since he has been on the Hill. However, he expressed confidence at the conclusion of his address that the country will emerge from the depression through hard work "and faith in the Nation's fundamental principles and without the aid of communism or any other form of foreign temporary government."

He charged Theodore Dreiser, as leader of "the pink intellectuals," of being the chief advocate of communism in this country, and urged support of legislation which would provide for deportation of all alien communists.

Other speakers were Mrs. Henry Clarke Coe, honorary president general of the society; Mrs. Eugene J. Grant, also an honorary president general, and Mrs. A. Willis Byrne, an honorary president general. The program was opened with greetings from Mrs. Gilbert Leslie Lewis, president general.

Man, 22, Held for Jury On Auto Liquor Charge

On a charge of transportation of liquor, Kuigi Dickviara, 22 years old, yesterday was ordered held for the action of the grand jury on a bond of $1,500. He was given a preliminary hearing in Police Court, at which he entered a plea of not guilty.

Dickviara was arrested at Third and Gordon streets northeast, last Friday, and 12 gallons of alleged liquor were found in his car. Assistant United States Attorney Roger Robb informed Judge R. E. Mattingly that the man was also wanted for questioning by immigration authorities in connection with a possible illegal entry into this country.

Woman Outruns Invader Holding Butcher Knife

A man who threatened her with a large butcher knife was outrun yesterday by Mrs. Ida Caenikoss, 32 years old, she told police. She said the man threatened to attack her in her small store at 26 Fenton street northeast.

The intruder, in company with another man, had come to the store about half an hour before. The two bought some cigarettes and left. The man returned alone and said he wanted to wait for a friend. He suddenly seized the butcher knife from a counter and started toward her, she said. Mrs. Caenikoss ran to the rear of the store and locked herself in a room there. The man took a package of cigarettes and left.

Wild Life Sanctuary Vote Today.

The House District committee will meet at 10:30 o'clock this morning to take a final vote on a bill making a wild bird and game sanctuary of Potomac waters within the District.

3 Policemen Are Adjudged Guilty on Extortion Counts

Privates E. W. Gore and F. J. Hospidor, Fourth Precinct policemen, were found guilty on charges of extortion from Frank Adams, colored, yesterday by the Police Trial Board and recommended for dismissal from the force.

Private F. R. Gue, also of the Fourth Precinct, was also found guilty, but was ordered restored to duty after a severe warning and reprimand. Private O. L. Fisher, of the same command, was found not guilty.

The board had had evidence in the charges against the men in its hands for ten days. The trial was concluded after protracted testimony and argument by prosecution and defense counsel. Robert E. Lynch represented the prosecution, while James A. O'Shea was chief defense lawyer.

Garges' Duties Extended.

An order authorizing Daniel E. Garges, secretary to the Board of District Commissioners, to assume certain ministerial duties of the board, such as the signing of legal documents and the like, was adopted yesterday by the Commissioners in conformance with an act recently adopted by Congress.

HEARINGS ON SAFETY ZONES PROPOSED BY UTILITIES CHAIRMAN

Patrick Would Throw Entire Question Open to Public for Expressions.

BOWMAN LEADS FIGHT FOR RAISED PLATFORMS

Making Barriers Visible at Night Held to Present Chief Problem.

Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman of the Public Utilities Commission, yesterday proposed to throw open the whole question of "safety zone" protection for pedestrians at public hearings, in a letter to Representative Frank L. Bowman (Republican), West Virginia.

At the same time, Traffic Director William A. Van Duzer wrote the West Virginia Representative six persons were killed by motorists last year in "safety" zones now provided and that 83 drivers were arrested for running through them.

Mr. Bowman has been leading a fight to have the present chalk-marked areas that he labels "death traps" replaced by wooden or concrete platforms.

Studying Metal Standards.

"The commission is now studying the feasibility and practicability of replacing the 'buttons' at the ends of the safety zones by metal stands and easily put in place and strong enough to prevent motor cars from entering," Chairman Patrick wrote Mr. Bowman.

"One of the problems to solve in connection with such barriers is making them visible at night. Possibly this can be done by attaching to the standards 'reflectors' such as are in common use on highways to indicate curves or other traffic hazards."

Gen. Patrick forwarded an analysis of the problem by the American Road Builders Association.

"The commission is studying the data contained in this report, is securing information from other sources and proposes at a convenient date to hold a public hearing at which it will go into all phases of this matter, kinds of safety zones, the protection required, and the best means of securing it," he wrote.

Anxious to Promote Safety.

"The commission means to do all in its power to promote safety, will require the placing of any necessary devices which will, in its opinion, adequately protect persons boarding or leaving street cars, and will welcome any assistance which you will give."

The Public Utilities Commission chairman denied that the street car companies ever have "refused" to obey any mandate of the commission requiring construction of loading platforms, but have held it "unfair to burden them with the expense of erecting and maintaining platforms, claiming that they are 'placed more for the convenience of motorists who desire to pass standing cars, than for any other purpose.'"

"Considering the fatal accident record, and the small number of platforms compared with the larger number of safety zones, there is little to indicate that the former are safer than the latter," Gen. Patrick asserted. "But as these platforms are all in the more congested parts of the city and where the automobile traffic is denser, there is no doubt that the platforms do provide a greater measure of safety than the zones."

Civic Group Cooperation Aids in Jobless Problem

Close contact with civic and cultural associations has made it possible to find jobs for many deserving applicants, Miss Olga Jones, of the President's committee on unemployment, told a meeting of the city council of adult education for the unemployed at the library of the Americanization School.

Miss Jones said cooperation the committee has secured from public libraries affords another means of turning spare time into an asset.

BUS DRIVER IS HELD TO BLAME IN CRASH WHICH TOOK 3 LIVES

Estimates on Motors' Speed Range From 8 to 45 Miles an Hour.

13 WITNESSES TESTIFY; MEALEY RENEWS BOND

W. R. & E. Co. Operator Says Coach Was in Low Gear; Other Exonerated.

Louis H. Mealey, driver of a Washington Railway & Electric Co. bus, yesterday was held responsible by a coroner's jury for the collision with a Capital Traction Co. bus at Rhode Island avenue and Seventeenth street, April 1, which was fatal to three, and injured eleven other persons.

Deliberating 13 minutes, after 31 witnesses has testified in the case, the jury ordered Mealey held for action of the District grand jury. The driver's bond of $5,000 was renewed, and he was allowed to continue at liberty. The case will be presented to the grand jury in about a week, according to Assistant United States Attorney John Sirica.

Witnesses included police investigators, traffic experts, physicians, bystanders and passengers in the bus. Some of the passengers could not appear as they are still receiving hospital treatment. Others limped to the witness stand to give their version of the crash. Police Court Judge Ralph Given, who was unable to hold court due to injuries received, said at the inquest that he saw the W. R. & E. Co. bus coming at a rapid speed, and that when he glanced up at the light at the intersection he saw a green light facing the vehicle in which he was a passenger.

Conflicting Testimony.

Conflicting testimony as to the color of the traffic lights when the crash occurred was given by witnesses. Estimates of the speed at which the two buses were traveling ranged from 8 to 45 miles an hour. Attorneys questioned witnesses, who were physically fit to answer their queries.

Joseph F. Turner, 27, of 615 M street southwest, driver of the Capital Traction bus, was cleared by the verdict. He testified that the front wheels of his bus had crossed the south curb line of Rhode Island avenue before he was struck by the other bus. The traffic light, he asserted, turned green and amber when he was half way across the intersection.

Mealey, who lives at 1647 Lamont street northwest, giving his version of the accident, said he was going about 8 miles an hour when the vehicles crashed. He said he slowed down as he approached the intersection and came to a momentary stop as he reached the curb line, shifting into low gear, and proceeding on the green light.

40 Miles an Hour Claimed.

Mathew P. Touhey, of 3016 Rodman street, a passenger of the Capital Traction bus, which was proceeding from the Chevy Chase district at the time, said the other bus seemed to be moving at about 40 miles an hour. He was unable to estimate the speed of the bus in which he was riding. Miss Kathleen Conlon and John Enrieto, passengers of the Chevy Chase bus, also testified.

Coroner Joseph D. Rogers and his assistants heard the case. The inquest began at 11:30 in the board room of the District Building. Representatives of the Public Utilities Commission, Traffic Bureau and attorneys of the bus companies attended the inquest.

The Capital Traction Co. was represented by G. Thomas Dunlop and Edwin A. Swingle. The Washington Railway & Electric Co. was represented by H. M. Keyser. Assistant United States Attorney Sirica represented the Government, and the families of those killed in the crash had their representatives present. Among the spectators were M. O. Eldridge, assistant director of traffic; William A. Roberts and Earl V. Fisher, of the Public Utilities Commission, and People's Counsel Richmond B. Keech.

Traffic Director William A. Van Duzer testified on the condition of the traffic lights at the intersection.

The date of the public hearing to be held by the Public Utilities Commission has not been set.

CITY HEADS APPROVE GAMBLING PADLOCK

Also Tell Congress They Favor Bill for Jury Commission.

The District Commissioners yesterday reported favorably to Congress on bills to authorize the padlocking of establishments found guilty of violating certain gambling statutes and to permit certain officers of the Senate and House the same parking privileges when on official business in the District as now granted members of the two bodies. In a letter to the Bureau of the Budget they also indicated their approval of a measure to set up a jury commission in Washington.

Reporting on legislation drafted by United States Attorney Leo A. Rover, Corporation Counsel William W. Bride said regarding the padlock bill: "It is the opinion of this office that his bill will assist materially in preventing gambling within the District."

The measure brings gambling houses within the provisions of the red light law, it eliminates the notice to the property owner before the granting of a preliminary injunction, and provides a severe penalty for violation of the injunction.

The purpose of the jury commission bill is to change the method of selecting jurors in the District. Through the substitution of written questionnaires for oral inquiry, it is hoped to prevent the disqualification of jurors after a trial has been completed or is in progress on the ground that he unwittingly perjured himself while being qualified.

The measure provides for the appointment of three members of a jury commission to pass upon the qualifications of the jurors. The chairman will be paid $4,000 a year and the other two members $10 a day, not to exceed five days a month. Because of this salary item, the commissioners submitted the bill first to the Budget Bureau.

Accident Blamed For Death Plunge

Coroner Holds Woman's Impaired Eyesight Caused Fall.

A certificate of accidental death was issued last night by Coroner Joseph D. Rogers in the fatal plunge yesterday of Mrs. Lula Dodd, 56, from a fourth-floor stairway in the Stanhope Apartments at 735 New Jersey avenue northwest, where she lived.

Impaired eyesight was given as the reason for Mrs. Dodd's fall. She is believed to have missed a step and stumbled over the railing. Her body was found by Reggie Lewis, janitor, who heard the impact.

Mrs. Dodd was rushed to Casualty Hospital and pronounced dead there. She is survived by her husband, James Dodd, two daughters, Miss Myrtle Dodd and Mrs. Grade Piper, and three sons, John, James and William.

Apartment Loot $218.50.

Clothing and furnishings valued at $218.50 were stolen from the apartment of Miss Vivian Dunkins and Miss Bertha Stewart, at 1907 Fifteenth street northwest, they reported to police. The apartment door was jimmied.

SANITARIUM PLANS TO BE READY FRIDAY

Contracts Will Be Sought Next Week for Children's Tuberculosis Hospital.

Plans and specifications on the Children's Tuberculosis Sanitarium, to be constructed off Defense highway, about 15 miles out of Washington, will be completed Friday morning, and the project will be advertised for bids early next week, S. B. Walsh, assistant municipal architect, announced yesterday. Architects have been working overtime for several weeks in an effort to get the long-delayed job ready.

Under the final plans the hospital will contain 154 beds and cost approximately $280,000 to construct and an additional $60,000 to equip. The nurses' home will cost about $72,000. Both jobs are to be let under one contract. Bids were opened on the nurses' home several months ago, but as all estimates exceeded the amount available, the job was recalled and the plans were slightly modified.

Out of the original $625,000 available for the project, $508,000 will be devoted to construction purposes, including the building of a power plant, certain roadways, sewerage construction and the remodeling of a house on the site for the superintendent's home. Included in this item also will be $2,500 for the first payment on the superintendent's salary. The site cost $57,000.

Writ to End Union Secession Refused

Adkins Opinion Lets Federal Group Separate From A. F. of L.

Granting of the application of thirteen Federal employes for a temporary injunction to prevent the National Federation of Federal Employes from leaving the ranks of the American Federation of Labor was denied yesterday by Justice Jesse C. Adkins in the District Supreme Court. The result of the court's order is that the Federal Federation may proceed with its plans to separate from the A. F. of L.

The opinion of Justice Adkins said that of 51,000 Federal employes, only 13 had joined the petition. This, he said, indicated that a great majority of the employes favored the action taken by the organization's officers to secede.

The executive council of the national federation recently announced that a majority of the members had voted in favor of leaving the American Federation of Labor and that steps were being taken to effect that end. Justice Adkins said that he was "far from being convinced that the course adopted by the executive council violated the constitution of the national federation."

Accused Trio to Return Willingly.

After being held in jail here for a week, while Maryland authorities prepared papers for their extradition, three men, wanted in Charles County for allegedly robbing Thomas Gray, a farmer, of $300, yesterday changed their minds and signified their intention of returning now to Maryland to face charges. They are Arnold R. Robinson, Jerry Offereda and William E. Bridges.

Man Says 'Kiss Me' Ring Caused Beating by Police

The inscription "Kiss Me Again, I am Still Conscious," emblazoned a ring over which Robert Gibbs, colored, was allegedly beaten by Detective Robert L. Jones, suspended, of the Tenth Precinct, it was testified yesterday, when, for the second day, Jones stood trial on an indictment charging him with simple assault upon Gibbs.

Gibbs testified that when Jones put him in the detective's car, he sat on the ring, which was on the seat of the car. Afterward, he said, Jones gaves him the ring, though it did not belong to him and he did not want it.

The ring's inscription was read to the jury by Assistant United States Attorney James R. Kirkland at the request of James A. O'Shea and John H. Burnett, defense counsel, and its wording sent a ripple of laughter through Justice F. D. Letts' court.

The story of Gibbs as to how he was taken to the Tenth Precinct Station and beaten and kicked by Jones featured yesterday's session. Gibbs testified that he suffered bruises to his eye, face and back as a result of the attack. Thirteen more prosecution witnesses remain to be heard before the defense will be able to start its work.

THIRD-DEGREE BAN URGED ON POLICE AT HOUSE HEARING

Defeats Its Own Purpose, Says Cannon, Head of Subcommittee.

$33,000 FOR NEW CARS ASKED BY GLASSFORD

Additions to Civil Personnel Also Urged; No Increase in Policemen.

Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police, was admonished to make "every effort" to break up use of third degree methods by Washington police, at hearings before the House District appropriations subcommittee, the published record disclosed yesterday.

"It defeats its own purpose," said Chairman Clarence Cannon (Democrat), Missouri.

"You might get a confession in one case that you might not get otherwise, but you develop a system that soon breaks down the whole law enforcement," said Representative William P. Holaday (Republican), Illinois.

Representative Thomas L. Blanton (Democrat), Texas, said the murder case of Ziang Sun Wan precipitated the breakdown of the system, which culminated in the Post's expose of the Henry Harker beating case.

Was Finally Acquitted.

"That Chinaman was first convicted and sentenced to be hanged but was finally acquitted," Representative Blanton said.

"Every effort should be brought to bear to break up that practice," said Representative Holaday, "and if that is done, in the long run we will have a much more efficient police force."

He added:

"I will go as far as anybody in protecting a policeman in arresting a man, and I am not inclined to ask a policeman to wait and see if a man can shoot straight before he uses some force in effecting the arrest; but after a man is once in custody, this thing of abusing him and cursing him and maybe using physical violence I am absolutely opposed to.

Will Suspect Confession.

"I do not think that from the standpoint of the enforcement of law in the long run it pays."

Chairman Cannon said it gets to the point where the average jury "will not believe a confession."

Nine additions in the civilian personnel of the Police Department, and $33,000 for purchase of new motor equipment, was asked of the appropriation subcommittee by Gen. Glassford.

No increases in police personnel are desired, but civilian employes are needed to replace members of the force doing clerical and technical work, Gen. Glassford said. The department wants 25 small roadsters, two 7-passenger radio equipped touring cars and 5 patrol wagons. Twenty-five of the roadsters would be for replacements.
